WILL BE A MERRY WAR

Mr. Markham's Bill to Tax Unused Lands of Railways Likely to Cause a Hot Fight.

The Other Measure Compelling Companies to Select Swamp Lands Within a Year is Opposed.

Delegations From Duluth and Aitkin Will be on Hand to Work for Markham's Bill.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 23.—[Special to The Herald.]—There is liable soon to be a merry war here over Mr. Markham's bill to tax the unused lands of railway companies. This bill, in connection with the bill introduced in the senate compelling all railway companies to make selections of state swamp lands within a year under land grants to them, if both become laws, will furnish a complete system of railroad taxation taken as a complement to the acts already in force. The present law taxes the gross incomes of railways one per cent for the first year after a road commences operating, 2 per cent the second year and 3 per cent ever afterwards. Markham's bill provides for the taxation of all lands of railroad companies which are not in use for railroad purposes under the regular system of state taxation.

There are many railroads, however, in the northern portion of the state which have not made their selections under the laws of the state. They are all more or less anxious not to make these selections because the law provides in several of the special acts making the grants that such land shall not be taxed until five years after they make their choice. Now, in order to avoid taxes the railroad companies take good care not to make selections until they see a good chance to dispose of them immediately. The present system of railway taxation of 3 per cent on gross earnings is not as satisfactory as might be, but a large portion of the state. Take for instance Aitkin county with say fifty miles of railroad. There is paid into that county from the state tax on gross incomes of railways only about $1000 a year. If the railroad was taxed at the rate of $20,000 per mile, it would pay into the county treasury at least $2500 a year in a 2½ mill tax exclusive of what they would pay on their lands under the Markham bill. Under the present law the Twin Cities get the lion's share of benefit from railroad taxation, while the counties which have large railway mileage, but a small property valuation, get very little good out of it, because the state appropriates the revenue collected from the gross income tax among the counties according to property valuation of each county.

The plan pursued by the third house in fostering or smothering legislation is to work the house and carry a bill and work the senate to smother objectionable measures. The senate has a good many corporation attorneys therein who are sometimes efficient aids in smothering legislation which is not pleasing to them. It is much easier, however, to pass legislation which has but no marked opposition through the senate than through the house, consequently the latter body is usually worked more thoroughly to secure the passage of measures. The house, which a measure reaches last in the course of passage, is looked to the most carefully when it is desired to smother bills. While the friends of a measure are busy bustling to get a measure through one house, its enemies are hustling in the other house to defeat it when it gets there. The enemies of a bill have to fly to work one house, while its friends have to hustle to get it through both houses.

Delegations are expected here from Aitkin and Duluth to hustle for Markham's measure taxing railroad lands. He is going to make a hard fight for the measure and says that it does not make material difference except in the cost of law suits and their incident delay whether the measure passes or not, because under a recent decision of the supreme court of the United States the state has the right to tax unused railway lands but it will take a great deal of litigation and delay to enforce the right unless a measure of this kind passes the legislature. A great deal of railway land will also escape taxation unless the act compelling them to select their land grants passes the legislature. This legislation will affect one road at least running out of Duluth to an appreciable extent which received its land grant many years ago.

Solicitor J. H. Chandler, of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, President Gratsinger and O. D. Kinney were in St. Paul last night. Mr. Kinney is undergoing treatment for throat troubles and has already had several very difficult and painful operations performed upon the throat and nasal passages by electricity. The opposition to the Duluth & Winnipeg road are endeavoring to make them all the trouble possible and have again brought suit for several thousand dollars on a new deal. The policy can be seen from the fact that nothing would be accepted here by the Trust company except payment in gold. Even certified checks would not be accepted by the St. Paul Trust company. The Minneapolis members of the state legislature have managed to get themselves into a general misunderstanding with other members of the house who take every possible occasion to snub a Minneapolis member. The start of this feeling was said to be due to the fact that the rest of the house were of the opinion that the Minneapolis members had received more than their share of committee ships. It is hard to say whether this feeling will extend so far as to cause opposition to Minneapolis legislation but it certainly will not assist it in anyway. Duluth members, so far, have managed to maintain very cordial relations with the rest of the legislators.

THEY MISSED BIG SWAG.

Robbers Who Were Rifling a Bank Frightened Away.

GREENVILLE, Tex., Jan. 23.—At 4 o'clock yesterday, while W. T. Ward was passing the First National bank building he noticed a man in the doorway and the door open behind him. He heard voices inside and suspected robbery. He passed on, intending to give an alarm, when a few steps away one of the robbers called to him to stop to which he paid no heed.

At another command to stop Ward drew a six shooter and turned on the man who was following him. When he turned the robber fired and ran. A pal of No. 1 fired at Ward, wounding him in the left thigh. Ward then fired on the robbers six times. Whether any of his shots too effect is not known. Ward fell in the street unconscious. When citizens reached the scene of the shooting it was found that Ward had been shot in three places. The wounds are not necessarily fatal. When the bank was examined it was found that the safe door was blown to atoms and $1000 in silver was missing. The robbers were frightened away and only obtained about $1000, though $150,000 in gold, silver and bank notes was within easy access. They left all their tools, electric batteries, etc., behind.

NO CHANGE TO BE MADE.

The Consular Sealing System Between This Country and Canada Is Not to be Abolished.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—[Special to the Herald.]—Representative Lind says the house committee on interstate and foreign relations has dropped all proceedings relative to a change in the consular sealing system with the Canadian roads. Mr. Lind says he does not now anticipate any change in this system by presidential order. Senator Washburn has expressed similar views.

THE NEW COAL COMBINE.

Seven and One-Half Millions, Are to Be Expended.

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—It is learned here on the best authority that the seven and one-half millions of stock and bonds that have been underwritten by Kidder, Peabody & Co. for the new coal combine will be expended as follows:

For the purchase of the mines, $4,000,000; building railways from Sydney to Loughburg, $1,000,000; terminal facilities at Montreal and Quebec, $500,000; piers and loading ground at Loughburg, $250,000; steamers and barges, $500,000; immediate improvements at the mines, $500,000. It is also proposed to expend a large sum in enlarged terminal facilities in Boston.

The capital stock of the company will be from $20,000,000 to $22,000,000. A very large proportion of this will be invested in steamers and barges specially built for carrying large quantities of coal. Mr. Whitney has taken an option on the Black Diamond line of steamers now engaged in the St. Lawrence coal trade at $100,000. H. M. Whitney will be president and F. S. Pearson managing director of the enterprise.

Costly For Fun.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Some time ago Fun, a paper of this city, published an article in which it alluded to Grace Hawthorne, the actress, as "Mrs. Kelly," insinuating that she was the mistress of W. W. Kelly. Miss Hawthorne at once began action for criminal libel against the paper and the case came up in court today. It was settled by the paper apologizing for its statement which it acknowledged it had learned was untrue. Miss Hawthorne accepted the apology. Fun will have to pay the costs of the action.

A MARRIED LOTHARIO.

The Examination of Ed Vosberg, For Leading a Swedish Servant Girl Astray, Began Today.

A Sensation Created in Court by the Plaintiff Becoming Hysterical and Fainting in a Faint.

Vosberg's Wife, Who Lives in Oshkosh, Was Present and Coolly Listened to the Testimony.

Ed Vosberg had his hearing in the municipal court this morning on the charge of seducing Bertha Hedman, a Swedish servant girl on July 12 last. Attorney Chas. Baldwin appeared for the defendant and County Attorney Tear prosecuted. Almost at the beginning the plaintiff was placed on the stand. Considerable of a sensation was caused by her getting hysterical and fainting away in Deputy Sheriff Armstrong's arms. The occupants were driven out of the room, the woman's clothing and the tightly drawn slaws loosened, after which the justice mill was again put in motion.

A sister and brother-in-law testified to the plaintiff's good character and E. W. Matters, cashier of the National Bank of Commerce, testified that while in the employ of his family her conduct had been good, but that he had seen Vosberg then calling on her frequently during the summer.

S. E. Peachey, deputy clerk of the district court, also testified that the plaintiff had worked for him and seemed of good character. He said further, however, that one night last June, from his chamber window, he had overheard some man occupy from 10 o'clock until 2 o'clock in the morning, attempting to lead the plaintiff from the path of virtue.

The complainant was again placed on the stand and by much effort, alternating with hysterical spells, told the story of her downfall. She said that Vosberg, whom she called "Ed," had promised to marry her after which she acceded to his desires. Dr. Lyng testified to the fact that the woman is pregnant and that her condition has been such for six months. The defendant is a light complexioned fellow, slight in figure, with reddish hair and mustache, and a very shifty, uncertain eye. His wife from Oshkosh was present and both took the convincing testimony against him coolly. This Lothario made a defense, moving for dismissal of the case on the grounds of insufficiency of proof and commenced his argument with the citations of supreme court decisions. Adjournment for dinner was taken before the arguments were over, hence no decision was given.

Before Judge Powell this morning Andrew Meyers was fined $12 for drunkenness. He paid out. Frank Engram and Eph Howe for the same offense were sent up for ten days. Before Special Judge Winje George Brewett got ten days for drunkenness and George Gillman was held on the charge of vagrancy, as it is expected that he is wanted on a more serious charge.

A Big Crossing Row. There is a big crossing dispute on at Hinckley. The town council has been trying to open Third street, which runs through the center of the St. Paul & Duluth yards there. Quite an excitement was caused when Street Commissioner Hakenasen arrived on the scene with about fifty men and started to put in a crossing. The railroad company soon had an engine on the scene and kept the street blocked. Conductor Warmwood was arrested for blocking the crossing, but was soon bailed out. His trial was set for today. The railroad company has an engine and cars on the crossing, refusing to keep it clear.

TO PREVENT CONTAGION.

The School Board Adopts Strict Regulations Against Spreading Disease.

The question of contagious diseases was discussed at length Saturday evening at meeting of the board of education. President Richardson introduced a resolution to the effect that whereas it seems to be a fact that some of the physicians of this city are not aware that it is their duty to instruct parents not to allow living on premises where there is contagious disease that the secretary be instructed to transmit copies of sections 55 and 56 of ordinance No. 3, and request their co-operation in preventing the spreading of contagious disease. These sections read as follows:

Section 55. "No child, minor or person from any house where any person is sick or infected with any disease such as cholera, yellow fever, diphtheria, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, varioloid, etc., shall attend any public, private or sectarian school in this city until the recovery or death of such person or persons, and in either event the affidavit shall be provided with a written statement by the attending physician, if any, and if not by the health officer, certifying to their non-contagiousness. No statement must be presented to the principal or teacher before said child will be allowed to return."

Section 56. "It shall be the duty of all physicians upon discovery of any contagious or infectious disease to instruct the parents of any child who may be residing at the infected premises of the provisions of the above section. And when the duty of the physician is to report to report at once to the health officer in writing any violation of the above section."

Considerable discussion ensued as to what may be included by the term "infected premises." The board finally decided that all children who use the same stairway or entrance should be denied admittance to the schools as long as danger of contagion remains.

Superintendent Denfeld was instructed to call the attention of the teachers to the fact that no teachers are allowed to send pupils on any errands whatever. There have been cases where teachers have sent pupils to enquire of the absentees. In cases of contagion serious consequences might be the result of such a practice.

Superintendent Denfeld also reported adversely to lowering the minimum school age from 6 to 5 years until further action is taken.

At the close of the state's testimony the counsel for defense moved for dismissal of the case on the grounds of insufficiency of proof and commenced his argument with the citations of supreme court decisions. Adjournment for dinner was taken before the arguments were over, hence no decision was given.

ALDERMAN LONG RETURNS.

Says Maj. Baldwin is Making Many Friends at Washington.

Alderman Long returned home from his trip to Washington, D. C., where he was admitted and initiated into full membership in the national third house. He is much pleased with his experiences while gone but is afflicted with an annoying cold in the East, experiencing some severe winter. Washington has more sleighing than Duluth and so thick has the ice been in East river in New York that the ferries have all been retarded and all trains consequently retarded four or five hours.

Maj. Baldwin is well and happy at Washington and is making many friends. Alderman Long says that he thinks that the major has taken just the right course in going down there, that Duluth's interests have been advanced and that when the time comes for Congressman Baldwin to take his seat, he will know the duties of his office as well as those who have been in one term.

Raising a Lakeside. A meeting of the Lakeside anti-street railway people was held at the chamber of commerce this afternoon. The question of raising the guarantee for the line was discussed and the guarantee was raised from $200 to $250 and was taken up and it was resolved to start the subscription balling. The guarantee asked was $250 and was taken up and it was resolved to start the subscription balling.

A Successful Teacher. Many people think high prices are the first qualities of a good teacher, but this is not always the case. Duluth has at least one music teacher whose reputation is well known for years and his charges are moderate. You will find our statement truthful by consulting Professor August Griest, 17 Seventeenth avenue east. He will in the near future show the people what a Duluth teacher can do with his own scholars by giving a public entertainment.

Two Hundred Men Thrown Out of Work in Pennsylvania.

HAZLETON, Pa., Jan. 23.—During the cold weather Evans & Co. at Beaver Meadow placed furnaces along the tracks leading to their operations to keep the line from forming on the rails and interfering with operations.

The gas in the mines took fire on Sunday night from one of these furnaces and the fire is now raging through nearly the whole workings. If the flames are not soon gotten under control the slope will be rendered useless. Two hundred men were thrown out of work.

THE CASES DISMISSED.

Injunction Suits Brought By a Railroad Are Thrown Out.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The United States supreme court today dismissed for want of jurisdiction with directions to the United States circuit court to do likewise, the suits brought by the Northeastern Railroad company and the Central Railroad company against Walter & E. O. to enjoin these officials from the collection of a tax imposed on the railroads by the state.

The taxes were state, county and school taxes. The Tillman board of equalization assessed railroad property at a higher rate than other property and it is claimed that this is usual.

BOSTON IN MOURNING.

Bishop Phillips Brooks Was Suddenly Called Away From Earth at an Early Hour Today.

His Death Was Directly Due to Heart Failure, Caused by a Severe Fit of Coughing.

The Friends of the Deceased Bishop Are Hardly Able to Realize Their Terrible Loss.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 23.—Bishop Phillips Brooks died at his residence, 233 Clarendon street, at 6:30 this morning of heart failure, brought on by a fit of coughing. The death was entirely unexpected. He was taken ill Thursday with a sore throat, but nothing serious showed.

At this time nothing serious was anticipated and Dr. Beach remained only a short time. Dr. Beach was with the bishop the entire night. About 6:30 the patient was seized with a coughing spasm, which lasted for a few moments, and his heart ceased to beat. Dr. Beach said this morning that death was caused from heart failure and not from diphtheria. No diphtheritic symptoms were discovered this morning.

Bishop Brooks preached his last sermon at the Church of the Good Shepherd on Cortez street last Tuesday evening. The scene at the bishop's house this morning was one of grief and desolation. No crepe had at that time been placed on the door and anxious friends, making inquiries on the street and in the immediate neighborhood of every one whom they saw coming from the house.

Within the house a few of the bishop's most intimate friends, who seemed to hardly realize the terrible loss, were gathered in groups in the different rooms. The spirit that pervaded the assemblage was one of complete and overwhelming sorrow. The bishop could not comprehend the fact that Bishop Brooks was dead. That their beloved pastor and friend had left them forever seemed to the two that they were unable to grasp the significance of his death.

Phillips Brooks was born in Boston, Mass., on December 13, 1835. He was graduated at Harvard in 1857, studied theology at the seminary in Alexandria, Va., was ordained in 1859, and became rector of the church of the Advent, Philadelphia, in 1862. He took charge of the church of the Holy Trinity in that city, and in 1869 became rector of Trinity church, Boston.

Brooks was noted for his "low church" views and has preached in the churches of other denominations than his own. He declined episcopacy elsewhere, a professorship in Harvard and the office of assistant bishop of Pennsylvania, to which he was elected in 1886, preferring to remain in his Boston parish, where he exerted a powerful influence for good, especially over young men. The present church edifice, notable for its unique architecture and very fine interior decorations, was built for him at a cost of over $1,000,000. A year ago Mr. Brooks was chosen rector of the church of the Holy Trinity in Philadelphia.

He was one of the most brilliant pulpit orators of the Protestant Episcopal church and was noted for his rapid delivery. He published "Lectures on Preaching," delivered before the Yale divinity school, New York, 1877; "Sermons," 1878 and 1881; "The Influence of Jesus," Boston, 1876; "Baptism and Confirmation" (1880); and "Sermons," Preached in English Churches" (1883).

A Call Probable.

It is expected that the outcome of the preaching of Rev. G. L. Morrill at Endicott church yesterday will result in a call being extended. Rev. MacClelland supplies the pulpit until March 1. Tomorrow evening the property and membership of Endicott church will be transferred to the First Baptist church.

SECTION THIRTY CASE.

Decision Filed Today in the Celebrated Land Contest by Register Nichols and Receiver Frazer.

Dr. William Alden, Houghton E. James and Charles P. Wheeler Are the Three Lucky Contestants.

They Are Decided to be Entitled to Iron Lands Estimated to be Worth Several Millions.

The decision in the famous section 30 case was filed at the land office this morning by Register Nichols and Receiver Frazer. The decision is in favor of the claims made by Dr. William Alden, Houghton E. James and Charles P. Wheeler.

The case was entitled: Angus McDonald, Thomas W. Hyde, David Moyer, William Alden, Daniel C. Sullivan, Reuben E. Lawrence, Charles P. Wheeler, William M. Stokes, Houghton E. James,
Carroll M. Mauseau, Thomas Chelley,
W. W. Billson, Thomas J. Monahan and
F. F. Huntress, contestants, vs. Emil Hartmann, David Moyer and the heirs and legal representatives of David Moyer deceased, claimants. The case involved title to lots 3, 5 and 6, sec. 1 of nw. 1/4 of se. 1/4 of sec. 30, township 63 north, range 11 west, on the Vermilion iron range, and estimated to be worth several millions of dollars.

The case has been in contro- for long time and has been bitterly fought.
The lands involved in the hearing were formerly covered by Sioux half-breed scrip locations initiated prior to survey and adjusted upon the filing of the township plat of survey. Thomas W. Hyde and Angus McDonald also claimed certain subdivisions of these lands under the pre-emption law, basing their claims upon their respective settlements, made while the township was unsurveyed.
The conflicting claims of the beneficiaries under the scrip location and Hyde and McDonald were litigated to a determination in the department, the final decision by Secretary Vilas on Feb. 18, 1889. In an opinion on Jan. 23, 1891, Secretary Noble concurred in this decision. In accordance with a subsequent order from the general land commissioner the office here appointed June 8, 1891, as the hear the applications. The hearing commenced on July 20, 1891, when the trial commenced. Taking of testimony was concluded on March 5, 1892, and the arguments were closed on the 25th of the same month. The decision reviews at great length the claims of the various parties interested, and concludes as follows:

We have now disposed of all the claims presented by the various parties thereto, and from our findings and conclusions hereinbefore expressed, it follows that:

The claims of Thomas W. Hyde and Angus McDonald to a preferred right to enter the lands claimed by them, or any of them, are not supported by the facts or the law, and should be denied. That the alleged settlements of Daniel Sullivan and Carroll M. Mauseau are not sufficient as the basis of homestead claims and the application of said Sullivan to enter, under that law, the lots 3, 5 and 6 and se. 1/4 of nw. 1/4, and that of said Mauseau for the nw. 1/4 of the se. 1/4 of the lands in controversy must be rejected.

That the homestead application of William Alden, so far as it relates to the lots 3, 5 and 6, and that of Houghton E.
James, so far as it relates to the lands now within the jurisdiction of the department, viz: the
nw. 1/4 of se. 1/4 of the lands in controversy, were the first legal applications for those lands after the cancellation of the scrip locations of Stram by the decision of Feb. 18, 1889; that they were presented at a proper time and were sufficient in form, substance and execution; that they were improperly rejected, and should now be allowed, upon payment of the legal fees and commissions and the parties showing themselves properly qualified as homestead entrymen.

That the proposition advanced on behalf of Stokes and Lawrence, that all the applications presented at this office on the morning of Feb. 23, 1889, were offered simultaneously, or so nearly so that the "simultaneous rule" must be applied thereto, is untenable under the facts shown at the trial and must be disregarded.

That the soldiers' additional entry, F.
C. No. 1421, in the name of David Moyer, was erroneously allowed and should be canceled.

That the entries of Emil Hartmann with Porterfield warrants No. 74, R. and
R. No. 1, for lot 6, and No. 1, R. and R.
No. 2, for the nw. 1/4 of the se. 1/4, were erroneously allowed, and should be canceled; that his further entry of the se. 1/4 of nw. 1/4 with Valentine scrip E117, R. and R. No. 4, should also be canceled for the same reasons as his said Porterfield scrip entries.

That Charles P. Wheeler was the first legal applicant for the se. 1/4 of nw. 1/4; his application to enter the same with Valentine scrip E250 was erroneously rejected and should now be allowed upon payment of the legal fees for such entry.

That William W. Billson, Thomas J.
Monahan and Fred F. Huntress, having presented no facts, nor called our attention to any law entitling them or either of them to any relief at our hands, their claims should be denied.

We Are Savers of Souls!

BOTH in a worldly and spiritual way—for, with our SHOES which fit and wear, and cause no wear nor tear, nor cause to swear, we always get there with both feet and so will you if you wear them. You can find cheaper SHOES than ours—no doubt about that—but you'll have to waive every point that is desirable—you might as well buy wooden ones,
for all the use they'll be to you.

We've pictured the difference: Instead of stiff,
clumsy, unsightly Shoes, you'll find OURS soft, easy, durable and shapely—that don't need an hour's breaking in to be comfortable. They're the kind you can "bank" on being satisfactory.

We've Men's French Calf Lace and Congress Shoes, with French or London toe at $2.50 and $3.00. We'll tell you what, you can't match 'em where they sell nothing but Shoes for less than $3.00 and $3.50.

We've Men's French Calf, hand welt, Lace and Congress Shoes, with French or London toe, at $3.50 and $4.00.

Guaranteed, as ours are, these would cost you from 50c to $1 more in any other store in town.

Surely you can pin your faith where we are willing to stake our reputation. But you run no risks, we shoulder 'em all.

FOR SUNDAY OPENING.

The Struggle by the Friends of Sunday Opening of the World's Fair Continued Today.

At Present the Outlook for Favorable Action by Congress is Not Regarded as Favorable.

A Slim Majority of the Committee Disposed to Grant Sunday Opening in a Modified Form.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The house committee on the World's Columbian exposition wrestled for two hours this morning with the Sunday opening proposition, and when it adjourned to attend the meeting of the house neither the Sunday openers nor the Sunday closers had secured a decided advantage. The result of the meeting, however, was not satisfactory to Chairman Durbin, nor was it very promising of success in his efforts to have congress rescind its action closing the gates on Sundays.

The disposition of the members of the committee apparently was to leave the subject alone and not stir up further agitation of religious bodies by bringing any recommendation to congress. The adjournment of the committee for one week, at this stage of the session when time is precious and over the protest of Chairman Durbin, who wanted to hold another session tomorrow, was indicative of this feeling on the part of the members of the committee.

A letter read by Representative Houk, of Ohio, who has all along been one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the bill, and is even now in favor of partial opening Sunday afternoons, to President Higginbotham, in which he suggested that the agitation against Sunday opening on the part of religious bodies might injuriously affect the receipts, with the intimation that perhaps it would be better to withdraw the Sunday opening proposition, was also in the same line.

The discussion in the committee was discursive to a considerable degree and frequently went into the details of the bill, and the proposition as it was embodied in the resolution before the committee, members offering suggestions as to the manner in which it might be possible to have Sunday opening in some modified form which would be less obnoxious to religious sentiment.

Representative Houk of Ohio, was one of these members who favored a partial Sunday opening. His idea in a general way was that the bill should be open on Sunday afternoon, but that the public should be admitted only to the art galleries and to other kindred exhibits. He also favored the proposed Sunday opening to the kind of religious hall in which all denominations should hold devotional exercises. There was more support to this view of a modified Sunday opening than to the kind of opening proposed by the fair managers. Mr. Houk's plan also involved sacred music and strict observance that employees should not work more than six days in the week. Much of the time he occupied during the session was taken up in reading the long letter he had referred to addressed to President Higginbotham. This letter was largely in the nature of suggestions and asked whether or not, in view of the opposition shown by religious organizations, it might not be that the receipts would be diminished by continued agitation and if it might not on the whole be well to withdraw the proposition.

A letter was read from Fred Douglass favoring Sunday opening. The discussion became rather general. There are eleven members of the committee and it was made evident that the vote will be so close as to leave a full attendance to show which side has the majority in committee.

Only seven members were present today. Four of them, viz: Messrs. Reilly, of Pennsylvania, Dingley, Dooliver and Robinson of Pennsylvania, are opposed to Sunday opening and to further action by congress. Messrs. Durbin, Houk and Lagan are in favor of Sunday opening in some form at least.

Of the absentees Mr. McCready is understood to be against Sunday opening and Mr. Little is in favor of it, leaving Messrs. Wheeler and Cogswell on the doubtful list, but probably inclined towards opening in some shape, if there were good chances favorable to securing congressional action. Mr. Lagan, while in favor of Sunday opening, had something to say, however, about the sale of whisky on the grounds and spoke against it.

Chairman Durbin endeavored to get a vote on the matter, but the majority was against him and did not want one. He then suggested a session tomorrow, but it immediately became evident that most of the members did not want to act while the agitation was still going on, and an adjournment for a week was carried without a negative vote, save that of the chairman.

It is possible, but hardly more than possible, that a late day there may be got out of the committee by a bare majority a proposition favoring partial Sunday opening.

The Wisconsin Senatorship. MADISON, Wis., Jan. 24.—No ballot for United States Senator was taken at the morning session of the legislature and a recess was taken until after the Democratic caucus this afternoon. The caucus met at 2:30 and once got into a tangle, which is not likely to be straightened out before evening.

Run Off the Track. BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 24.—Last night a West Shore passenger train ran off the track at East Buffalo near the city line owing to an open switch. The engine was capsized and badly damaged. Engineer Smith and Fireman Fox were scalded about the head. No passengers were injured.

DIED FROM EXHAUSTION.

The Terrible Experience of Two Men South of Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Thomas Stevenson, a member of the Calumet Heights club, and Arthur Morton, both employees of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal company, had a terrible experience Sunday while hunting rabbits near the club house, thirty miles south of Chicago, which resulted in the death, probably from exhaustion, of Morton.

His body was found yesterday in a trail near the Lake Shore tracks not far from Millers' station in Indiana. The men went to the club house Saturday night and early Sunday morning started out. At 1 p. m. they started back for the club house. After hearing about for half an hour without making any progress, they realized that they were lost.

At 5 o'clock Morton sank to the ground utterly exhausted. "Morton was nearly crazy with exhaustion," said Stevenson last night. "I took him on my shoulders and began my weary search for a way out of the wilderness. In a short time I came to a railroad and found a man with a handcar there. I begged of him to take Morton and myself along. He said he had no time to spare, but of course I turned Morton over to him. He started back along the trail which I found easily."

An inquest will be held today, at which it is thought further light may be thrown on the mystery.

MR. BLAINE DOES NOT SPEAK.

Has Not Spoken a Word For More Than a Week.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—"Mr. Blaine's condition remains practically unchanged," said Dr. Johnston, who left the patient at 12 o'clock noon. "Mr. Blaine passed a restless night, sleeping the greater part of the time and has apparently lost no strength, neither has he gained any. Mr. Blaine is much of the time in a stupor, and is unable to speak."

A relative of the family, who was at the bedside of the patient during the doctor's visit this morning, said that Mr. Blaine had not spoken a word at the office that both Sir Francis-Wallace Grenfell and Gen. Kitchener, the sirdar of the Egyptian army, who is now in London, was at the war office today in consultation with the Right Hon. H. Campbell-Bannerman, secretary of state for war. It is officially stated at the war office that both Sir Francis-Wallace Grenfell and Gen. Kitchener, the sirdar of the Egyptian army, who is now in London, was at the war office today in consultation with the Right Hon. H. Campbell-Bannerman, secretary of state for war.

For this reason chiefly the government, acting largely upon the advice and opinion of Sir Francis-Wallace Grenfell, will for the present limit the amount of British reinforcements to 1000 men, but arrangements have been completed to draft 10,000 men on three days' notice from the British garrisons in Malta and India to Egypt. The British troops on their way to India to relieve British regiments about to depart from India are to be detained at Port Said until advised to proceed.

The British could, therefore, in a short time bring about 15,000 British troops to bear upon the Egyptian army, and assuming that the native army would remain loyal, a total force of about 33,000 would be under British direction.

FIGHT IT OVER AGAIN.

The Troubles of a Railroad Being Aired in Court.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The old troubles of the Columbus & Hocking Valley Railway company were argued over again before Justice Ingraham in supreme court yesterday in an action of Mr. Blaine to recover the $50,000,000 it claims to have been dispossessed of by Stephens Burke and his assistants.

The present action is to recover the proceeds from the sale of the property of the Columbus & Hocking Valley Railway company, which was sold by Stephens Burke and his assistants. The case of Congressmen Helden against Burke and others embraced most of the charges in this case and is pending on appeal. Senator Hill acted as one of the counsel for the road and opened the case.

THROWN FORTY FEET.

Four Men Injured by the Collapse of a Scaffold.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—John Cairns, Alfred Bryan and F. J. Griffiths, stone carvers, whose homes are in Boston, and William Kerns, a stone carver of this city, received serious internal injuries, besides being badly cut and bruised by the sudden collapse at 9 o'clock this morning of a scaffolding at the new art institute on the Lake front on which they were working. The men were thrown forty feet to the ground in a mass of stone cuttings and tools.

BAD FIRE IN CINCINNATI.

Caused by the Upsetting of a Lighted Lamp Among Shavings.

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 24.—The queensware establishment of George H. Dean and Kite Bros., at the northwest corner Pearl and Walnut streets, was damaged by fire early this morning to the extent of $50,000. The building is five stories high and was well stocked with fine imported china.

The origin of the fire was the upsetting of a lighted lamp into a pile of shavings by a carpenter, who was engaged to put a fancy wood ceiling in the office on the first floor. Insurance not given.

A Railroad Purchased. NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The New York & Northern Railway company has been bought by the Manhattan Elevated Railway company. Negotiations pending over two years were concluded successfully yesterday. The precise terms upon which the purchase is made have not been disclosed, though there are indications that upwards of $3,000,000 will change hands.

Concerning the report that the Manhattan Elevated Railway company has bought the New York & Northern railway, Russell Sage, the vice president of the Manhattan company, says positively that the purchase has not been made.

A Destructive Fire.

CLINTON, Mo., Jan. 24.—Yesterday fire was discovered in Churchill Bros. livery stable. The flames quickly spread to adjoining buildings, and before they were extinguished business property to the value of $100,000 was totally destroyed. Fifteen horses were cremated. The origin of the fire is unknown.

TROUBLE OVER EGYPT

The British Officials Claim the Native Army is Faithful to the Cause.

The Khedive is Stubborn and Says That He Never Yields Except by Exercise of Force.

French Newspapers are Trying to Induce Their Government to Assert its Rights in Egypt.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Some surprise was expressed yesterday at the news from Cairo that Lord Cromer had expressed himself so confidently in regard to the prompt suppression of any outbreak that might occur. Today's advices give the grounds for Lord Cromer's confidence. His lordship is assured of the entire fidelity of the native Egyptian army to the British cause, and with the British army of occupation co-operating with the native troops, it is believed that any attempt at insurrection would be promptly crushed.

A Cairo dispatch says that Lord Cromer called upon the khedive this morning to inform him that the British government had decided to increase the British garrison in Egypt. The dispatch does not state how the khedive received the news, but no doubt is felt that it had a profound impression in dissipating any idea that Mr. Gladstone intended to abandon Egypt.

Maj.-Gen. Sir Francis-Wallace Grenfell, of the Egyptian army, who is now in London, was at the war office today in consultation with the Right Hon. H. Campbell-Bannerman, secretary of state for war. It is officially stated at the war office that both Sir Francis-Wallace Grenfell and Gen. Kitchener, the sirdar of the Egyptian army, who is now in London, was at the war office today in consultation with the Right Hon. H. Campbell-Bannerman, secretary of state for war.

For this reason chiefly the government, acting largely upon the advice and opinion of Sir Francis-Wallace Grenfell, will for the present limit the amount of British reinforcements to 1000 men, but arrangements have been completed to draft 10,000 men on three days' notice from the British garrisons in Malta and India to Egypt. The British troops on their way to India to relieve British regiments about to depart from India are to be detained at Port Said until advised to proceed.

The British could, therefore, in a short time bring about 15,000 British troops to bear upon the Egyptian army, and assuming that the native army would remain loyal, a total force of about 33,000 would be under British direction.

THE KHEDIVES IS STUBBORN.

He Gives a Defiant Reply to the British Threat of Force.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The latest dispatch from Cairo states that the hostility of the khedive toward England shows no signs of abating. In answering the threat uttered by Lord Cromer to the effect that a complete change of regime might be necessary in the event of resistance of British authority, the khedive replied that he only yielded to force.

The khedive has been strengthened in his attitude of antagonism toward the English by deputations from the provinces, headed by the local officials hostile to British control. These deputations have addressed the khedive in fulsome and flattering language, congratulating him on his opposition to the English.

Sensation in France.

PARIS, Jan. 24.—The sensation over the action of the British in Egypt is increasing. The course taken by England is looked upon as proving the determination of Great Britain to persist in the occupation of Egypt. The newspapers unanimously call upon the government to vindicate the rights of France.

The Khedive Encouraged.

PARIS, Jan. 30.—A dispatch from Cairo states that the sultan has telegraphed to the khedive his congratulations on the attitude which the khedive had assumed in respect to the formation of a cabinet independent of English interference. The sultan will send the khedive a present of six horses.

THE HOMESTEAD POISONINGS.

The Trial of Robert F. Beatty Was Begun This Morning.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 24.—Robert F. Beatty was placed on trial in the criminal court at 8:30 this morning charged with complicity in the Homestead poisonings. Judge Stowe and Judge Slagle were on the bench. The court room was crowded when the trial opened. Assistant District Attorney Goehring, assisted by E. V. Breck and J. S. Robb, counsel for the Carnegie company, appeared for the commonwealth; Messrs. Thomas M. Marshall, Sr., W. J. Brennan and W. K. Porter representing the prisoner.

Beatty is one of the men alleged to have been employed by District Master Workmen Dempsey to go to Homestead and work as a cook in the Carnegie steel works and to carry out the design on the lives of the non-union workmen. Beatty was the first of the alleged poisoners caught.

It was nearly noon when the selection of a jury was completed. Prosecuting Attorney Goehring then announced that the prosecution, counsel for the defense and the defendant himself had agreed to submit in evidence the testimony of the doctors, the witnesses who were patients of the latter and the expert testimony offered against Hugh Dempsey. Attorney Breck then moved the indictment against Beatty, in which the prisoner is charged with felonious assault in administering poison to the non-union men in the Carnegie steel plant at Homestead.

GOOD ROADS CONVENTION.

It Will be Held at St. Paul, Beginning Next Friday.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 24.—The good roads convention will be convened in the rooms of the chamber of commerce next Friday. Delegates from all over the state will be present, and the convention will doubt accomplish a great deal in way of securing good public highways in the state.

The matter has been long agitated, but it was only a few months ago that the idea of calling a convention to discuss the subject was conceived by a few Minneapolis gentlemen who at once put it into practice and succeeded in interesting prominent men all over the state in the scheme. So a call was issued, and it is expected that every county in Minnesota will be represented when the convention is called to order. Good roads are essential to the prosperity of any state, but Minnesota has been painfully lacking in this particular, its cities, towns and villages having grown too fast for its public highways to be kept up in proportion.

An interesting program has been arranged for the convention. Several papers pertaining to the object in view will be read by men well posted on their subjects. One of the best will probably be the paper by James J. Hill on "The Public Highway and Its Relation to the Railroads." The convention will undoubtedly pass resolutions calling upon the legislature to grant an appropriation, and will also take steps to have every town and village in the state contribute its share of expense in providing and maintaining a good system of roadways. The business men of the Twin Cities are also anxious and willing to bring about such a result.

MARRIAGE IN HIGH LIFE.

A Wedding Attended by the Austrian Emperor and Other Notables.

VIENNA, Jan. 24.—The marriage of Archduchess Margaret Sophie and Duke Albrecht of Wurtemberg, was solemnized today in the Church of the Hofrat. Cardinal Gruscha, archbishop of Vienna, officiated.

The wedding was one of great brilliancy, being attended by Emperor Francis Joseph, several archdukes and archduchesses, the king and queen of Wurtemberg. After the ceremony, the bride and bridegroom kissed the hands of the emperor and the king and queen of Wurtemberg.

The bridegroom is a captain of the Wurtemberg cavalry and belongs to the Catholic branch of the dynasty. He may be regarded as the heir presumptive to the throne of Wurtemberg, as the reigning king has no son and the next two dukes, William and Nicholas, are childless.

THE LEASE WAS DECLINED.

An Offer to Lease the Connecticut River Road Refused.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 24.—From this end it is learned that at the meeting in Boston Saturday of the special committee of the Connecticut River road directors, the offer made by the Boston & Maine management to lease the road for ten years in consideration of a bonus of $50 a share and a guaranteed dividend of 10 per cent was declined.

The committee decided to wait until the Boston & Maine people made more satisfactory overtures. The offer is considered no better than that originally made by the New York, New Haven & Hartford road, and the committee thinks the stockholders should receive a more satisfactory one. Utik such an offer is forthcoming, the Connecticut river people are in no hurry to effect a settlement.

THE KENTUCKY COTES.

A Hot Fight is Proceeding for the Senatorship.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 24.—Hard work has been done in the senatorial race since Saturday. The Lindsey men are claiming forty-five today, but McCready and Stone men are still ready in their respective columns. McCready has picked up two or three votes in the last few days and if the work now going on succeeds he will be in a fine shape when the caucus opens. He is at the capitol mingling with the members.

A Criminal Operation.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Margaret Foster, 30 years old, a school teacher at Altoona, Pa., who was removed last Saturday to Bellevue hospital from a lying-in establishment in East Twenty-fifth street, suffering from peritonitis, died at 3:30 this morning. The coroner said the young woman had undergone a criminal operation and that instruments had been used. The police have taken the matter in hand.

A Mark of Respect.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The house refused to agree to a motion to take up the sundry civil bill, the fight against it being made by the friends of the bankruptcy bill. The vote stood: Yeas, 107; nays, 107. Then, as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Justice Lamar, the house adjourned.

A Minneapolis Embezzler.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—W. H. P. Windrus, 32 years of age, was remanded in the Tombs police court this morning to await the arrival of requisition papers from Minneapolis, Minn., where he is wanted for embezzling $3700 from the Minneapolis Beef and Packing company, for which concern he was book-keeper.

Suicide in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—W. H. McElroy, of the New York firm of McElroy, Benedict & Fowler, shot and killed himself at the Auditorium hotel today.

The Senate Adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The senate has adjourned as a mark of respect to the memory of the late associate justice, Quintus C. Lamar.

THE THEATER HORROR

Latest Reports, About the Great Disaster in China Add to the Awful Tale of Horror.

Over One Thousand Lives Were Lost in a Fire and Panic, Many Being Cremated.

Hundreds Took Refuge in a Temple Which Also Caught Fire and They Could Not Escape.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—Later advices from China indicate that the village theater horror near Canton was more horrible than at first reported. It seems that on the night before the fire a band of brigands, after having despoiled a number of family houses, tried to raid an exhibition to be held in honor of the Tin Hau goddess in which there were many valuable decorations. Soldiers on guard opened fire on the robbers and a fight ensued.

The result was one of the marauders was captured, while the rest made their escape. When all was over the villagers thought peace had been restored and entertained no fear that the robbers would return. They enjoyed the entertainment as usual, but on the following night several places on the roof of a temporary theater which formed part of the amusements were seen on fire.

The flames spread rapidly and soon bamboos and beams were falling from the roof. Some of the audience were knocked down by flaming rafters and badly burned before they could escape. Those who got out could not go home on account of the solid mass of people in the streets and they took refuge in a neighboring temple. This at last caught fire also and the scene then was an awful one. The door did not afford a sufficient means of egress and large numbers were roasted alive.

Altogether over 1000 lives were lost, including those who were burned in the theater. The greater part of the bodies were so horribly burned that identification was impossible. The Chinese are very particular about funeral honors to relatives, but in this case relatives of the dead refused to remove them, and so the ruins were filled with blackened and decayed ruins from which an intolerable stench arose. About 250 houses in the village were burned.

Seven Prisoners Escaped. TEXARKANA, Ark., Jan. 24.—All the prisoners, seven in number, confined in the county jail on the Arkansas side escaped Sunday night by cutting a hole in the floor and then tunneling for a distance of twelve feet to a brick wall, which they succeeded in cutting through. None of the prisoners have been recaptured.

NEXT SECRETARY OF STATE.

Report That Thomas F. Bayard Will Again be Selected.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The Press this morning in speaking of the visit of Hon. Thomas F. Bayard to the president-elect at Lakewood says: Some of Mr. Cleveland's friends were surprised to hear that he had summoned his former secretary of state, Thomas F. Bayard, of Delaware, to Lakewood yesterday, and that Mr. Bayard was likely to be the secretary of state in the next cabinet.

The Press has high authority for the statement that Mr. Cleveland practically decided to make this appointment before inviting Mr. Bayard to Lakewood. A reporter last night asked an ardent adherent of the president-elect, one who has held confidential relations with him, whether Mr. Bayard had sought the office.

Mr. Cleveland's friend said: "No, not any more than he did in 1885. But there are excellent reasons why he should be made secretary of state. One of the arguments put forward in favor of Mr. Bayard's reappointment to his old position is that the questions now important in foreign affairs are almost identical with those that came to the front during Mr. Cleveland's former administration. Mr. Bayard would be prepared to enter upon his work almost without any necessity for the delay inseparable from the choice of a new secretary."

ALL FOUR SUICIDED.

Inseparable Companions All Die by Their Own Hands.

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 24.—Jules Kampe, local manager of the Washington Life Insurance company, of New York, who shot himself because he was short in his accounts, was buried yesterday. Kampe, Samuel McGlasson, Samuel Clark and Fred Boles were for several years inseparable companions and all four held responsible positions.

Boles had a shortage and shot himself in the head four years ago. Clark did the same in the presence of Kampe and McGlasson, the latter following by taking poison in a Virginia hotel and now Kampe has taken his own life.

THE FIG LEAF CLUB.

A Branch of This Society Gets All Leisips by the Ears.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—A scandal, the details of which are too piquant to go into, has set the whole of Leipzig talking, says the Berlin correspondent of the Herald. The center character is Banker Weiss, of the firm of Brahme, Schmidt & Co. He is many times a millionaire, and is noted as a debauchee and roue.

The worst kinds of scenes were developed in the Bayrischstrasse, near the Hotel Stadt Nuremberg. Here lived Mme. Vorletzer, the mistress of the banker. She had taken the ground and first floors, and Herr Weiss paid the rent. In these quarters scenes of the wildest debauchery took place, where young girls were the features. The symbols of the members who take part in these orgies are 10 and 20 mark pieces, at one side smoothed and a fig leaf stamped upon it. A paper closely connected with the police says that the public prosecutor issued orders that any women found wearing these badges shall at once be arrested. This has put fathers, brothers and lovers on the alert. Many painful scenes have been the outcome of the discovered token, which, in several cases, has been worn as a bangle or brooch.

CAPT. BARKER ARRESTED.

He is Arraigned for Illegal Dumping and Pleads Not Guilty.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 24.—The grand jury recently in session in this city found true bills against Capt. Charles S. Barker, of Superior, for dumping the refuse of dredging in the government channels and waters of St. Louis bay. Accordingly he was arrested by the United States marshal and brought to this city. He was arraigned yesterday before Judge R. R. Nelson in the United States court, pleaded not guilty and gave bonds for his appearance.

Governor Altgeld's Illness.

Kuebler, of Chicago, left Springfield at 7 o'clock this morning in a special car over the Ohio & Mississippi railway for Ashville, N. C., where he will remain until he has recovered from the nervous ailment which has confined him to his home since he was inaugurated two weeks ago.

An Ecclesiastical Rumor.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 24.—A private telegram received last night from a high ecclesiastical authority in New York said that news had reached there from Rome stating that the holy see had chosen a coadjutor for the archdiocese of St. Louis and named Monsignor O'Connell, rector of the American college in Rome, as the man.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., Jan. 24.—A storm of considerable energy has developed over the northwest, and is central this morning over Northern Iowa and Southern Minnesota, moving northeast, and will probably pass to the east of this section, leaving plenty of snow behind it. Snow is now falling at all points in the lake region, the heaviest so far being over Wisconsin, and also falling at most places in the Northwest.
Area of high barometer is moving down from the Northwest with a moderate cold wave and will follow the present storm.
The temperature has risen decidedly over down, the highest reported this morning being 40° at Duluth. N. W. T. while the zero is not approaching Minnesota.
The probability this morning is that the snow will continue today, followed by decidedly colder weather tomorrow, with perhaps light snow bursts.
The highest temperature here yesterday was 35°, the lowest last night 15°. The total snowfall at 10 o'clock this morning was .08 inch.DULUTH, Jan. 24.—Snow, followed by fair Wednesday, colder, northeast to northwest

ing fog; cold wave; wind shifting to westward. For Wisconsin: Snow clearing

Sunday Opening of the Fair.

The proceedings today of the congressional committee on the proposition to rescind the action which closed the World's fair gates on Sunday are reported not to have been very encouraging to those who are struggling to secure open gates on Sunday and thus keep faith with the nations invited to participate as well as to afford the people of limited means a chance to see the great exposition. It is to be regretted that it should be necessary to urge congress to repeal the obnoxious clause, which is clearly unconstitutional as an attempt in the direction of religious legislation. Congress should be ready to repeal the clause unconditionally.In contradistinction to the specious argument of Col. Elliott F. Shepard and other advocates of Sunday opening are the views expressed in Chicago a few days ago by the distinguished divine, Rev. Dr. Collyer. He is emphatically opposed to closing the fair on Sunday, and is thus quoted: "I hope that all the agitation that has been raised will not result finally in keeping its gates closed on Sundays. That would be a shame, and the good sense of the country ought not to allow it. The fair certainly ought to be open on Sunday. It must be so.
Of course I do not mean that the stress of week days should be applied. There should be no circuses, no traffic, no great hubbub; and the machinery should not run. There should be, of course, proper safeguards for peace and quiet, but the gates ought to be open to allow people who haven't the time to go and cannot afford to go at any other time to come in on Sundays and look at the pictures, the buildings, the machinery and the other things that will be presented.
It would be a shame indeed to deprive people who cannot go at other times of the opportunity Sunday affords them."
"I remember being in Paris in 1875 with Wirt Dexter. We went one Sunday afternoon to the exposition and the crowds wandered among the buildings, enjoying the wonders that were to be seen. Some looked at the pictures;
others at the exhibits of mechanical industries; the farmers looked at the agricultural products and implements and all of them seemed thoroughly happy.
Mr. Dexter and I agreed that it was beautiful indeed and just proper that the exposition should be opened on Sundays. Why should it not be so here?
The fair ought to be open. There should be no Sunday closing."Dr. Collyer is too distinguished a preacher and his reputation for piety
and religious observance is too well founded to admit of any aspersions being cast upon his action in taking this stand.
His opinion will carry great weight.

The Bonding Privilege.

The Herald's Washington correspondent yesterday telegraphed the important news that the house committee on interstate and foreign relations has dropped all proceedings relative to a change in the consular sealing system on the Canadian boundary and that Senator Washburn and Congressman do not now anticipate any change in this system by presidential order.
This is very important news to Duluth, because this city would be adversely affected by the abolition of the consular sealing system, as would all sections of the Northwest. The main mode of traffic between Duluth and the Eastern states would be closed effect-ally against us, and at the same time the shipment of Manitoba wheat through this port would be brought to a sudden end, should the system of shipping in bond be terminated in the manner that was proposed.The movement in favor of suspending
the system was undoubtedly originated
by the trunk lines of railroad running through Chicago, which have sought by some means to curtail the business to and from the Northwest now done over the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk railways. President Harrison appears to have looked favorably upon the arguments emanating from this source, but the strong protests which poured in from the Northwest have apparently caused him to reconsider the question, with the result that the system will stand.

Protection Against Fires.

The recent disastrous conflagrations
in Boston, damage being inflicted by one in Federal street to the amount of $1,000, 000, have caused a general discussion in the newspapers of that city as to the best means of protection against fires in city. Edward Atkinson, who has been given some study to this subject, expresses the opinion that the establishment of a service of hydrants capable of throwing powerful streams on the roofs of the buildings in the business portion of the city is the safeguard to which Boston will find it necessary to resort in order to prevent a recurrence of such serious fires.Mr. Atkinson says that a service of six-inch standpipes conveying water to the roofs, with two-inch nozzles at frequent intervals at the parapet walls dividing one building from another, could be put up at a cost of $2000 per acre of roofs. The conditions which assisted the spread of the Boston fire are paralleled in other cities than Boston, and owners of buildings in other cities than Boston might profit by Mr. Atkinson's suggestion."The development of city architecture
in the direction of tall buildings," says the Milwaukee Wisconsin, "has been very rapid in recent years—much more rapid than the development of improved apparatus for extinguishing fires. Beyond the third story of an ordinary business block or warehouse a stream cast from the nozzle of a hose in the hands of a fireman on the ground turns into spray, and is of very little effect in putting out a fire. It often happens that the only way to pour water upon the fire from above is to carry the hose into a neighboring building, and there is, of course, in that case, great danger of damage by water in the building into which the hose is carried."There are some points in these suggestions that may be studied with profit by those who are endeavoring to secure better fire-fighting facilities in Duluth.

The Welland Canal Tolls.

It was reported some days ago that the Canadian government had decided not to renew the discriminating tolls on the Welland canal, but to withdraw all discriminating tolls, whether upon persons, vessels or commerce, on either the Welland or the St. Lawrence canal. The text of the order in council by which the tolls have been withdrawn has not been made public, and it appears that it has not been officially received at Washington.This has led some people to believe that the announcement of the Canadian government's intention was incorrect, but the absence of any official notice as yet should not be so regarded. The workings of business in the government departments at Ottawa are mysterious and complicated and involved by much of what is popularly known as "red tape." The government's decision in regard to these tolls was announced in the Toronto Empire, which would never have so stated unless the cabinet had passed upon the question, because the Empire is the mouthpiece of the Conservative ministry. The order in council may be expected at any time.The Milwaukee Wisconsin directs attention to the fact that administrations
may come and go, and the political complexion of things at Washington may change every four years, but the newspaper man goes into the White House with great regularity. This remark is based on the report that President-elect Cleveland is looking among the great army of modest journalists for a private secretary.The Mesaba range is already affecting the iron business to a considerable extent, though no actual shipping has yet taken place. It is conceded, however, that the new range can more than compete with all others, and consequently furnacemen are not stocking up with other ores very extensively.The consecration of Rev. Dr. Barker as bishop of Western Colorado, which will occur at St. Paul's church tomorrow morning, will be the most important ecclesiastical event which has ever occured in Duluth. The Herald tomorrow will contain a full and accurate account of the interesting services.According to a dispatch today, Mr.
Cleveland appears to be regarding Thomas F. Bayard with a favorable eye for secretary of state. Mr. Cleveland's family physician should prescribe something which will cure this unfortunate case of myopia.

Reciprocity's Results.

The verdict of the people at the polls
last November, while properly regarded as a condemnation of the high protective ideas of the McKinleyites, cannot justly be claimed as opposed to the reciprocity features of the McKinley law. If the people had been asked to vote upon the question of reciprocity only, there is no doubt that their decision would have been very largely in favor of the policy which was initiated by Mr. Blaine and put into practical operation under his directions.The Herald has repeatedly referred to the good results which have attended this policy. A recent telegram from Washington gives some late facts taken from advanced sheets of the report of the bureau of American republics for 1892. This statement shows the total value of the exports of the principal articles shipped from the United States to the Latin-American countries for the first eleven months of 1891 and for the same period of 1892, as follows:

Ward and James.

The new combination headed by the tragedians Frederick Ward and Louis James will be the attraction at the Lyceum on Friday and Saturday next.
Henry Guy Carlton's romantic drama,
"The Lion's Mouth," will be given on Friday night and at the matinee on Saturday, with entirely new scenery and costumes prepared especially for the present production.On Saturday night Shakespeare's tragedy, "Othello," will be presented with all the scenery and costumes that were used in that piece by Edwin Booth and the late Lawrence Barrett. In "The Lion's Mouth" Mr. James will appear as Fra Angelo and Mr. Ward will be seen in his original character of Iago.
Mr. James will sustain the title role in "Othello" and Mr. Ward will be Iago.

Remenyi.

Enthusiasm was manifest throughout the audience at the Temple last night when the great virtuoso, Remenyi, gave another performance, assisted by three excellent soloists—Miss Methot, soprano; Mr. Marshbank, baritone, and Mike Sage, pianist. The theater was well filled, Remenyi being a favorite here with all people musically inclined.
It does not require a knowledge of technique and musical composition to appreciate Remenyi. Under his wonderful touch, the great instrument becomes as flexible as the human voice and he can make it sing or laugh or drop into mournful cadence the mood strikes him.
He is likewise an enthusiast, and the fire and passion which he can throw into his playing never fail to arouse the audience. Miss Methot has a clear, fresh soprano voice that is very pleasing and she sings with exquisite taste. Mr.
Marshbank was suffering from a cold
which detracted from his performance.
Mike Sage is an accomplished pianist.Sick headache? BEECHAM'S PILLS

SEVERAL GOOD STORIES.

DROWNING AND GLUTTONY.

A man with a purple nose was fishing for porgies off a wharf, and suddenly falling into the water a fellow fisherman of benevolent aspect promptly hauled him out, laid him on his back and then began to scratch his head with a puzzled look. "What's the matter?" asked the excited bystanders. "Why don't you revive him?" "There are sixteen rules to revive drowned persons," said the benevolent man, "and I know 'em all, but I can't just now to mind which comes first." At this point the drowned man opened his eyes and said faintly, "Is there anything about giving brandy in the rules?" "Yes." "Then never mind
the other fifteen."A Rhode Island deacon was inordinately fond of clams. When once he had attended a clam bake he overtaxed his capacity and was sorely distressed, but his faith in prayer was unabated. Leaving the party and going down on his knees behind a tree he was heard to supplicate: "Forgive me, O Lord, this great sin of gluttony. Restore my health and I will never eat any more clams," then, after a judicious pause, "very few, if any, Amen."

CHEAP FOR BAIT.

Some young men from Boston applied to an old fisherman up in the country to see if he could get them some bait. He thought he could, and started off. Three hours afterward he appeared with a 10-quart pail full of angleworms. The boys were alarmed lest there should not be money enough in the party for such a wealth of bait, but they put on a bold front, and some one asked, "How much do we owe you?" "Well, I don't rightly know," answered the old man; "the ground is kindly solid and the worms is far down, and it's been hard on my back to dig 'em, but I've half a mind to go fishin' myself tomorrow, an if you'll give me half the bait we'll call it square."

HE DREW THE LINE SOMEWHERE.

It is related of Dr. Noah Hunt Schenck, of Brooklyn, who was an imposing looking man, with a fine voice, and a great man to get possession of a church convention through his gifts of presence and oratory, that upon one occasion when he had a convention in good running order
a rather insignificant looking brother made a motion that rather upset and disturbed the machinery. The doctor, equal to the occasion, immediately suggested an amendment calculated to restore the situation, and, striding down
the aisle, shouted to the little man, waving his hand majestically, "Take my amendment, brother—take my amendment!"The little clergyman braced up in the aisle, with his thumbs in his vest pocket,
and energetically replied: "No, Dr.
Schenck, I will not. I will take your pulmonic sirup and your liver pills, but I will not take your amendment."A gentleman went to hire a horse of a livery stable proprietor who was very particular about his stock and always extorted a promise from his customers not to drive fast as a condition of letting
"You can have the horse," he said, "if you agree not to drive him fast." "Well," said the man, "I want him to go to a funeral, and I am bound to keep up with the procession if it kills the horse."—

NOW THE REED PATENT

Judge Nelson Decides That the Reed Patent to Part of Section Thirty is no Good.

He Further Orders That the Patent be Surrendered to the Secretary of the Interior.

This Decision is Claimed to Strengthen the Recent Opinion of the Register and Receiver.

Judge Nelson, of the United States court, has filed his decree in the case of the United States vs. Thomas B. Reed, the Germania Iron company and Hartman & Mallett, declaring the Thomas Reed patent to the $\frac{3}{4}$ of the net and lots 1 and 2 of section 30-31-11 to be null and void and that any or all the defendants are thereby enjoined from setting up any title whatsoever to the tract of land in question, by reason of said patent, and he further orders that said patent be surrendered to the secretary of the interior.

This decision of Judge Nelson simply strengthens the opinion held by the local land office here and recently made public in the section 30 case. It is claimed that it takes from each and all the defendants the right of appeal under the Reed filing of soldier's addition scrip upon which the patent was obtained.

The facts regarding the peculiar manner in which the patent was secured from the interior department are still fresh in the minds of the public and it is therefore unnecessary to repeat them at this time.

WEST DULUTH HAPPENINGS.

Little Business Done at Last Night's Council Meeting.

The regular council meeting was held last evening, but little business being transacted. The use of room No. 10, city hall, was granted to Rev. Dr. Forbes when not occupied by the ladies of the W. C. T. U. John Runshaug, sub-contractor on the city hall, presented a communication asking that the council protect his claims on the building. The petitioner claims that he cannot get his dues from Contractor Norton, and he proposes to look to the village for it. The attorney reported that a settlement could be made of the claim of Ray T. Lewis for $125 in lieu of building a retaining wall in front of his property on Broadway, and recommended such a disposition of the matter. The report was laid on the table.

The assessor and the committee appointed to look into the Sixth avenue assessment matter, reported that they had made a few changes in the assessment of said street which was satisfactory to all parties. The bill of the Phoenix Electric company for extra work was referred to the committee on supplies.

The engineer's estimate of $5000 due P. McDonnell for work on Fourth avenue was allowed. Several smaller bills were also allowed. The street car question was again discussed but no definite action taken. Engineer Krey was granted a two weeks' vacation.

AT THE BURNING.

The Plant is Now Assuming an Appearance of Activity.

Nearly a full crew of men were put at work at the blast furnace this morning and the plant took on the old time business air. The large iron cars which transport the coke, limestone and ore to the top of the furnace stack was put at work filling the huge stack. The wind was turned on from the big engine and all at once everything is in an experimental stage it will be but a few days before the pig iron will begin to pour out from its fiery bed. A small amount of ore from the Vermilion range to mix with the softer variety of the Mesaba is being received. There have been but few changes made in the original design.

The dump car has been divided into four compartments so that the different ingredients may be dumped in the furnace at the same time, thus distributing it better in the proper proportion. The large smokestack which had cracked considerably through an uncertain foundation has been braced up by means of heavy iron bands to ensure its safety.

WHEAT WAS HIGHER TODAY.

Prices Were Unsettled Early But Closed at an Advance.

The wheat market was fairly active and stronger today, although prices fluctuated considerably during the early hours. May No. 1 northern opened at last night's closing price, 72 1/2, and acted nervous and unsettled, breaking to 72 1/2, which was followed by transacting at 72 1/2, after which it rose to 73 1/2 and advanced to 74 1/2. It finally settled back to 73 1/2, at which figure the bulk of the transactions was made. While the principal trading was in May, spot stuff was in fair demand early and sold in carlots at firm prices. The market ruled dull in the afternoon. The close was at 73 1/2 advance for cash, 74 1/2 for May and 74 1/2 for January over yesterday. Following were the closing prices:

JUSTICE LAMAR IS DEAD.
Suddenly Seized With Violent Pains in the Heart.

MACON, Ga., Jan. 24.—Justice Lucius Quintus Cincinnatus Lamar died here at 8:50 o'clock last evening. The death was sudden in the extreme, for although he has been ailing for some time, Justice Lamar appeared to be gradually gaining in health.

He came from Washington to Macon about a month ago and has been visiting at the residence of W. H. Virgin in Vineville, a suburb of this city. Yesterday afternoon at about 3 o'clock Justice Lamar took his overcoat, intending to go to the city, but was met at the door by a friend, Dr. Jewell, with whom he returned to the sitting room.

He remained in the sitting room until about 8 o'clock and at dinner at 6:50 last evening he seemed to have a good appetite. Dr. Jewell left the house about 8 o'clock and a few minutes later the justice was seized with violent pains in the heart and died.

He was suffering from Bright's disease. Lucius Quintus Cincinnatus Lamar was born in Putnam county, Ga., September 12, and after his father's death in 1845, studied law in Macon, and was admitted to the bar in 1847. In 1849 he returned to Oxford, Miss., and for a year held a professorship in the university of Mississippi. He resigned and resumed the practice of law in Covington, Ga.

He was elected to the legislature in 1853 and in 1854 again returned to Mississippi and studied law in Macon, and was admitted to the bar in 1847. DRAPED IN MOURNING.

Justice Lamar's Vacant Seat in the Supreme Court Told the Story.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—When the United States supreme court met as usual today, a chair between those of Justices Gray and Brown, heavily draped in mourning, again told the story that between the adjournment of the court yesterday evening and an early reassembling there had passed away one of its members.

The death of Justice Lamar was not startling to his associates, for they had realized when he left this city for the South that in all probability he would not resume his seat on the bench; yet it was unexpected and a shock to them, for the last news they had had from him was to the effect that he was improving and getting along quite nicely.

The bar and the audience quarters of the court were opened. Chief Justice Fuller announced Mr. Justice Lamar's death in a few words, saying: "It becomes my melancholy duty to announce the death of a member of this court. Mr. Justice Lamar died at Macon, Ga., last evening at 8:50 o'clock. No business will be transacted. The court will now adjourn until Monday next."

THE LUMBERMEN'S SESSION.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 24.—This morning's session of the Northwestern Lumbermen's association did not get down to business until nearly 11 o'clock. The large hall was crowded with people from 10 o'clock. President Price called the meeting to order. There were reports of three committees to be heard, but these were deferred until the election of officers had been held.

Mr. Ewing, of Des Moines, nominated President L. H. Price, of Sioux City, for reelection. Mr. Price was elected by a rising vote which was practically unanimous.

Mr. J. Morse, of West Superior, extended an invitation on behalf of the chamber of commerce and citizens of West Superior to make that city the place for holding the next annual meeting.

JOANSON CITY, Tenn., Jan. 24.—For fear of arrest, J. W. Hyams, the world's champion liar, who victimized the press of the whole country by his origin of the alleged Bakersville lynching riot, has decamped.

He left his hotel in the lurch to the amount of his board during his stay here. The report current that he was connected with the Daily Comet of this city, at any time or in any way, is untrue.

ON THE HARBOR FRONT

An Active Appearance is Being Presented Several Weeks Earlier Than Has Been the Rule.

The Smith-Fee Company is Fitting the Ossifrage in Elegant Style for World's Fair Trips.

The Booth Company Repairing the Dixon, But it is Uncertain What She Will Do.

It is only a little over five weeks since the last foot of a steamer's whistle sounded in Duluth harbor, and yet the bustle of preparation for next season is easy to be seen. Work is going on on all the large tugs of the Inman Towing company and about twelve men are employed in various capacities. This company will have three new tugs next season.

The Smith-Fee company is probably doing more work than any other vessel firm here. It is outfitting the Ossifrage for her World's fair trips and the beautiful little steamer will be so resplendent with new cabins, new gilt and white work, new carpets and furniture and a blaze of electric lights that even her greatest admirers will wonder at the change. The Smith-Fee company has all its machinists at work and nearly all the tug captains are employed in some capacity on company work, Captain Kent being about the only exception, and he is busy with his skating rink on Lake avenue.

The Williams, Daugherty & Upham people have the usual crowd of carpenters and machinists employed on their big dredge and scow fleet. They may add another dredge to the number they already have and will have about half a dozen new dumps before the present year is out. They are also doing some work on their tugs. The A. Booth Packing company is doing some work on the Dixon although it is not at all positive that the Dixon will continue on her last season's run. The company may have another and larger boat to replace her although several vessels have fallen through.

The individual tug men are doing more or less work on their boats, and altogether the harbor front presents quite an active appearance several weeks earlier than usual.

KILLED AT THE CHANDLER.

Frank Belaj Fell Down a Shaft and Was Instantly Killed.

Word comes from Ely that Frank Belaj accidentally fell into No. 4 shaft at the Chandler mine and was instantly killed. As near as can be learned the cage at No. 4 which the miners were coming up on stopped just above the surface landing and Belaj jumped off before the cage was lowered and fell into the shaft to the sixth level, smashing every bone in his body.

He must have struck on the side of the shaft and bounded into the sixth level, as the shaft goes to a depth of fifty feet below. The deceased was a single man, about 25 years of age, with no relatives in this country. His parents are living in Austria.

PANTS.

The following is a Duluth school boy's composition:

PANTS are made for men, and not men for Pants. Pants are like moccasins; they are thinner in summer and thicker in winter. Men get on a tear in their Pants and it is all right; but when the Pants gets on a tear it is all wrong. There has been a good deal said as to whether "pants" is singular or plural. Seems to me when men wear Pants they are plural—and when they don't wear any, they are singular. That's all.

Now, the Pants

Sold by The Great Eastern,
Never Get on a Tear!

Because they are made of the best materials.
They are cut on the latest Approved patterns.
They are stylish and yet roomy.
Fit perfect.
They are wide in the legs, yet not too wide—
Just wide enough.
They are always the right length.
Not long enough to drag on the ground;
Not short enough to show above the shoe tops.
They are all in quality of goods,
In style of cut, and workmanship—
And low enough in price to suit
The most economical buyer.

We don't suppose you ever had the opportunity to buy strictly tailor-made pants for such little prices as we quote you during this January Clearance Sale. Just you watch that big corner show window of ours; our window trimmer tells us that he's going to put in a pants show that will fairly talk—now, see if he don't?

AT THE ST. LOUIS RAINS.

No Trace of the Remains of the Missing Girl Found.

The search for bodies in the ruins of the St. Louis hotel is still going on, but will be finished today or tomorrow. Up to 3 o'clock no more bodies had been found. The debris has been searched carefully, but no trace of the missing girl, Alice Swanson, have been seen.

If her body is in the ruins it is only a question of a few hours until it is found. If it is not there, it is a most puzzling case of mysterious disappearance. This afternoon a gang of workmen was set to work clearing Superior street of the front wall that fell outward when the superstructure gave way and fell crashing into the basement.

MEAT THIEVES ARRESTED.

Four Suspects Are Now Locked Up at Police Headquarters.

All the fall and winter a gang of thieves have been stealing meat in Duluth. Four suspects, whose names the police have not yet made public, have been arrested, and if evidence further than the finding of a ham in the room of one of them can be secured, complaints will be sworn out and prosecutions attempted.

It is not unlikely that further arrests will be made, but there are so many suspected that it is feared they will swear one another out of all danger of a term in jail should complaints be made and the cases tried.

IN THE LEGISLATURE.

Cotton Has a Bill to Legalize Franchises
Granted by Villages to Street Railway Companies.

A Memorial to Congress to Pass Laws to Take Possession of the Anthracite Coal Regions.

Representatives of the Duluth Council On Hand Looking After the Legislation
That is Needed.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 25.—[Special to The Herald.]—Mr. Cotton introduced a bill in the house today legalizing and confirming certain franchises granted by villages to street railway companies. It provides that in all cases where any village has heretofore attempted to grant by an ordinance of said village to a street railway company the exclusive right and privilege of constructing, maintaining and operating a single or double track of street railway line, with all tracks for turnouts, etc., provided that such street railway line has been in operation continuously for four years, such act, contract and ordinance of village shall be legalized and made as if they had authority to pass such ordinance at the time of its passage.

A. J. Anderson introduced a bill imposing a license on all itinerant peddlers throughout the state of $10, and with a horse and wagon $20, and with a double wagon $30 per year.

In the senate Mr. Donnelly introduced a joint memorial which passed under suspension of the rules by unanimous vote, calling upon congress to pass laws to take possession of the anthracite coal regions of the United States and hold the same for the benefit of the people.

Mr. Dean introduced a bill providing that the governor appoint three tax commissioners at a salary of $10 per diem while at work, to look into the matter of taxation and report to the house in 1895 as to the most just and available means of collecting taxes.

Mr. McMillan introduced a bill to appropriate $75,000 to build a library and assembly hall at the state university. Mr. Allen introduced one providing that experienced teachers may receive professional teachers' certificates from the state superintendent of public instruction.

It has leaked out here from several reliable sources during the past few days that Governor Knute Nelson was repeatedly asked by the opponents of Senator Davis to accept the nomination for United States senator. Mr. Nelson refused to accept the nomination and throughout the fight did all in his power to aid the senator in the fight. The Globe and other Democratic papers here have been representing that Mr. Nelson was leagued with the enemies of Mr. Davis, but the facts in the matter as understood by Mr. Davis and his friends, and as clearly stated by them, were altogether to the contrary. It was for the reason that the opposition could not crystallize on any strong candidate that the enemies of Senator Davis were so easily fooled in the final vote.

Messrs. Boggs and Cotton state that all measures introduced on Monday by them were for the purpose of harmonizing the institutions of West Duluth and Duluth when the former becomes a part of Duluth. The bill legalizing assessments is to apply to West Duluth and not Duluth proper, and to perpetuate and legalize the past acts of the West Duluth council when the two cities became one in 1891.

The committee of the common council consisting of Aldermen Weiss and Mayor d'Auremont, with Attorney W. W. Billson, are here consulting with the committee on municipal corporations of the house. Nothing definite has been done in the premises except the appointment of a sub-committee of five to consider bills and decide whether to adopt a general bill or a special one for each class of cities. They have hard work ahead of them. Duluth's interests are to receive careful consideration before the committee.

Governor Nelson yesterday reappointed State Superintendent Kieble. He also appointed H. Muehlberg, adjutant general.

In the house yesterday there were introduced bills as follows: Mr. Horton, bill for appropriation out of the general fund the sum of $1500 per annum for each company of infantry which may be mustered into the national guard of the state of Minnesota in addition to the companies now in the said national guard; Mr. Horton, a bill to reorganize the national guard of the state by an amendment to chapter 4 of the general laws of 1883. The bill increases the number of officers in the national guard and defines the duties and authority of each.

A bill to provide overcoats and blankets for the national guard of the state of Minnesota was also introduced. This measure provides for an appropriation of $10,000 from any moneys in the general fund to purchase 400 overcoats and 1500 blankets for the use of the national guard. Mr. Horton also introduced a bill to provide for locating and marking the positions of Minnesota troops at the battles of Chickamauga and Chattanooga and for the erection of monuments on the battlefields.

Still Balloting.
HELENA, Mont., Jan. 25.—The ballot for United States senator today resulted: Clark, 21; Dixon, 11; Sanders, 30; Collins, 2.

Fire in Vermont.
RUTLAND, Vt., Jan. 25.—Fair Haven, the state city in the Rutland county, was visited by a disastrous fire last night. A dozen buildings were destroyed, causing a loss of over $75,000.

THE CLEVELAND CABINET.

Various Speculation Indulged in as to its Formation.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The Herald this morning says: Don M. Dickinson, of Michigan, whose name is being prominently mentioned for the Cleveland cabinet and whose appearance here has been eagerly looked for by politicians for several days, arrived from Boston at the Hoffman house last night.

He said he intended to be in the city only a day and refused to talk politics, declining even to say whether or not he would call upon Mr. Cleveland. It is safe to predict, however, that if Mr. Dickinson does not meet the president-elect in this city, he will be among the distinguished visitors at the Cleveland cottage at Lakewood, where the cabinet is in process of formation.

The cabinet makers say that it is by no means unlikely that Wm. C. Whitney will be secretary of state and call to mind the fact that when Mr. Whitney accepted the office of secretary of the navy under Mr. Cleveland before, he did not make up his mind until the last minute to take the place. Mr. Cleveland, it is said, will appoint to the French mission Robert McLane, of Baltimore, ex-minister to France.

The prediction is made that Mr. Cleveland will appoint his former attorney general, Augustus H. Garland, of Arkansas, a justice of the supreme court. Mr. Garland is said to have the largest practice in the supreme court of any attorney in the United States.

THE LATEST FROM CHILE.

Crespo is Announced as a Candidate for the Presidency.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—A special cable to the Herald from Caracas, Venezuela, says: The Sandoval negotiations have been declared off. Crespo has sent an agent to Jamaica to negotiate for the sale to Leguizamo. Word has been received from Cartagena that President Nunez and his family intend to visit Chicago during the World's fair.

The arrest of Pinango is due to the complicity in the escape of Fonseca and resulted in his dismissal from the governorship of La Guayra. He will be tried by military court martial. Rojas Paul is still in La Guayra. He is closely shadowed by political spies.

Political clubs everywhere proclaim the candidacy of Crespo for president at the October elections. Pietri has completed the pacification of the Guzmanistas. He has sealed an entente between them and Crespo, by which the latter agrees to appoint Dominici federal attorney general and Governor Antonio Fernandez governor of Zulia.

LOSS OF ONE MILLION.

A Fire Raging in a Mexican Silver Mine and Several Lives Lost.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The World's City of Mexico special says: A fatal accident occurred in the Concepcion mine at Atore in the state of San Luis Potosi. Fire broke out in the main shaft which caused a heavy loss of life. Thirteen corpses have already been recovered.

The fire still rages under ground and at latest advices other workings had collapsed and further subsidence was momentarily expected.

This destruction of property and the consequent paralyzing of work will entail the loss of upwards of a million dollars to the company. Concepcion is one of the historic mines of Mexico and has yielded fabulous quantities of silver. It was considered the "show" mine of Mexico on account of the completeness and perfection of its equipment.

HE HAD A GOOD NIGHT.

No Change in Mr. Blaine's Condition Reported Today.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Although the gas in the room adjoining that of Mr. Blaine still let several times during the night and the light in the sick room was kept burning low, yet on the whole things at the house seemed to be quiet and no one was observed moving about. This morning the servants were astir at the usual hour and the house was opened before 8 o'clock. At that hour the person who answered the door bell conveyed the information that there had been no change in Mr. Blaine's condition and added that he seemed to have had a very good night.

SHOT BY A ROBBER.

Attempt of a Masked Man to Rob a Store in Arkansas.

NEWPORT, Ark., Jan. 25.—Monday night a masked man entered the store of Jefferson Thompson near Grass station, thirty-five miles from here, and demanded all the money in the store. Thompson grappled with the robber and tore the mask sufficiently to see that he was a white man.

The robber fired his revolver, the ball entering Thompson's forehead and passing through the brain and came out through the back of his head. The robber then fled. A posse struck his trail yesterday noon and if he is captured he will be lynched.

KANSAS' NEW SENATOR.

Judge John Martin Elected By the Populist and Democratic Combine.

TOPEKA, Kas., Jan. 25.—Judge John Martin was today elected to succeed Bishop Perkins in the United States senate at the joint session of the legislature.

Ninety-one members participated in the election. The Populists and Democrats formed a combination, the Republicans refraining from voting on call of the roll.

Filibustering in Congress.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The house is still in vain attempting to get up the bankruptcy bill. The filibusters, though, appear to be determined in their purpose, and under the lead of Messrs. Kilgore and Pierce are obstructing all business.

ERA OF UPBUILDING

Wonderful Advances Made by the Town of Grand Rapids During the Past Twelve Months.

Indications Point to the Development Being on a Greater Scale in the Coming Year.

The Reasons Why There Should be Growth in Business and Population at That Point.

The many advantages that have been claimed for Grand Rapids during the year 1892, says the Grand Rapids Magnet, are commencing to bear fruit, and every indication points to the fact that the year 1893 will witness the inception of an era of upbuilding and development, that if properly followed will place Grand Rapids far forward in the columns of rising and prosperous towns.

The past year has witnessed a wonderful stride in the development of the village. Those who knew it a year ago, hardly recognize it in the same Grand Rapids. Then it was a struggling, unpretentious village, with poor streets, bad roads and indifferent accommodations.

The change during the past year has been almost magical. Well laid out street and boulevards, with broad, generous sidewalks, dotted with lamps at convenient and proper places, excellent roads and other modern improvements, which at once impress the stranger with a most favorable idea of the general prosperity of the community.

And the business is fully in keeping with the improvements in the village. Every branch of trade, that is represented in Grand Rapids is taxed to its utmost capacity to keep up with the ever increasing business which comes here.

Strangers very naturally ask from whence Grand Rapids draws its business, to support so many large and well appointed mercantile establishments. Independent of the home industries of Itasca county, which purchases nearly all its supplies at this place for nearly 5000 men, who are engaged in the mining industry, the season, quite a large number of farmers have settled within a few miles of Grand Rapids, during the year of 1892. Most of these have families and ample means for the purchase of the necessities of life. Another industry that is rapidly growing to large proportions is the mining interests. The Western Mesaba range promises to be fully as productive in the best grades of ore as the eastern end.

In township 56-24, no less than eight companies are developing mines, all the supplies for the large number of men employed there are purchased in Grand Rapids. The owners of the mines in this township realize that everything can be purchased in this village as cheaply as in Duluth, therefore everything in the shape of provisions, clothing and supplies for the various mines is hauled from here.

Next spring will undoubtedly witness a great activity, not only on the western Mesaba, but on the western Vermilion. There is not the least question but the ore is just as plentiful and just as high grade as at the eastern end. With the opening up of the mining interests on a large scale business of all kinds will naturally be materially increased. The present firms in Grand Rapids have all they can properly handle. As a result new stores will be put into operation in the early spring, which will give employment to a large number of people. Taking a conservative view of Grand Rapids for the year 1893, there can be found nothing but will fully justify the assertion that it will double its population and size, and be still better known as one of the most prosperous towns in northwestern Minnesota.

IS STILL ON PAPER.

Scheme to Build a New Road from Minneapolis to Duluth.

Reference was made in The Herald yesterday to a scheme reported to have originated in Minneapolis to build a railroad from that city to the Western Mesaba. Later reports indicate that the design is to build a direct line from Minneapolis to Duluth, but it is all on paper at present, and will doubtless be indefinitely so far as the Duluth end is concerned. The parties having the garbage privilege in Minneapolis were the men originally behind the enterprise.

They are now carrying the garbage out to large holdings in Anoka county via the Great Northern road, and in order to reach a section of country which that road does not tap they projected a line to go from the dump on the river bank through Northeast Minneapolis to Cambridge, about thirty miles north of Minneapolis, and the surveys have already been commenced.

It is the scheme to open up market gardens all along this line. To certain of the projects the aftereffect came that this road might with profit be put through to Duluth, and other capitalists on the outside were invited into the deal.

Several accepted and some are likely to become of the line. The Duluth, Cambridge & Minneapolis is the name of the proposed road. The scheme is also to continue the road into the mining country.

Action For Divorce.

An action has been commenced in the district court by Mrs. B. L. Brown for divorce from her husband Chas. C. Brown. The complaint alleges the commission of numerous acts of adultery on the part of the defendant. The parties to the suit were married seven years ago in Sauk Rapids, and have one child, Walter Bacon Brown, 6 years old. The lady bringing the action resides in Chicago.

A NEW MUNICIPAL BILL.

Synopsis of a Measure Introduced in the Legislature.

The bill introduced in the legislature yesterday by the committee on municipal corporations to provide for the government of cities, and repeal special laws relating thereto is a voluminous one, consisting of sixty-three pages of type-written matter. As the bill reads it is to apply only to cities over 50,000 inhabitants, but Senator Sanborn says it will probably be changed to read 30,000, in which case it would apply to Duluth.

The general theory on which the bill proceeds is to make the government of cities an executive one, and to place the entire responsibility upon the mayor, who is, by its provisions, clothed with far greater powers than under present laws. Under the proposed bill the mayor shall be elected for the term of four years beginning with the municipal election of 1893, and shall be ineligible to succeed himself. He shall appoint the chief of police, commissioner of fire department, and health, parks, and water works, the board of education, the board of public works, the city engineer, the city treasurer, the city, the corporation counsel, the board of charities and correction and members of the police force.

The legislative power is vested in the city council of two houses, the assembly and board of aldermen. The assembly shall consist of ten members elected at large, and the board of aldermen of one member elected from each ward. Assemblymen and aldermen shall be elected for four years, except that at the first election under this act half shall be elected for two years and half for four, and thereafter the term shall be four years.

The board of education shall consist of nine members, so classified that the terms of three shall expire every year. No person shall be eligible to the office of mayor or head of a department except city engineer or chief of police, or to be a member of a governing board of any department who shall not have been a citizen of the state and resident of the city for at least five years preceding his election or appointment. The terms of office of chief of police, commissioner of fire department, and health, parks, and water works, shall be specified.

Salaries shall be fixed by the city council as follows: Mayor, not less than $5000 nor more than $5000; treasurer, controller and city clerk, not less than $2000 nor more than $2000; members of heads of departments and assistants, not less than $1200; chief of police not less than $3500; chief of fire department not less than $3000; members of city council, boards of park commissioners, education and charities and corrections shall receive $5 for each regular meeting, not exceeding two a month.

A GREAT DRAMATIC EVENT.

The Warde-James Company's Appearance at the Lyceum This Week.

The puzzling question as to what the public want will be most happily answered by the management of the Lyceum on Friday and Saturday, when the foremost legitimate and classic organization in America is announced to appear. Headed by Frederick Warde and Louis James, accompanied by three artists and two sixty foot cars loaded with beautiful scenery, the Warde-James company justly earns the proud title. From every source come the most fulsome praise of this great company, whose tour throughout the country has been a continuous ovation.

Friday night and the Saturday matinee, Carleton's great romantic play, "The Lion's Mouth," will be presented Saturday night, Shakespeare's tragedy of "Othello" with its grand acting and monster production will be the attraction. Mr. Warde appearing as Iago and Mr. James as Othello, with a supporting cast that is universally conceded to be unapproachable.

This engagement promises to be the most brilliant week in the history of the Lyceum, and will be endorsed by the theatergoers, who are always only too anxious to patronize merit when presented in such a manner as by this great company.

IT IS A SERIOUS PROBLEM.

The Question of Wheat Rates to Minneapolis and Duluth.

It was found necessary to postpone the conference which Chairman Midgely announced to be held at St. Paul yesterday to consider the decision of the interstate commerce commission in regard to wheat rates to Minneapolis and Duluth. The transportation committee now going on at St. Paul makes it inconvenient for some of the interested roads to respond to Mr. Midgely's call, and another date will be fixed for the meeting. In the meantime, however, the Soo line has obeyed the order of the commission and reduced the rate on wheat from Dakota points to Minneapolis and Chicago, making direct connections for all points in the East and South, Southern Florida and California. This is the only line that can give you this service and no one will question it. For reliable information and sleeping car reservations call on Northern Passenger Agent, 428 Spaulding hotel.

In this case the Northern Pacific cannot be compelled to make a lower rate to Minneapolis than to Duluth because by its lines to Chicago and St. Paul the other roads will claim the right to meet competition.

KEELS OF NEW WHALEBACKS.

The Work Now in Progress in Captain McDougall's Shipyard.

On Monday at the barge works the keel blocks were laid for the construction of two new barges. The new vessels are to be the same size as numbers 131 and 132, viz.: 92 feet long, 36 feet beam and 22 feet deep. They will be known as barges Nos. 133 and 134 respectively.

Work on the Christopher Columbus is progressing fine. The six boilers are all in and placed, and the boiler mountings, the safety valves, steam pumps, etc., are being placed. The carpenters and joiners are laying the saloon deck of wood, three inches thick, on top of the steel deck. The lower holds where are to be located the cafe, barber shop and similar apartments, are also being sealed up.

There are now at work on the Columbus including carpenters, joiners, iron workers and engineers a total number of 250 men.

Work on other vessels in course of construction does not appear to languish. Barge 126 is nearly done and 129 and 130 are over half plated while 131 and 132 are each of them about half framed.

Yesterday operations in the drydock were begun. There are seven boats lying in this marine hospital which will receive treatment. They are the steamers A. D. Thompson, and barge 101, the tug Record, the tug M. D. Carrington, all of steel, and two wooden tugs.

ANOTHER OBSTACLE REMOVED.

Further Litigation Against the Duluth & Winnipeg Stopped.

The action of John Foley, Michael Foley, Thomas Foley and Archibald Guthrie against the North Star Construction company, in which a receiver was asked for, and which involved the Duluth & Winnipeg railway, will not get on to trial, Robert D. Russell having filed a stipulation showing that the claim of his client against the company, amounting to $21,000, has been fully satisfied. This takes away another obstacle from the working of the road and settles the last litigation in its affairs filed so far.

Suicide at McKinley.
Tim Sellers, a brother of Seth Sellers, the Tower livery man, shot himself in the head with a revolver at McKinley Monday night. He drove over from Mountain Iron, where he has been working for his brother. After supper he went out to the barn to attend to the horses and a few minutes later a shot was heard. He died at 11 o'clock. No cause for the act is known.

A Sixth Ward Boom.
A candidate for nomination and support announced himself at Alderman Helm's home yesterday morning without the formality of filing a certificate of nomination with City Clerk Burke. It is a 10-pound boy and Alderman Helm feels very bappy. He thinks both he and the newcomer are pretty cute specimens of humanity. Alderman Kennedy feels, however, that the matter ought to be referred to the committee on supplies with instructions not to report until after election.

The Only Line That Does It.
The St. Paul & Duluth Short line runs three daily trains between Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis and Chicago, making direct connections for all points in the East and South, Southern Florida and California. This is the only line that can give you this service and no one will question it. For reliable information and sleeping car reservations call on Northern Passenger Agent, 428 Spaulding hotel.

FOUND AFTER MANY YEARS.

Mr. John A. Olson, 1004 Garfield avenue, Duluth, says: "For a number of years I have been troubled with a complication of difficulties which is not easy for me to describe. I would have severe pains in my stomach, side and back; could not rest at night and would get up in the morning feeling worn out and unfit for the duties of the day. My appetite was poor and what I did eat seemed to make me feel worse. I lost in flesh and became weak, nervous and despondent.

"The doctors failed to give me any relief, and patent medicines did me no good. After reading the statements of some persons who had been treated by Dr. Speer & Co., I called at their office in the New York block, West Superior. They located my trouble and described my feelings better than I could do it myself. I commenced their treatment, and in less than three weeks my disagreeable symptoms left me. The pains are gone, I eat and sleep well, and am gaining in flesh and strength. The nervous and despondent feelings have disappeared and I feel like a new man in every respect. I feel very grateful for the benefit I have received, and cannot too highly recommend Dr. Speer & Co. for what they have done for me."

MARRIED TO A JOCKEY

An Upheaval Created in St. Louis Society by the Action of a Millionaire's Young Daughter.

She Fell in Love With John Mooney, a Youthful Jockey, and Accepted His Proposal.

Her Parents Would Not Consent to the Union so the Pair Elope to Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—A wedding reception that was being held last evening in honor of the marriage of Miss Sadie Conley, of St. Louis, and John Mooney, a jockey at Hawthorne, was rudely interrupted by detectives of the central station. The bride and groom were arrested while receiving the congratulations of friends and taken before Capt. Shea, who ordered them locked up for the night.

It was the sequel to one of the most romantic marriages ever recorded. Miss Conley, or rather Mrs. Mooney, is the daughter of a St. Louis millionaire and is said to be but 17 years old. Her father, William Conley, is the St. Louis representative of R. G. Dun & Co. He lives at 245 Pine street and his home is one of the finest in the fashionable West End.

Mr. Conley and his family have always moved in the best society circles of St. Louis, and the announcement of his daughter's marriage to a jockey will cause an upheaval in the town across the bridge. It was a case of love at first sight. A proposal of marriage was accepted by Miss Conley, but, as she had foreseen, her parents would not give their consent to the union.

Last Monday she eloped from St. Louis and was met by her jockey lover in this city yesterday morning. Two hours after her flight the Chicago police were notified to watch the Alton express upon its arrival here, as it was supposed she had taken that train. Miss Conley and a friend of Mooney's left the train at Brighton Park, where a carriage was in waiting. In this way the stern parent and the Chicago police were outwitted. The party entered the carriage and drove to the office of Justice Doyle where they were married at noon.

Mooney is 22 years old and is one of the best known jockeys in the Southern circuit. He has been riding since he was 10 years old. His father is turf reporter for a Lexington paper, in which city Mooney was born. The bride couple will be held until Mr. Conley arrives from St. Louis.

TO IMPEACH THE GOVERNOR.
Resolution in the Nebraska Legislature to impeach Governor Crouse.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 25.—Yesterday afternoon the house took official notice of the collapse of the Capitol National bank. In this bank funds to the amount of $25,000 were deposited on approval of the bank bond by Governor Crouse. When the house was in running order, Harvey, of Greeley, offered the following resolution:

Whereas, it has come to the knowledge of this body that Governor Lorenzo Crouse did on the 16th day of January, 1893, certify to and approve a certain bond given by C. W. Mosher, president of the Capital National bank of Lincoln, Neb., and R. C. Outcalt, cashier of said bank;

Whereas, said bond upon its face purports to be the bond of said parties themselves who are to do business under it, and

Whereas, it is well known that the legal effect of the giving of said bond is to release the bondsmen of the state treasurer and that thereby the state of Nebraska loses, or is in danger of losing, the amount of money deposited to its credit in said bank, and

Whereas, said bank has closed its doors and is insolvent, and

Resolved, that the attorney general, the senate concurring, is hereby ordered to present to the supreme court at the next session thereof, or as soon thereafter as possible, and within a period not to exceed five days after the next opening of the supreme court, which is to assemble on the 31st instant, articles of impeachment charging said Governor Crouse, with wilful neglect of duty, in not more closely looking into the matter of said bond, with malfeasance in office, incompetency and carelessness in the performance of his official duties.

Under the rules the resolution went over one day. The approval of the bank's bond by the governor is in accordance with the law passed by the Populist legislature two years ago. The law only says that the governor, attorney general and secretary of state shall approve a bank's bond after the original bondsmen shall qualify in twice the amount of the deposit. No provision is made to test the truth of the qualification.

TO REGULATE PRIMARIES.
A Bill to Secure the Purity of the Primary Elections.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 25.—Following is a summary of the various points of the bill introduced by Senator Dean to regulate the primary meetings, elections and conventions of political parties.

It provides that there shall be at least four days' notice of the time and place of holding any caucus or primary; that notice shall be sent out by the committee of the party to hold the caucus who shall have been duly authorized to do so. The notice must be published in a newspaper of general circulation, preference being given to the organ of the particular party. If no newspaper is published in the town or village where the caucus is called, notice shall be given by posting a call in at least six public and conspicuous places.

The notice must specify the places and hours of holding such primaries and the names of the inspectors of primaries, if there be any, the number of delegates to be voted for at each voting place and the districts they shall represent. At least one day shall intervene between the primary meetings and the meeting of the convention. In all cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants each election district, as bounded at the last election preceding, such primary shall be entitled to elect at least one delegate to a convention, which delegate shall be a resident of such district. Each district shall elect its own delegate and the voters therein shall not participate in the election of delegates in any other district. An election district shall be entitled to as many delegates to a convention to be voted for at the primary as the unit of the representation would give them. The vote for president shall be determined by averaging the vote on presidential electors. Newly formed parties shall be exempted from these provisions.

Three inspectors of election at each primary are provided for. They are required to keep a poll list and a ballot box. All voting shall be by ballot. Any candidate is given the privilege of watching the voting and the count. No person shall vote at a primary who is not a legal voter, nor unless he belongs to the party holding the caucus, nor if he has participated in any caucus of another party within six months, nor if he has received or expects to receive a consideration for his vote.

Section 6 provides for challenges the same as at elections.

The primary secretary is required to file with the village or city clerk the poll list of the primary and other records, failure to do so being declared a misdemeanor, punishable by $500 fine. Conventions for nominating candidates for county or city offices shall be convened not more than 40 days prior to the election day. Delegates shall be residents of the district they represent. If any of the provisions of the law are violated, the nominees of the convention shall not be placed on the official ballot. In case party committees shall neglect to call conventions, giving the required notice, such call may be made by twenty-five electors. Any call later than three weeks before election or two weeks before convention by committees shall be void.

Force, violence, restraint, threats, intimidation and fraud are prohibited; also false personation, voting more than once, concealing and destroying ballots or anything tending to affect the result of such conventions.

Section 14 provides that it shall be unlawful to pay, lend or contribute money or other valuable consideration to induce any person to give or withhold a vote or attempt to remain in the primary; or to give money to anyone else to be used. It is also declared unlawful to promise place or office in consideration of support or to contract to pay for proxies.

Whoever violates these provisions shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $500, or imprisonment for six months. Any person offending against the provisions of this act is made a competent witness against any other offender.

What Scientific Research Accomplished.

Proved by Success Where All Else Has Failed.

There is one true specific for diseases arising from a debilitated nervous system, and that is the Paine's celery compound, so generally prescribed by physicians. It is probably the most remarkable remedy that the scientific research of this country has produced.

Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth college, first prescribed what is now known the world over as Paine's celery compound, a positive cure for dyspepsia, biliousness, liver complaint, neuralgia, rheumatism and kidney troubles.

For the latter Paine's celery compound has succeeded again and again where everything else has failed.

Washington correspondents have recently given it a great deal of attention since the most wonderful cure effected in the case of Commodore Rowell.

The medical journals of the country have given more space in the last few years to the many remarkable cases where the use of Paine's celery compound has made people well than to any other one subject.

MITCHELL, S. D., Jan. 25.—The citizens of this state need not be surprised to witness within the next ninety days the biggest influx of divorce applicants that has ever yet appeared in this state.

This will be laid to the passage of the new divorce law or amendment of the old law just passed by the legislature, requiring six months' residence instead of three months as heretofore. Under the constitution of the state no law can take effect until ninety days after its passage, unless an emergency clause shall be added, and the enterprising attorneys at the capital will see that this clause is not included.

SEVERAL FIREMEN INJURED.
The Wall of a Mill Fell in Burning Three Men.

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Several firemen were badly hurt while at work on a midnight blaze, which destroyed the planing mill of the Frost Manufacturing company, Twelfth and Canal streets. Two were injured by the explosion of gas while making connections between the water plugs. At 1:45 o'clock the east wall of the mill fell, burying and injuring the following firemen: James Heaney, Marshal, cut about the face and head, not seriously; Wm. Flood, pipeman, head and shoulders injured and bruised; internally injured; Edward Phelan, pipeman, nose broken, right hand crushed and bruised about lower limbs; and one other.

The loss is estimated at $40,000, with $25,000 insurance.

The Junction City branch had a run on it yesterday and closed its doors. So far no run has been made on the Sheridan branch. The principal losses are the money saved by the principal banks is less than $50,000.

Where Are the Office Seekers?
OZARK, Ark., Jan. 25.—A peculiar and almost unheard-of case of affairs exists in this (Franklin) county. Last September Samuel Howell was elected county treasurer, but failed to make his bond and qualify. Governor Engle then ordered a special election for Jan. 30 to fill the vacancy. The time allowed by law for the certifying of the candidate to the county election commissioners expired last Friday and no names have been certified. The bond is $50,000, and the fees from the office only amount to about $600 a year. This, with the law that prevents any deposits of the county funds save special deposits, is the main reason that no one seems to care to be a candidate.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN DULUTH.

Entered at the postoffice at Duluth, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, Minn., Jan. 25.—The storm that affected this section yesterday has moved rapidly eastward beyond the range of observation. It was accompanied by snow over the northwest and around the lake region, which was heavy about Lakes Michigan and Erie, between five and six inches having fallen there with only two inches of snow in this locality, and still less in the central part of the state.

A very decided fall in temperature has taken place over the North west and the cold wave is slowly moving this way, and it is probable that there will be a decided fall here by tomorrow morning. The coldest place in the extreme Northwest, at Prince Albert, registered 42 below last night. Other temperatures below zero are: Calgary 20, Swift Current 20, Hayre, Mont. 16, Helena 10, Fort Buford 12, Miles City 8, Winnipeg 12, St. Vincent 8, Moorhead 8, Fort Arthur 10 and zero at Biogonack and St. Marys. The warmest place is Memphis, Tenn., 46.

A storm is forming over Colorado, and may affect this section by tomorrow, but it will probably be crowded out by an area of high pressure which is forming over the Northwest.

The highest temperature here yesterday was 15, the lowest last night 15, at which point the temperature stood during the night. The total amount of snow that fell, melted, was 10 inch.

DULUTH, Jan. 25.—Light snow followed by fair Thursday; decidedly colder, north to north-west winds.
 B. H. BRONSON,
 Local Forecast Official.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Forecast till 8 p. m.

tomorrow: For Minnesota: Snow today; clearing; falling temperature; westerly winds. For Wisconsin: Generally fair; cold wave; northerly winds.

Bishop Barker.

The most important ecclesiastical event which has ever occurred in Duluth's history took place at St. Paul's church at noon today when Rev. William M. Barker, D. D., was consecrated as missionary bishop of Colorado. There is hardly any man with whom Duluth would part more reluctantly than with him who will hereafter be known as Bishop Barker, and only the fact that he has been elevated to a position that, in addition to the high honor connected with it, opens before him a still greater field of usefulness, can reconcile the city to his departure.

During the four years that he has been rector of St. Paul's church, Bishop Barker was ever foremost in all good works. He was not bound down by any narrow religious tenets in his treatment of his fellow-men, but he was ever whole-souled and genial and earnest in his endeavors to promote the material and moral welfare of all. The Sunday evening services which he held at the Temple Opera house last winter for the benefit of those who are not usually found within the walls of a church will long be remembered. The good that they produced can hardly be overestimated. That many then heard the simple truths of the gospel presented in plain and earnest manner who had not listened to a sermon or religious discourse for many years cannot be denied, and that the result was highly beneficial and awakened a religious impulse in many breasts that made them better men and better women is equally certain. It was deeply regretted that it was found necessary to discontinue these services, and the hope was entertained that they would be renewed during the present winter.

The club house which he instituted for young men is another striking illustration of Bishop Barker's practical efforts to elevate the condition of the people, and especially to provide a place where the young men of the city would find pleasant congenial associations and escape temptations to evil. Other instances could be cited of Bishop Barker's work in our midst, but these will suffice to show the character and the purpose of the man who is about to leave us.

That he may be highly successful in his new field will be the earnest prayer of all Duluth. Some day when the Episcopal diocese of Duluth is created, and the choice of a bishop is under consideration, Duluth will wish for nothing better than the selection of William Morris Barker as the first bishop of Duluth.

While the senatorial contest was in St. Paul, there were many charges of bribery and it was said by the Pioneer Press and other papers that there was direct evidence of bribery in the possession of some of the Davis men. Senator Davis was also quoted as saying that as soon as the contest was ended he would at once take measures to bring the bribers to justice. So far nothing has been done in this regard.

It is time that the promised action was taken, and a blow struck at this bribery business. During the last two senatorial elections, the air has been filled with rumors of boodle and direct charges have been made, but so far no effort has been made to stop this criminal practice.

Minnesota is being disgraced by the repeated talk of boodles in politics, and the sooner something is done either to punish the offenders or to show that the charges are false, the better it will be for the state. Will not Senator Davis or the men who claim to possess evidence of bribery or attempted bribery having been practised perform their duty to themselves and the people of Minnesota by placing the facts before the proper authorities, so that the law may put an end to such work.

If there is any bribery now going on as alleged a few prosecutions and convictions might end it for all time. Why not begin at once to deal with this serious question?

To Control Primary Caucuses.

The Herald publishes today a digest of a measure introduced in the legislature by Senator Dean of St. Paul to regulate the holding of primary elections, and it would call upon men of all political faiths who are anxious to see a reform secured where it is most needed to give their support to this bill and urge the senator and representatives from this district to give it their support.

One of the chief defects in our present political system is the manner in which the primary elections of the various political parties are conducted. There is now practically no law governing them and the result is that frequently they are characterized by gross fraud and corruption and many times their results do not at all represent the wishes of the majority of the political party in the name of which they are held. There have been some caucuses in Duluth, as well as in other cities, that were of this character, and yet the politicians of this city are no worse than those who reside elsewhere.

The present lax regulations of primary caucuses, however, present opportunities for fraud and corruption that should not be permitted to exist. This is where the ward heeler gets in his work, where the fine work of "the machine" is performed, and where the political boss sees that his wishes are carried out. It is undeniable that the respectable members of all political parties are to blame for this state of affairs, because they have neglected their duty by absenting themselves from the primary caucuses and thus permitting the ward heeler and political toughs to run them to suit themselves, whereas if they had turned out in force to these caucuses something like a fair expression of the real desire of the party would have been obtained.

But the time for this action has been allowed to pass, and fraud and corruption are now so firmly rooted in the primary elections that it will require the strong arm of the law to eradicate the evils. Therefore such a measure as that introduced by Senator Dean should be welcomed and strongly supported, with a view of securing fairly and honestly conducted caucuses. All previous attempts at legislative enactments in this direction have virtually failed, some members of the legislature opposing because they secured their election by means of the existing evils and are counting on the same influence to retain them in office, and others opposing because of the objection to the cumbersome of the statute books with laws and the attempt to cover so much by statute.

It is a just complaint against our present system of government by party that unworthy men are very frequently nominated and elected to office by the party vote. The reason can be found without much search. In every case it will be found that the unworthy candidate secured his nomination by impurity and fraud at the primary caucuses. These caucuses are the foundation stones of the system of government by party, and it is not astonishing therefore that, when the foundation is permeated with fraud and corruption, the whole political structure should be similarly tainted.

With honestly conducted primaries and a more general and intelligent interest taken in them by the respectable classes of citizens, the whole fabric of the political system must be improved and elevated.

Land Transfer Reform.

The committee appointed by Governor Merriam two years ago to investigate the Torrens land transfer system, with a view to its adoption in Minnesota, reported against its adoption on the ground that its provisions are complex and that it is not adapted to our laws and customs. The commissioners, however, pointed out that there is a necessity in our present system of transfer of land and recommended that a commission be appointed to draft a bill embodying the principle of the Torrens system and adapted to the conditions in this state.

Probably with a view of carrying out this recommendation, Representative Wacker introduced in the legislature a bill for the appointment of a commission to investigate all the systems of land transfer now in operation and report a bill embodying the best points in each. The previous commission was not empowered to draft a bill, and therefore left the matter for further action by the legislature.

There does not appear to be any claim from any quarter that the present system in Minnesota is not susceptible of great improvement, and therefore there should be no difficulty in securing the appointment of the commission desired by Mr. Wacker's bill. It is certainly desirable that the present system should be greatly simplified and it is difficult to understand why, with a few modifications, the Torrens system cannot be adopted in this state. It has worked well in other countries where it has been changed somewhat to conform to their laws and customs.

The transfer of a land title should be as easy as the transfer of a share of stock in an incorporated company, and under the Torrens system it is almost as easy. It gives an indefeasible title, guaranteed by the state, and there should be no objection to that, unless it is found in the claim that such a law would be contrary to the state constitution. If there be any doubt on that point, why not submit a constitutional amendment covering it at the next general election? The people need such a system of land transfer and it should be obtained, no matter what trouble may be necessary.

Remonetization of Silver.

The Herald publishes another communication from an advocate of free silver coinage. It is in answer to an article in this paper showing that this country, independently of other nations, could not remonetize silver without incurring financial disaster. He disputes the statement that increased production has reduced the value of silver, and indirectly argues that to remonetize it would restore it to its value.

It is hardly profitable to discuss this question with one who believes in a crude attempt to raise values by law. It is absurd to claim that such a thing could be done. And suppose it were done, who would be benefited? Not the workingmen and the farmers, for whom this correspondent expressed a tender solicitude in a former letter, but the millionaire silver mine owners and those who have speculated in silver mining stocks, hoping that this country would attempt the task of sustaining a double standard composed of two unequal elements.

If silver is ever remonetized it must be done by international agreement. No one nation could afford alone to incur the terrible risk incident to such action and become the dumping ground for all the silver in the world.

The installation of exhibits in the various buildings at the World's fair in Chicago is now actively in progress. Scores of freight cars loaded with exhibits are being run into the grounds and switched to the different buildings. Wagons laden with packing cases are to be seen going in all directions. Soon these busy scenes will be multiplied many times over, for hundreds of cars of exhibits will arrive where now there are scores. The majority of exhibits which have arrived thus far are foreign, and every indication points to the greatest exposition the world has ever seen.

The railroads have not conferred yet as to what should be done regarding the interstate commission's decision on grain rates from Dakota points to Minneapolis and Duluth, and it seems to be the opinion in railway circles now that the result will be similar to that in the Eau Claire lumber case—the rates ordered by the commission will be adopted just long enough to show their impracticability and then canceled. Then what will poor Minneapolis do?

The failure of the senate a few days ago to pass the McGarranah bill over the presidential veto must have been a crushing blow to the hopes of old "Bill" McGarranah. For thirty-five years the old man has been struggling for justice and has never lost faith in the ultimate establishment of his claim. He confidently expected the measure to be carried in the senate by the necessary two-thirds, and the result must have been a terrible disappointment.

"Let those who object to Sunday shows stay away and permit others to go if they want to," declared an Episcopal clergyman in Richmond, Va., a few days ago, in discussing the World's fair Sunday closing question. He hit the nail on the head exactly. No one has a right to force others to do as he himself desires.

St. Joseph, Mo., owns a municipal electric light plant, and the cost per light per night is 14 1/2 cents. This is somewhat below the average cost in this neck of the woods.

A Backward Step.

Minneapolis Times.—The Duluth delegation are catching particular fits for their action in attempting to restore the odious fee system in the public offices there. They are now making their excuses, and those excuses will need to be well put together if they justify any such backward step as the delegation have attempted to take. The fee system is one hard to break up, but when a county has succeeded in crushing it, it ought to be as difficult to revive it.

Is it a Fiction?

Henning, Minn., Alliance Advocate.—The Minneapolis Journal says that [the state warehouse] is a move to build up Duluth and to kill off Minneapolis. Heretofore the Minneapolis papers have claimed that the mills of that city made the markets of the state higher than the foreign market would justify. Is this claim a fiction? Has this move to open the market exposed this fiction so completely that no attempt is made to defend it?

It is a Fact?

The Silver Question.

To the Editor of The Herald: In answer to your leader yesterday concerning silver, the statement that increased production has reduced the value of silver might be sustained had gold bugs kept their hands off, but since they have succeeded in destroying its principal use through the principal commercial nations, they can not prove it. Should new inventions reduce the cost of iron below that of pine lumber for buildings, pine would be reduced in value. Should gold be demonetized throughout the world it would become almost valueless. Can anyone wonder therefore that silver is cheap. I might argue for a paper money, legal tender certificates of deposit of all human productions placed in government warehouses, but so long as such a simple question as that of silver can not be comprehended by so many of the common people, time is utterly wasted.

Duluth, Jan. 24. H. O. BARLOW.

BURNING OF A HOTEL.

Some of the Guests Escaped by Jumping From the Windows.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Jan. 25.—A fire started at 1 o'clock this morning in the Grand View hotel at Fort Hamilton. The hotel was a large wooden structure built on the water's edge on a high bluff overlooking the Narrows and was a popular resort for New York and Brooklyn people.

The fire spread rapidly, and ten minutes after it was discovered the building was one mass of flames. The fire department of the place, the members of which are volunteers, did not arrive on the scene for some time after the alarm was sounded. They were enjoying themselves at their annual banquet and ball, and when they reached the burning building little could be done to save the structure.

It was burned to the ground. About thirty people who make the hotel their residence throughout the year were asleep at the time but were quickly aroused and nearly all were enabled to escape without injury. Some of them, however, delayed their flight in order to save valuables and were compelled to jump from the first balcony.

One man, whose escape was shut off in all directions, jumped into the water from the rear of the hotel, but was rescued after being in the icy water a short time. The only injuries sustained were a few slight burns on the hands and feet to several of the guests.

The loss is estimated at $100,000 which includes the furniture and stock. There is no insurance. The fire is supposed to have been caused by an explosion of chemicals for a photographic outfit which were stored on the ground floor.

A Missing Vessel.

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—Considerable anxiety is felt at the office of the Furmen Steamship line over the non arrival of the steamship Stockholm City, which sailed from London January 1. Even with the bad weather and usual difficulties of the passage at this season of the year the steamer should have arrived at least four or five days ago.

Tommy Burke Won.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 25.—The much talked of fight between Tommy Burke and John D. Dillon took place this morning in a barn on the Normanskill and was won by Burke in two rounds. Dillon made fair showing in the first round but Burke soon went for his man and pounded him right and left.

The Money Trading

Or the Present Science of Obtaining Value Received.

BECAUSE

Some one says an article is worth $1.00, and they are disposing of it for 50c does not make the article worth 25c even, and in many of such instances the above is the case. As a fair illustration, the following was clipped from Puck:

Clerk:

Why don't we have a sale on these lovely things?

Merchant:

It is unnecessary to spend money advertising those goods, they sell themselves. But on these the only way we can realize a profit, is to have a "Great Sale!"

Those who exchange their money cautiously, soon learn that where the least is said, they find the most to be had.

A poor play needs the more advertising, and the same rule holds good with merchandise.

BISHOP BARKER

St. Paul's Church Was This Morning the Scene of the Consecration of Rev. W. M. Barker as Bishop.

The Ceremony of Consecration Performed by Bishop Morris, of Oregon, Assisted by Many Clergymen.

The Visiting Bishops and Clergy to be Entertained at the Kitchi Gammi Club Tonight.

Rev. William Morris Barker, D. D., is now missionary bishop of Colorado. The consecration service was held at 11 o'clock this morning in St. Paul's Episcopal church in this city, of which he has been the beloved rector for the past four years. The ceremony was in accordance with the ritual of the church prescribed for such occasions and was grand and impressive. Being the most important event that has ever taken place in the religious history of Duluth, general interest was manifested in the service.

The church was filled to its utmost capacity but there was no undue crowding, as admission up to almost the hour of beginning the service was by card, and only enough cards were issued to comfortably fill the church, and as this was known the gathering at the main entrance of those unprovided with the necessary passports was limited.

The scene which was presented by the large and interested congregation and the bishops and clergy in their robes of office was one that will long be remembered. When the procession entered the church, the vested choir preceded the congregation, and singing a processional hymn, the congregation arose and joined in the familiar music. Near the end of the procession was the bishop-elect, who marched before his presbyters with steady step towards the chancel, where he had so often officiated as rector and where he was now to be elevated to the dignity and responsibilities of the episcopate.

The floral decorations were most beautiful and costly. The church was strewn with many southern moss and some of the green that were pleasing features of Christmas time. The choir secured from Anderson the most beautiful and costly of ferns, 200 carnations and 100 tulips with which to decorate the chancel. The larger part of the plants and flowers from the conservatory of Mrs. C. H. Graves were loaned by that lady and beautified many a nook and niche. Mrs. Wallbank supplied two golden vases, which she presented to the church some time since, with a profusion of lilies. They were obtained at a great cost and were placed at the altar.

Dr. Barker's Masonic lodge presented him with a handsome cross of roses. The center of this floral ornament was composed of flowers of a deep red color, which set off the delicate white roses on the outside. It was placed on the side of the arch above and at the right of the organ.

The choir and clergy and bishops present assembled in the Sunday school room below the church and were shrouded in procession by the Rev. C. A. Poole, assistant professor of divinity of Seabury Divinity school, Fairbault, who acted as master of ceremonies, assisted by the Rev. Stewart B. Pervis, of St. Paul, and the Rev. H. J. Sheridan, of Duluth. Promptly at 11 o'clock the south front doors of the church were opened and the procession entered the church led by the new bishop-elect, St. Paul's, singing hymn 202, "The Church's One Foundation."

The choir went directly to their stalls in the chancel, and when the clergy reached the choir steps they opened rank to allow the bishop-elect, with his attending presbyters, together with the bishops, to pass through. The Introit from the Forty-third Psalm was sung by Hays, and then the order of holy communion proceeded as usual with special collect, epistle and gospel.

The celebrant was the bishop of Oregon, the epistolar bishop of Chicago. After the gospel the Nicene creed was read, after which came hymn 187, "For Rest, a memorial of the feast of the conversion of St. Paul." The sermon was by the Rt. Rev. W. M. Barker, D. D., assistant bishop of Minnesota.

The bishop chose as his text, Deut. 33rd chap. 23rd verse: "O Naphthali, satisfied with favor, and full with the blessing of the Lord, possess thou the West and the South." The consecration of a missionary bishop, he said, is always a significant step in the onward movement of the Master's kingdom. It is a declaration of the policy of the church that not only does she pray for the coming of the kingdom but labors definitely for that end. She translates faith into action; she enters into the world, not by love of men into work for men; devotion to Christ, subjectively into devotion of man to his service. The church in the appointment of missionary bishops follows along the line marked out by the Saviour and also by the apostles. They go to their respective fields of labor, as Titus went to Crete, with power to complete the organization of the church and to supply it with laborers. They present the church entire. In the language of one of the early fathers, "the church is in the bishop, its power is in his hands; its interests are in his heart; he is its chief missionary."

The church holds to the necessity of the episcopate because it has always been held in the church, and because she thinks it the true solution of the tendency of sectarianism of the present day. To bring about unity there must be a return to the primitive and historic method. The bishop in himself has all the powers of the ministry combined, the powers of the episcopate, the powers of the presbyterate and the powers of the diaconate. Our church has gone out into the whole world and placed bishops over every portion of the field. This she is doing ever more and more increasingly. The more bishops the more satisfactory and greater results.

Let the bishops have unfettered powers. Let his hands be upheld by the loyalty of clergy and laity. Give him the power of sending men to the fields to which they are best suited and the development will be rapid. The church also has another blessing in the priceless possession of her book of common prayer. This she is determined to use more and more in the work of the up-building of the kingdom.

The bishop addressed Mr. Barker, the bishop-elect, as follows: "My Brother, as one of her selected leaders, the church bids you go forth and do your part in this great work of proclaiming the Kingdom. She bids you go strengthened and upheld by the highest authority and empowered with the strongest credentials and supplied with the best equipment any citizen of this world can have. Satisfied with the favor and blessing of the Lord, possess thou the West and the South."

"Humbled I know you are today with the sense of your own personal unworthiness, for who is sufficient for these things, yet remember that the Eternal God is your refuge and under-neath are the everlasting arms. Look upward. The mountains in that far Western land which is henceforth to be your home, whose peaks lift themselves upward into heaven's blue dome will speak to you in highest symbolism of the lofty purposes of your life and fill your soul with high resolves. In mighty solitude of those valleys through which your feet will often wander you will get very near to God. Not seldom will you hear his still small voice, as did Elijah amid the fastnesses of Horeb, and like the prophet you will go on and down your appointed mission the more cheerfully and bravely."

"Never forget that it is the Master's work you are doing, not your own. Never forget that the high glory of his life was seen when he went out and among those whom he loved as one that served. That part of your life which has in it the fullest emptying of self will be the part which is most like Christ's. It is indeed an honor to be a bishop in the church of God but let that take care of itself. In faithful service in constant duty doing in loving ministrations will you most show forth its honor and dignity. It is a dangerously fascinating life into which you will be thrown. The awful absorption of energy in the search for gold, the wild recklessness of the miner, the almost too real exhibition of the true character of fellow-men, the utter forgetfulness among so many of the household law of God, the frank, open-hearted cordiality of some, the clear-cut, oftentimes cultured mind and tender hearts of men rough in exterior, these are things which while they lend picturesqueness and a certain attractiveness to the life, at the same time make the development of the spiritual side most arduous."

"You can only win them by love. That will touch where all else fails. Some day, perhaps it will be you go over the divide into the valley of paradise, those meads and valleys will team with multitudes of men. Keep ever that great fact in view and work for that future. Plan wisely; lay plans; send missionaries; meet the incoming thousands with the church's open door. Let men see that our loved church is not the last to lay her hands upon the opportunities ever opening. This is your work; this is your mission. Be not impatient of results. Do your duty day by day as the Holy Spirit gives you to do that duty and then leave the results with God."

After the sermon the anthem "O Pray for the Peace of Jerusalem" was sung during which Rev. Mr. Barker removed his surplice and stole, the distinctive mark of the priesthood, and assisted by his attending presbyters, was vested with the rochet and part of the episcopal habit. In the meantime, seats for the visiting bishops and clergy were placed in the choir, and the bishop-elect was then presented to the bishop of Oregon, the presiding bishop, by the assistant bishop of Minnesota, the Rev. H. J. Sheridan, according to the form prescribed in the prayer book.

The presiding bishop then demanded the testimonial of the bishop-elect, which was produced and read. First came the certificate of election by the house of deputies of the late general convention of the Episcopal church, certifying to the regularity and due formality of Mr. Barker's election as missionary bishop of Western Colorado. This certificate was read by Archdeacon Appleby.

Bishop Nicholson, of Milwaukee, then read the certificate of the secretary of the house of bishops, showing that this body had duly consented according to canonical law to his consecration. Bishop Gilbert then read the commission from the presiding bishop of the church, Dr. Williams, of Connecticut, authorizing the bishop of Oregon, the bishop of Colorado, and the bishop of Chicago to consecrate Mr. Barker as a missionary bishop, associating with themselves such other bishops as might seem to them convenient.

The oath of conformity to the doctrine, discipline and worship of the church was then made, and according to custom the presiding bishop commended the bishop-elect to the prayers of the congregation. The litany was sung by the bishop of Milwaukee, and then the presiding bishop seated in his stall before the altar, with the other bishops grouped on either side, examined the bishop-elect according to the usual form. This was one of the most impressive parts of the service.

Then without announcement the anthem "How Dear Are Thy Counsels," was sung, during which the bishop-elect was vested with the rest of the episcopal habit. Then, kneeling before the presiding bishop, the words of the "Veni Creator" were said by the presiding bishop and the congregation alternately. Then came the delivery of the Bible to the new bishop, accompanied with the words ordered by the church to be used at such time. The prayer book used on this occasion by the presiding bishop was a beautiful presentation copy of the new standard prayer book formally adopted at the last general convention, which had been sent to Mr. Barker by the committee on liturgical revision of the general convention.

This brought to an end the consecration service proper and the communion service was then solemnized. At the offertory, Bishop Gilbert made an earnest plea for a generous offering to be given to the new bishop for his work in Western Colorado. The anthem at the offertory was written by Mr. Gustance, the organist of St. Paul's church, for this occasion and was thoroughly in keeping with the solemnity of the service.

Then followed in the usual order the prayer for Christ's church militant, the "Comfortable Words," the "Sursum Corda," the "Sanctus," and the benediction prayer the hymn "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," was sung by the choir kneeling. The celebrant, after communicating himself, administered the holy communion to the bishops and clergy present, assisted by the bishop of Colorado and bishop of Chicago. Then followed the "Gloria in Excelsis" sung to Gregorian tones, the blessing by the presiding bishop, the "Nunc Dimittis" sung by the choir kneeling, and then the benediction. The choir then sang the beautiful hymn "Through the Night of Doubt and Horror."

While in the room before the church the bishops, still vested, signed the testimonials or letters of order of the new bishop, each bishop signing his name in his order of seniority and affixing his episcopal seal. Rev. G. H. Davis, of Brainerd, had been appointed deputy registrar of the church for this purpose.

The robes worn by Mr. Barker were partly from one set of vestments given by the ladies of the parish and partly from an exact duplicate set given by a former parishioner, now residing in Philadelphia. It is said that no bishop has ever had vestments more beautiful than these. The silk cassock, girdle, rochet and chimere are most beautiful specimens of modern ecclesiastical work.

It is rather a matter of interest that Mr. Barker's first parish, that of St. Paul's church in Washington, was celebrating a high festival service at the same time that his Duluth parish was assembled to witness his consecration. The debt on the church in Washington was lifted at the same time in the morning.

Mr. Barker had just received the gift of a silver service for his work in Colorado from the vestry and parishioners of his Washington parish. This communion service was used here in Duluth this morning at the service. The attending presbyters, intimate friends of the new bishop, were the Rev. John H. White, warden of St. Mary's university school, Fairbault, and the Rev. Howard S. Clapp, rector of the Church of the Advent in Philadelphia. The following clergymen were present:

WONDERFUL WHEELING

How the Bicycle Has Beaten the Trotter in the Great Contest to Cut Down Time.

The Remarkable Globe Riders Who Have Traveled Around the World on Their Swift Wheels.

Cyclists Who Performed the Feat of Riding Four Thousand Miles Through Turkey, Persia and China.

Judging from many recent occurrences, the possibilities of the bicycle's development are truly wonderful and rival even the more astounding possibilities of electricity. The bicycle of today is an invention of very recent years, but in the time that it has been in use it has developed into a vehicle of extraordinary speed and everyday usefulness. At the opening of 1892 horsemen and cyclists were wondering if the bicyclist, then over seven decades behind the trotting horse, would ever cover a mile in faster time.

THOMAS G. ALLEN.

At the close of 1892 the wheel, represented by the wonderful mile in 30.25, made by John S. Johnson on a kite shaped track, is over seven seconds faster than Nancy Hanks, 294, queen of the turf, despite the fact that, to make her assaults on the world's trotting record successful, Nancy was compelled to fit her sulky with the pneumatic tires of the bicycle.

The steel steed not only made this great conquest, but it also succeeded in leading the trotter at all distances from a quarter of a mile to five miles on a regulation circular track.

Last year, too, the bicycle proved itself superior to the horse as a long distance racer in the great Chicago-New York relay bicycle race. This long ride further showed that the bicycle would be of great value to troops in wartime for scouts and signal corps and for transporting bodies of troops. England, France, Italy and Germany have all made satisfactory tests of the practicality of the wheel for use in campaigns and national guardsmen in Connecticut and Illinois have demonstrated to their own satisfaction that the bicycle is a useful for patrol duty in the suburbs of the world's fair city especially.

Another interesting possibility is the use of the wheel by letter carriers. Postmaster General Wanamaker has already suggested that the machine be given a trial.

Globe grinding on the bicycle has also received a great impetus of late. The pioneer in this branch of bicycle development was Thomas Stevens, of Turners, Mo., who left San Francisco in April, 1884, crossed North America in 103 days, wheeled through England, France, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Serbia, Bulgaria and Turkey in less than two months, pushed on through Asia to Turkey, was prohibited from entering Siberia, and Afghanistan, abandoned his wheel until he reached Calcutta, rode through India, China and Japan and returned to Frisco in January, 1887. Since then many riders have endeavored to rival the feat of Stevens or to make long but less ambitious journeys. Frank G. Leuz, who, like Stevens, represents Outing Magazine in his tour, is now well on his way around the world. He left New York in June, 1892, on a pneumatic tired safety wheel going west, while Stevens rode a high wheel and went east.

Another interesting possibility is the use of the wheel by letter carriers. Postmaster General Wanamaker has already suggested that the machine be given a trial.

W. L. SACHTELBERG.

One of the most remarkable bicycle tours ever made has been nearly completed by W. L. Sachtelberg, of Alton, Ill., and Thomas G. Allen, of Ferguson, Mo. They left New York by steamer and began their long wheeling jaunt at Liverpool. After touring the British Isles, France, Italy, Greece and part of Turkey the really perilous part of the journey through Asia began.

They were the first bicyclists to ascend Mount Ararat, and astonished the natives by the feat. They then pushed on through Asiatic Turkey, Persia and the lower part of the Russian empire. At Venice, just before entering China, the bold travelers were warned that they could never run the gauntlet of hostile Chinese, who have recently murdered other daring Europeans, and escape alive. They were not afraid, however, and armed with a special passport from the Chinese minister in England they traversed the 4,000 miles from Kooljin to Peking in safety, to the amazement of diplomats. Mobs followed them frenziedly, but only once were they compelled to draw their revolvers.

The young wheelmen have reached San Francisco and must yet cover North America before literally grinding the globe, but their unprecedented feat in crossing Turkey, Persia and China makes their tour the most remarkable of the kind on record.

EARLE H. EATON.
SKATER HAROLD HAGEN.

He Hails from Norway and Claims to Be World's Champion.

With the possible exception of Joseph E. Donoghue, the world famous amateur skater of Newburg, N. Y., Harold Hagen, of Norway, is the most talked of ice king in America today. Hagen has been at Minneapolis for some time, prepared to meet all comers, his backers say, but for some reason Hagen and Donoghue have not succeeded in arranging for a match. Hagen claims to be professional champion of the world. Donoghue is amateur champion of the world and anxious to become a professional if there is enough inducement of money and lovers of skating are all hoping the Norseman and Yankee will come together in a race for professional honors.

HAROLD HAGEN.

Hagen has skated a rank in 2m. 40s. It is said, which is a world's record. Donoghue's time for the same distance is 10 seconds slower. Hagen's record for three miles is 8m. 42s., nearly 20 seconds better than that of Donoghue. The Norwegian has covered five miles in 15m. 11s., while Donoghue is credited with 15m. 30s. 25s. Despite these unfavorable comparisons, however, Donoghue is confident he can defeat the man from Norway. In three races recently Hagen defeated ex-World's Champion Hugh McCormick, of New Brunswick, at the Normann Skating club's rink in Minneapolis.

A Remarkable Violinist.

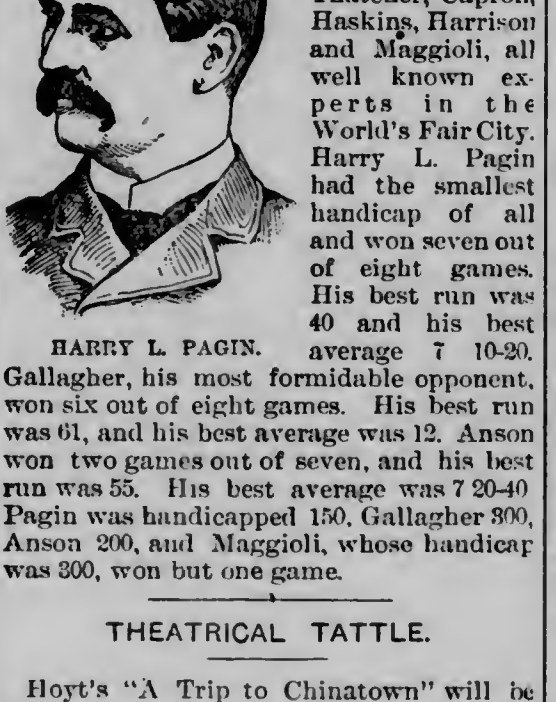

Henri Marteau, who recently made his American debut in New York with Anton Seidl, is a remarkable violinist in more ways than one. In the first place, he is very young. He was born in Reims, France, in 1874.

Marteau was but five years of age when he first played the violin. At the age of ten he played Leonard's concert No. 5 for the violin before a large audience in Reims and was accorded a perfect ovation. Since then he has played with success in all of the European musical centers. Gounod selected Marteau to perform the violin obbligato in the opera of the Jeanne d'Arc centenary in Reims when the boy was only eleven. Marteau took first prize at the Paris conservatory in 1892 before a jury composed of Jules Massenet, Ambrose Thomas, Theodore Du Bois and other eminent masters. Marteau will make a tour of America.

BILLIARD PLAYER PAGIN.

He Was Winner of the Recent Free Turney at Chicago.

The recent billiard match in Chicago was called the lives tournament in honor of that marvellous player, Frank Higgins, champion of the world. It was a hand-picked affair, and among the players who contested were the best of the game.

HARRY L. PAGIN.

Gallagher, his most formidable opponent, won six out of eight games. His best run was 61, and his best average was 12. Anson won two games out of seven, and his best run was 55. His best average was 7.90. Pugin was handicapped 150, Gallagher 800, Anson 200, and Maggioni, whose handicap was 200, won one game.

THEATRICAL TATTLE.

Hoyt's "A Trip to Chinatown" will be played at the New York Madison Square theater for the 45th consecutive time on Friday, Jan. 20.

Fred Leslie left $26,000 to his three children.

Sarah Bernhardt's Russian tour has not been a success.

Mme. Patti will shortly issue a volume of "Reminiscences," the book being edited by Mr. Bentley Kingston.

The Music Hall on Seventh avenue and Fifty-sixth street, New York, is to be extended and a roof garden and tower added at a cost of $500,000.

At Mills, Plaire sang the composition of a well known sportsman in Park recently and her listeners applauded vociferously. Then a bouquet was presented to her, not a nice, badly little thing, which could easily be grasped by a lady's dainty hand, but a nosegay in the shape of a life-sized horse, which, either by means of a figure inside or because it was propelled from behind, advanced onto the stage by itself.

NASAL POLYPI.

How They Are Treated by a Specialist.

There are a great many people suffering from growths in the nose, almost completely obstructing the breathing and forcing them to use the mouth as a respiratory organ and causing a multitude of symptoms, a few of which will be mentioned here. Pain in the head, chest and a general aching; dry parched mouth and throat; imperfect speech; inability to breathe through nose; catarrh of stomach, bronchitis, asthma and a host of others. A person suffering from nasal obstruction will often go through life with this chain of symptoms because he does not know the nature of his trouble, or if he does he stands in his fear of the surgeon's knife that he would prefer to remain a month breathless and suffer the terrible consequences rather than submit to an operation.

Now the operation for the removal of nasal obstructions is not a formidable one when done by a skilled specialist. No one could be more reluctant to enter a physician's office than Mr. John Kusnierck. But now no one could be more jubilant than he is over the skillful, painless and bloodless operation for the removal of polyp performed upon him by Dr. F. C. Drenning. He gladly relates his story so that those suffering as he did may know how simple such operations are in the hands of specialists.

Mr. John Kusnierck, who lives at 2331 West Fifth street, is well and favorably known by old residents of Duluth, having lived here for the last eighteen years and his story cannot fail to be read with interest by his many friends.

"Yes, I was troubled for a long time," said the gentleman, "and was constantly getting worse. My trouble was polyp of the nose and it caused me a great deal of trouble and I had terrible headaches and dizzy fainting spells. The growths would swell up at times so I could not breathe through my nose at all, and I was forced to breathe through my mouth. There was a constant discharge from my nose of a thin watery secretion that caused me to be continually applying my handkerchief. Yes, I was afraid to go to doctors because I thought they would hurt me, but have had my fears allayed by the gentle manner in which I was treated at the Copeland Medical Institute. I consulted a number of doctors about my trouble, but none of them seemed to take any interest in my condition, and finally I called at the Copeland Medical Institute and was told I had nasal polyp which could be removed without causing me any pain or loss of blood. The doctor in charge said I should be well and now I am free from the pains in my head and nasty discharge and can breathe through my nose as I ought."

I can say to those suffering with nasal polyp that the removal of such growths is robbed of its terror by the skillful methods used by the physicians of the Copeland Medical Institute. They didn't give me ether or chloroform. I was conscious all the time, but it didn't hurt in the least, nor was there much blood lost; you may say none at all."

ASTHMA IS IN MANY CASES THE RESULT OF NASAL OR BRONCHIAL OBSTRUCTION. THE BREATHER CAN BE CURED IN EVERY CASE.

Notable Credentials.

The location of the offices of the Copeland Medical Institute in the city of Duluth is permanent and their leases and contracts are for a term of years. Dr. Copeland is a graduate of the Bellevue Hospital Medical College of New York city; was president of his class in that famous institution, and, after thorough hospital training and experience, devoted his entire time and attention to the special lines of practice named below. Passed through a similar course, Dr. Hunt and Dr. Drenning also devote themselves exclusively to the treatment of these specialties. Years of experience in their special lines, preceded by extensive hospital work, have fitted them in a notable degree for the practice of their profession.

In the municipal court this morning,
Judge Powell decided that the public welfare would be better served by suspending sentence in the cases of James Gardner and Peter Schoder, instead of sending them up to the county jail for drunkenness. James Cochlin was drunk too but his case lacked features warranting suspension of sentence, hence the cheerless boarding house with iron barred windows was his lot. Wm. Winson said that he was not guilty of van-grancy, whereupon this afternoon was set as the time for a jury to decide that point.

A DECREE SET ASIDE

Judge Ensign Has Annulled the Proceedings
in the Borgesser Divorce Case Recently on Trial.

He Uses Strong and Eloquent Language While Discussing the Dissolving of the Marriage Tie.

Interesting Action in the Probate Court Regarding a Claim on the Estate of M. B. Harrison.

The decree of divorce and all proceedings in the case of Amanda Borgesser vs. John Borgesser have been set aside by Judge Ensign. The judge uses strong and eloquent language in his reasons for granting the order. He says, in the decision filed today:

"In proceedings for divorce it is not alone the plaintiff and defendant who are interested. The proper regulation and control of the marriage relation is of so much importance to society, the well being of the community is so far involved in the permanence of this relation that the state through its courts exercise a peculiar guardianship over marriage and divorce.

"Society as represented by the state has an interest in maintaining the rules which have been prescribed by the proper authority concerning marriage
and divorce which interest it is the duty of the courts to protect. A divorce is not to be granted simply because the parties are willing it should be nor because the defendant makes default or neglects to assert or waives a defense."

A CLAIM FOR PROFITS.

E. P. Alexander Has a Claim Against the M.
B. Harrison Estate.

During the life time of M. B. Harrison
he made an agreement with and formed the company known as the Old Dominion and Duluth Land company, which subsequently invested $250,000 cash in Duluth before the boom. By the terms of the agreement M. B. Harrison was to receive one-third of the total amount of dividend certificates to be issued. These certificates were not of any value until a sufficient amount of the investments had been resold at a profit, so that the amount of the original investment was reached.

E. P. Alexander assisted Mr. Harrison in securing the properties, and as a reward Mr. Harrison turned over to him
one-third of the certificates he had received. These certificates were to become null and void on the death of Mr. Harrison, but the agreement was that if any profit was made, they were to be payable on demand. Mr. Hanson died and among the claims sent in against the estate was that of Alexander's for the profits on his certificates.

The case came up before Judge Ayer yesterday and the estate demurred paying Alexander's claim because he had not shown any proof of profits or stated the amount of his claim. Judge Ayer held the demurrer to be of no weight and that Alexander's claim was a just and proper one and that it would be held as such until the time when an accounting could be had with the Dominion company and the administrator of the Harrison estate.

Of Interest to Wholesalers.

Collector Johnson is sending out a circular to wholesale merchants in St. Paul, Minneapolis and other parts of delivery inland, in which the following facts are stated: "You are hereby notified that by recent act of congress the privilege of the immediate transportation act of June 10, 1880, is extended to Duluth. That is, commodities direct from foreign countries consigned to ports of delivery inland—for instance, St. Paul and Minneapolis—need not be warehoused and appraised as formerly, but may be sent to destination in sealed cars upon an estimated duty without appraisal. To explain more fully, consignments of liquor, say, from Montreal, were formerly warehoused, gauged, stamped and branded here, causing much and sometimes vexa-tious delays, before same could be bonded for transportation. By this act such,
and all commodities can be entered here
for transportation in bond without the delay incident to such appraisal, upon estimated duties only, hence involving no more than the ordinary delays incident to transshipment."

AS TO TERMINALS.

Report that the Lake Superior Has Gobbled Up
the Duluth.

It is common talk on the streets, says
the Superior Call, that the Lake Superior & Transfer railway of Superior has secured control of the Duluth Terminal & Transfer railway, which has a line between Duluth and West Duluth. Manager Eldred, of the former company,
when asked about the truth of the report, said he knew nothing of such a deal. Such a deal would be consummated at St. Paul, and he might not know anything about it.

It is probable that the report arose from the fact that the Duluth road and the Belt Line railway have been figuring on making a connection. Surveyors are now in the field near South Superior to locate a route for the connection between the two terminals. The officers of the Duluth company deny the report.

Miss Upham's Debut.

were crowded with Duluth's best people

Music and dancing filled out a most delightful evening. Refreshments were

ATTACK ITS CREDIT

A Blow Aimed at the Duluth, Missabe &
Northern Road by Its Most Bitter Enemies.

Injunction Secured to Restrain Transfer of Stock and Indirectly to Injure the Road's Credit.

The Merritts Believe That the Iron Range Road and Minnesota Mining Company Are Responsible.

Judge Nelson's recent order from the United States circuit court restraining the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad, Leondias, Alfred and several other Merritts and a few other people, from disposing of any of the Missabe road stock at figures below par, was received yesterday in the shape of copies of the order, which were served by Deputy United States Marshal Paul Sharvy, or his aides, under the supervision of W. L.
Brown, of Chicago.

As far as the matter of transfer of stock is concerned, the order is like the belated passenger—a little behind time
—and there is a p. a. t. i. c. a. l. y in per time,
as any projected transfers of any large blocks of stock were made about ten days ago, but it would in a degree affect the negotiability value of the securities in other and second hands, and there is where the force of the blow aimed at the development of the Missabe road and the various Merritt mining properties is intended to be felt.

The attack comes in a round about way, so the Merritts believe, from the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, which Minnesota Iron company people who are seeking to retard the expected output of ore and business of the Missabe road for this year at least. The deals are all completed as far as the transfer, from the Merritts and others to New York and other parties, of the affected stocks are concerned and the only reason for delaying the proposed Eastern visit is to pave the way for the present eastern buyers of securities to negotiate (if they want to) any of their holdings.

The dissolution of the order will probably be made by Judge Nelson in St. Paul today and orders of the railroad and mining companies are in the capital city for that purpose.

MADE A COMPROMISE.

One of Wisconsin's Ex-Treasurers Effects a Settlement.

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 25.—Case No. 1,
The State vs. Ex-Treasurer H. B. Har-shaw, to recover the interest on state funds, was finally settled yesterday morning in the Dane county court.

Mr. Harshaw's attorney made a proposition to settle the case, the defendant agreeing to pay the full amount of interest he received on state funds with interest up to date, if the prosecution would waive the claims for excess of interest which might have been received had the state funds been invested in bonds.

This the attorneys for the state agreed to.
Accordingly the parties appeared before Judge Schlecker yesterday and judgment was accepted by the defendant on the terms proposed. The total amount is $65,882 with costs, which will probably be about $200.

GAME AND FISH BILL

Outline of a Measure Proposed by the Commission and Which Wipes Out the Old Law.

It Proposes Another Scheme, to be Uniform With the Game Laws of Adjacent States.

The Subject of a Close Season in November for Lake Superior Whitefish is Considered.

The game bill, drawn up in Minneapolis last December by the fish and game commissioners of five Northwestern states, has at last been submitted to the Minnesota legislature. The bill is drawn as an amendment to the present law in order that its more radical features may not be emphasized. In truth, it wipes out the present law and gives in its place a law that is an entirely new departure in this part of the country in respect to fish and game. The same bill is to be introduced in the legislatures of the states of Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and the Dakota as well as in Minnesota.

There is no question but it provides an adequate protection for game. The only question that will arise in the mind of the sportsman is, does it go too far? Many hunters in the Twin Cities have seen the measure and endorse it. Others object to some of the more radical provisions. The sections which will be most actively fought are the ones prohibiting the use of dogs for hunting, and providing that no more than twenty-five birds or fifty fish shall be taken in a day.

The sections regulating the shipping of game into and out of the state and handling the same and generally commended. The open seasons are changed somewhat, and a set of deputy game wardens is provided for. The dealers will probably object to the section which gives the agents of the commission the right to search for secret game.

The bill will be thoroughly discussed in committee and reported at early day. W. P. Andrews, treasurer of the commission, who is largely responsible for the bill, is clerk of the house game committee, and will be in a position to put in some good strokes for the measure.

This bill provides for an executive agent who, when the board is not in session, may act for it with the authority of the board. It authorizes the establishment of a complete fish breeding establishment and appropriates $25,000. The breeding of fish is to be carried on there. The employment of a superintendent at $2,000 a year is authorized. The board is required to collect, classify and preserve birds and mammals indigenous to the state, and all information with regard to the same. It also provides for the preservation of game, and it shall have power to employ and fix the salaries of game wardens to aid in the enforcement of the law.

The bill grants jurisdiction to these officers over the streams and lakes. A bond of $500 is required of each warden. The property owned or leased by a warden may not be taken between Oct. 31 and July 1 following. Prairie chickens or white breasted or shrike-like grouse may not be taken between Nov. 1 and Sept. 1 following. Quail, partridge, ruffed grouse or pheasant may not be taken between Nov. 1 and Sept. 1 following. The close season for wild ducks, geese, brant, snipe, etc., from Nov. 1 to Sept. 1 following.

Birds lawfully killed may be had in possession for three days after the end of the open season.

Section 6 relates to the breaking up of the nests of wild fowl and birds, and section 7 provides for the same. A misdemeanor for persons to keep birds or fowls to be shot at for sport, game, trial or skill, or for any other purpose. This will confine the marksman to a few blackbirds and targets, and will knock in the head the annual turkey shoots so popular in some parts of the country. No birds are to be taken or killed in any other manner than by shooting them with a gun held to the shoulder, which knock out traps and other devices of the country sportsman. Decoy for hunting ducks, geese and brant are allowed, but all other decoys, contrivances, artificial lights, etc., are prohibited under heavy penalty in search after all game.

It shall not be lawful to kill or have in possession at any time any fawn, or any elk, moose, caribou or antelope before January 1, 1898. Deer and rabbits shall not be had in possession at any time between Nov. 30 and the 1st of November following. This is for the purpose of forestalling hunters who go out after rabbits and come back with deer.

It shall be unlawful to hunt at any time with dogs, under penalty of a fine of from $50 to $100 and sixty to ninety days in jail. It shall be lawful for any person to kill any dog that is being used in hunting game. Minks, muskrats, otters or beavers are protected from May 1 to Nov. 1 following, unless they are found despoiling private property, and are killed at the time of the finding. Section 14 provides for the protection of fields of grain from the trespass of hunters. Section 15 relates to fish and protects all trout from Sept. 1 to May 1 following, and all food fish from Dec. 1 to May 1 following. Fish are to be taken only with hook and line, save that a 1/2-inch seine may be used for whitefish in Lake Superior. Seines may be used for catching minnows for bait. It shall be a misdemeanor for any person to catch fish within 400 feet of any fishway. The use of drugs, poisons, fish berries, explosives in taking fish is prohibited. Whitefish, walleye pike, trout or bass less than three inches long, shall not be caught at any time; and if caught shall at once be returned to the water.

The killing of more than twenty-five birds or the catching of more than fifty fish by any one person in any one day shall constitute a wanton destruction of birds and fish and be a misdemeanor. No person shall at any time take game or fish in this state to ship them to other states, save whitefish, lake trout and lake herring caught in Lake Superior. No person in this state shall have in his possession fish or game caught in violation of the law in other states.

In the annual report of the game and fish commission, which has just been published, President Sweeney gives an account of the international fisheries conference held at Detroit, Mich., last December, when there was a lengthy discussion of the question, "Shall there be a close season for whitefish?" Samuel Wilnot, the veteran pioneer fish culturist of Canada, urged that the states bordering upon the great lakes should establish a close season in November to coincide with that maintained in Canada. There was also considerable discussion on the size of the mesh of the pound net pots. Dr. Sweeney says: "The result of this discussion was convincing to the listeners, that both kinds of nets, as now constructed and handled, were sufficient explanation of the rapidly decreasing supply of our fresh water fisheries. It was also made further apparent that if anything can be done to save the fish from extinction, the natural process of propagation must be protected by a close season, when the white fish and lake trout are spawning, and this progeny or fry and immature fish must be exempted from reckless and wanton destruction."

"We must now face the fact; there must be some modification soon; very soon, of the size and construction of meshes used in all the principal kinds of nets so largely employed in the fisheries, whether seine, gill or pound nets. We are Canadian neighbors, wiser than we in this matter, have already a close season established for whitefish and lake trout, the beneficial results of which are shown very plainly in Minnesota north shore, and Isle Royale Michigan fisheries. Where formerly, along the Minnesota coast, the fishing was very good and remunerative, exhaustive and destructive methods have so reduced the catches that for some years the grounds have been almost abandoned for the more productive points as near the Canadian boundary as possible."

"If this supposition of fishing, so apparent the moment the vicinity of Canadian waters is approached, is not due to the close season, and protection afforded while spawning, during November, by the Canadian laws, the reason is not easily perceived. But this is so plainly apparent that many of our Minnesota fishermen themselves, say ought to have the same law, which they would willingly observe and respect, but as long as we have not, they will continue to use their nets as long as they can get a catch. That a close season protecting the fish while spawning is right, proper and beneficial in every way, is unquestionable and worthy all attention received."

The report quotes from The Herald some statistics showing the extent of the fisheries of Lake Superior.

CITY POLITICS WARMING UP.
A Lively Caucus Held by the Fifth Ward Republicans.

Down in the Fifth ward last night at Svea hall, the gynecastic pugilism of the circumambient air, the hipponastimus roared and as soon as the votes are counted the whangdoodle will be mourning for her young.

The supporters of Alderman Cox met in a bloody caucus opposed by the supporters of the other candidates. The supporters of the other candidates were "Peterson, Frank Peterson." The building was packed, and so was the caucus and Svea hall groined in union with the shrieks of the American eagle. The goddess of elections failed to hover over the scene with her protecting wing and searching glance, hence the contest was fought on its own merits.

As soon as the organization was effected, A. C. Hammond, A. Sordling and Geo. McAdams were chosen judges. They tried open the ballot box and invited all to step up and vote in their own snowball. The crowd was too closely packed to accept that invitation, so it was decided to register the name and address of each voter. It was soon evident that life was too short to enable that scheme to be carried out, and bloody strife seemed near at hand.

After both factions got highly excited Alderman Nelson stepped in as a peacemaker and shook his little olive branch over the patriots. Both Cox and Peterson declared the caucus a draw and agreed that each man run independent and settle the question of supremacy at the polls. The Cox supporters withdrew and the lights were turned off.

Afterwards the Peterson faction turned them up and nominated their man, the chairman, it is said, being a Democrat. The Peterson men maintain that the caucus was fair, that only residents of the ward voted and that the Cox men bolted because they saw they were beaten.

The Democrats of the Fifth ward met and nominated G. A. Gunderson. Hence the ballots will probably show the names of A. M. Cox, Frank Peterson and G. A. Gunderson.

In the Fourth ward Republican caucus, held at Williams' plumbing store, 215 West Michigan street, the vote stood: F. H. Quinby, 39; Philip Westaway, 66; Johnson, 51; J. A. Crawford, 2. James Johnson acted as chairman and James A. Crawford as secretary. Quinby states that he will run as an independent candidate. E. R. Jefferson is also likely to take the field.

In the Sixth ward in the Republican caucus there was no opposition to N. O. Oie. It is thought that the Democrats will nominate John Dunphy. Alderman Kennedy has already announced his intention of running as an independent candidate and has filed his papers with the city clerk.

George Dinwoodie has filed a certificate of nomination for alderman of the Third ward. William Getty and Alderman N. F. Hugo will also be candidates.

A MINISTER'S DAUGHTER.

Pleasant Part of Rev. Mr. Higgins' Duty.

Beloved Pastor of a Congregational Church.

Charles A. Wurr, One of the Best Known Men of New Haven.

Rev. Dr. L. H. Higgins is the beloved pastor of the Congregational church at Hanover, Conn.

He and his family are among the most respected people in New London county, and his daughter is one of the many accomplished young women in the town where her father preaches. He is one of the most earnest and straightforward of the many brilliant pastors in the denomination that includes such a large number of Vale's best graduates in that state, and his good judgment is shown in temporal as well as religious matters, and when in September last he came out with the frank and flatfooted statement that follows, there was no doubt in the minds of those who were sick in Enfield what course to pursue. Said Mr. Higgins:

"I regard it as a pleasant part of my pastoral duty to recommend to my people a remedy wherever there are physical needs. My wife and my daughter, in fact there are four of us, have been using Paine's compound for several weeks with beneficial results. General prostration, the result of grip and la grip, seem to have been the cause of weakness. My daughter has taken the compound for malarial troubles and general prostration with very satisfactory results. We can't keep her home without it."

It is such words as these from thousands of grateful people that more than anything else have spread the fame of the great remedy first prescribed by Dr. J. C. Paine's noble professor, Dr. Phelps—a remedy that makes well those who suffer from the various ills that result from impaired nervous and impure blood.

Charles A. Wurr is one of the best known young men of New Haven, where he holds a responsible position with B. Shoninger & Co., the organ and piano manufacturers. As a result of overwork, Mr. Wurr's health gave out, and, to use his own words, his "blood became impure and erysipelas broke out, and I consulted a good physician in this city, who prescribed me a certain salve, but this drove the poison back into my blood about six times."

It then thought that it was time to be a doctor myself, and I began by using Paine's celery compound. Before I had used it up I felt a change for the better. I took it just at the time that my face was in a fearful condition and felt better thirty-six hours after using the same, and in a few days' time I was as well as ever."

TRAVELERS ORGANIZING.
A Council of Their Secret Order to be Started in Duluth.

The commercial travelers of Duluth are making arrangements for the organization here of a Council of United Commercial Travelers, and expect to start out with a membership of about fifty.

A meeting for preliminary organization has been called by the committee, S. de la Vergne, F. H. Sigrist and A. L. Belliveau, to be held in the Spalding parlors next Saturday evening. At this meeting arrangements for the formal installation and initiation ceremonies will be perfected and officers will be chosen, therefore the traveling men are anxious for a large attendance. M. de la Vergne, one of the committee, claims to be the oldest traveling man in America, having been on the road for the past fifty-two years.

A Bridge to Superior.

The Superior chamber of commerce yesterday discussed the question of a bridge between Duluth and Superior. The sentiment was against a bridge to be owned by private parties. A resolution in favor of a bridge between Rice's point and Connor's point to be controlled by the two cities was passed. The chamber could not agree on whether it should be a high or draw bridge and the matter was left open until the next meeting.

De Coursey's New Job.
George F. De Coursey, formerly one of the city detectives, has become connected with the secret service department of several railroads doing business at the head of the lake. He will be in charge of both sides of the bay, perhaps in Superior more than Duluth. The change may possibly require him to locate his family in Superior.

The Highland electric cars are running regularly from the head of the incline through the prettiest tract of land at the head of the lakes.

Condition of the Treasury.

The condition of the federal treasury was a matter of some comment during the last presidential campaign, some Democratic papers and speakers asserting that a deficit was probable at the end of the present fiscal year, while Republicans replied with the claim that the treasury was in good condition, although the surplus had been reduced, owing to the revenue from several quarters being cut down and expenditures on needed improvements being increased. When the present session of congress opened Chairman Springer, of the ways and means committee, asked Secretary Foster of the treasury for a statement showing the condition of the treasury and its estimated condition at the end of the next fiscal year. Mr. Springer received it yesterday and its contents are summarized in a dispatch from Washington.

The statement shows that during the first six months of the present fiscal year the receipts from all sources were $234,479,215, and the expenditures $230,571,006, leaving an excess of revenue over ordinary expenditures of $3,848,209. The cash in the treasury including gold reserve, July 1, 1892, was $132,143,426, and on Dec. 31, 1892, $129,092,589.

The total estimated revenues for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, are $466,671,350 and the total estimated expenditures $464,867,350, leaving an estimated surplus of receipts over expenditures for the current fiscal year of exactly $1,804,000. The estimated cash balance available June 30, 1893, is placed at $120,092,377, which includes $100,000,000 for the gold reserve fund.

For the next fiscal year, ending June 30, 1894, the secretary estimates that the revenues from all sources will amount to $490,121,365 and the estimated expenditures, which, however, do not appear to include miscellaneous and extraordinary expenditures, at $487,561,335, or an estimated surplus of $2,560,030. To this the secretary adds the $20,092,377 cash balance above the gold reserve, estimated to be available June 30, 1893, making an estimated available balance on June 30, 1894, of $53,852,407, from which must be deducted $5,000,000 for redemption of past due bonds, fractional currency and national bank notes, and $1,000,000 for probable payments on mail subsidiary contracts, leaving the balance $47,852,407.

There are contract liabilities of about the amount of this balance, and it is estimated that $10,000,000 in contracts will be payable in 1894, which would bring the real working balance down to $37,852,407. The expenditures on account of pensions estimated in this statement for the next year amount to $166,831,350, or an increase over the amount which it is estimated will be spent for pensions this fiscal year of only $5,496,350.

In a separate statement showing the contract liabilities existing Dec. 31, 1892, it is stated that the liabilities on contracts on existing appropriations is $65,479,933, of which it is expected that $25,479,358 will be expended in the fiscal year 1893, and $40,297,037 in the fiscal year 1894. The secretary's statement for 1894 shows that the $40,297,038 contract liabilities is to be deducted from the $47,852,407 of balance above gold reserve, estimated as available cash, but it does not show clearly whether the $25,479,358 of contracts to be paid in 1893 has, or has not, been deducted in the estimate (above the gold reserve fund) of $20,092,377 as the estimated cash balance available June 30, 1893, though it is presumed it was deducted in figuring the balance. Very little is allowed to the sinking fund in these estimates and a supplemental statement places the estimated balance due to the fund June 30, 1894, at $95,991,687.

In another column will be found a digest of the bill presented to the legislature by the game and fish commission which makes some radical changes in the existing law, which are based upon the investigations of the commission during the past two years. There is no doubt that the protection of our fish and game should be more stringent, and as this bill aims in that direction it should be passed. It should establish a close season for whitefish in Lake Superior, otherwise these valuable fisheries will soon be ruined.

Those Grain Rates.

The Soo has complied with the recent decision of the interstate commerce commission affecting grain rates to Minneapolis and Duluth, and it is the only road that has issued a new schedule. This went into effect yesterday, and by it grain rates are reduced to Minneapolis from 3/4 to 4 cents per 100 pounds. The Minneapolis Journal believes that as the Soo road has an important entrance into the Northwest, it will very likely compel similar action by the other roads, either by a reduction of the rate to Minneapolis, leaving the Duluth rate as it is, or by putting the reduced Minneapolis rate into effect to Duluth also, thus leaving the situation unchanged.

The reduction made by the Soo is 4 cents at Oakes and the same at stations between Towanda and Kulm, all in North Dakota, and which includes Oakes. There is a 3 1/2 cent cut at Foran in favor of Minneapolis. The cut at Alicia, Perry and Ransom is 3 cents; at Lidgerwood, 2 1/2 cents; at Stiles and Hankinson, 2 cents, and further north, at Carrington, 2 cents. There is no cut from stations in Minnesota until Wendell is reached, just west of Elbow Lake, where a 1 1/2-cent cut is in force.

The roads have until February 15 to comply with the order, and no doubt they will have a conference before that date. It is very likely that the roads will then decide either to disregard the order entirely or to put a new tariff into effect for a time and, having demonstrated its impracticability, cancel it and return to the old order of things. If the order of the commission were carried out it would work a gross injustice to the people of certain North and South Dakota points, by denying them the advantages they have enjoyed from equal rates to Duluth and Minneapolis and taking away the competition of these two markets. Thus the parties most deeply interested in this subject are not Minneapolis and Duluth so much as the farmers and shippers of the Dakotas, who would be subjected by this order to a greater injustice than existed in the case of Minneapolis if all the allegations made to the commission by that city were accepted as true.

Some of the effects of this unjust order and which must result in the roads very soon repudiating any rates established under it were cited in a recent interview at Washington by S. A. Thompson, of this city, and are worthy of note at this time. Moorhead, on the western edge of Minnesota, can continue to do business with both markets at the same rate, because Moorhead, Minneapolis and Duluth are all in the same state. Fargo, just across the Red river, a few hundred feet away, is compelled to do its business with Minneapolis, because the commission has ordered a higher rate to Duluth than to the City of Mills.

Fargo has the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern roads, with lines running both to Duluth and Minneapolis, and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, with its own line to Minneapolis and connections through to Duluth. Ordinarily it is expected that railway competition will result in lower rates or in the benefit of competing markets. Fargo, however, with its competing roads, is turned over by the interstate commerce commission's decision exclusively to Minneapolis, while Jamestown, a hundred miles further west and with nothing but the Northern Pacific road, is allowed to trade with both Duluth and Minneapolis.

The decision also ordered that "from and including Fargo, Casselton and Fremont and points north of them, the rate should be 1 cent per hundred less to Minneapolis than to Duluth." One of the effects of that portion of the order is to carry the great injustice which compels the Northern Pacific road to charge its patrons in Dakota more for hauling their freight to and from Duluth than to and from Minneapolis, although the distance is exactly the same in each case north of its main line through Grand Forks and clear to the international boundary. If the order were to be enforced the practical result would be to compel the Great Northern road to go out of the Duluth business and the Eastern Railway of Minnesota would probably be for sale cheap. But does anyone suppose that the Great Northern will comply with such an unjust order, which is diametrically opposed to the recent decision of Judge Brewer? This noted jurist held that two roads working together in a traffic arrangement and making a joint rate for through business constitute a line within the meaning of the interstate commerce law, and can make a through rate, as is done in the case under consideration, without reference to local rates on the roads composing the through line. It is difficult to see how the order of the commission is going to stand in the face of this decision.

It does not require much effort to start a fresh quarrel between the Parnellites and anti-Parnellites. Now both sections of the Irish party are torn up over the assertion of Matthew Kenny that Pierce

Mahony's mother was "a cross bred Hindoo." Kenny has one eye decorated in mourning in Mahony's most artistic style, and Mahony is tracing his ancestry back to King Brian Boru to show that no Hindoo blood flow in his veins.

The Superior chamber of commerce has resolved that a bridge between Connor's Point and Rice's Point is desirable. It declared, however, against the bridge being controlled by private parties, and insisted that the cities of Duluth and Superior should build it. As neither city has power to do this, the chamber's action is tantamount to opposition to a bridge. A free bridge owned by the two cities would be very desirable but decidedly expensive. The great Brooklyn bridge, for instance, is a toll bridge, but New Yorkers do not kick.

Italy and Brazil may possibly have a little war of their own, according to latest reports. Some time ago Italy demanded satisfaction for injuries inflicted on Italian Presidents in Brazil. The government of the latter country has neglected to satisfy Italy, and has sent an ultimatum that force will be used if the demands are not granted.

The Kansas legislature, or rather one of its legislatures, elected a United States senator yesterday. The other legislature will do likewise, and then the dispute will be transferred to the senate when duplicate credentials are presented.

The Democratic members of the house committee on appropriations have recommended several radical changes in the pension law of 1890. There is no doubt that many undeserving people are now receiving pensions and something should be done to purge the lists.

A CHANCE FOR DIAMONDS.

Is always worth snapping at. Diamond cuts diamond, they say; that may be, but it's certain though, that diamonds can't be cut in value, even if they are cut for setting. The sun sets every night, but all the time we are setting before our patrons a display of sparklers which the queen of belles might be proud to possess. Whether you're proud or not you can possess some of our diamonds. It doesn't cost a fortune to buy them, although it is a piece of good fortune to get them. Beauty without jewelry is like the sun in eclipse, and in jewelry, diamonds are always trumps. We are selling, etc.

A WOMAN WHO FISHES.

She Lives in Connecticut and Makes Considerable Money.

Miss Melinda Watrous is the famous fisher woman of Middlesex county, Conn., and though but thirty years old she has been in the fishing line for fifteen years and has no desire to become a fisher of men. In fact she loves her occupation too well to quit it for married life, and expects to cultivate a small tract while health and strength remain.

In the western part of Middlesex county are many ponds or small lakes, and a good many men have followed the business of catching fish there through the ice for years. One of these men was George Watrous, the father of Melinda. He died six years ago.

When fifteen years old Melinda began to assist her father in his work, and she soon became one of the most expert "gear tenders" on the grounds.

"Gear tender" is a person whose work it is to go from line to line and see that the hooks are properly baited and to take off the fish when caught.

The men doing this work always wear skates. On skates they can go from one part of the fishing ground to another much quicker than they could go on foot.

Melinda was an expert skater, and this accomplishment assisted her in her work very much.

The "gears" are simply rude wooden frames laid across the holes cut in the ice. From them lines go down and hold the books, and when a fish takes the bait a white rag, arranged on the "gear" for the purpose, flutters up so as to attract the attention of the fisher.

Miss Watrous usually runs 150 "gears" at one time, and a day at the work is a long and tiresome one, but she likes it. She is dressed in a semimale costume, as her work requires, but is very womanly in appearance and manners. She lives with an aged aunt, whom she supports, and in summer cultivates an acre plot of strawberry vines. She is a great reader and a warm advocate of woman's rights, and says the day is sure to come in America when woman will enjoy equal rights with man.

Although not a woman of fashion, she knows how to dress correctly, and when she visits New York, which she does twice a year to arrange for the sale of the fish that she catches and to collect pay for them, one would not suspect her vocation from her appearance.

Miss Watrous seldom takes less than 150 pounds of fish in a day, and her catch sometimes reaches 300 pounds, which usually net her seventeen dollars for her day's work. It is a poor person that she doesn't clean up $1,300, and it often reaches $1,500.

"Pepper with Meat."

San Antonio, Tex., presents in its older sections a peculiar illustration of how customs survive long after their causes have ceased. One hundred and sixty-two years ago or thereabouts, some fifteen families of Canary Island Spaniards, with a large number of Tascalan Indians, started the old city. Each race brought its local customs, and from their combination resulted the San Antonio customs of today. There are open air restaurants on the Plaza de Armas as in the Canary isles; cigarettes of tobacco and cornmeal, as among the old Mexican Indians, and queer dishes of Spanish meats and Mexican peppers. At the tables common Mexican girls act as waiters and serve up "chile con carne," "tamales," "enchiladas" and other truly native dishes. Observe that the "chile" is mentioned before "carne," which is very appropriate indeed, for to an American taste there is much more of it. It was indeed "pepper with meat," and not "meat with pepper," as "carne con chile" would mean.

Thinks He's a Baby.

Apparently there is no end to the vagaries of monomaniacs. In the Blockley almshouse, Philadelphia, is a man once prominent in the city council and weighing 220 pounds, who imagines that he is a baby and enjoys himself sprawling on the floor, playing with a pillow and the like. Some visitors were recently passing through the wards, when the "big baby" began to cry bitterly. "What's the matter?" one of them asked in alarm. "Boo-hoo!" cried the 220-pound baby; "I ought to be ashamed of myself. All you big men standing there and letting a little baby like me lie on the floor. Boo-hoo!"

The Canines in Luck.

The latest thing opened is a hospital for dogs in connection with the University of Pennsylvania, the only institution of this kind in the country. There are similar institutions in Berlin, Paris and London, but none of these is said to be as finely appointed or as large as the university's building.

The building stands in the grounds of the veterinary department, is 65 by 50 feet in extent, two stories high in addition to the basement and very solidly built of Roman hydraulic press face brick with Lake Superior red stone trimmings.

It has all the rooms of an ordinary hospital, for clinics and operating, baths, medication and cooking. The dogs will be in separate cages on wheels, and fifty or sixty can be kept under treatment at one time. It is expected that students will learn a great deal in comparative anatomy by this sort of thing, and not a few wealthy people are willing to pay well for having their favorite dogs scientifically treated.

THE RIGHT KIND.

A Gem of an Office Boy Who Knew What to Do.

He was an office boy worthy of a place among heroes, albeit his lot was cast in the newspaper office of a western town, where enduring fame is crowded to the wall.

He occupied a place at the foot of the editorial stairs, and it was his duty to give warning to the editor when an irate visitor came with a gun to correct an item appearing in the paper.

With a polite bow and a gracious smile he was wont to inform the visitor that he would go and see if the editor was in, and then if the editor concluded, from the boy's description of the caller, that it was safe to see him, he was in; otherwise he crawled into a fireproof safe in a back room and waited until the danger was past.

One day a man came who was particularly ugly. He was a lawyer politician in the neighboring town, and the editor had not filtered the language he used in describing his moral turpitude.

"I want to see the editor," he growled as he started up stairs.

"I'll see if he is in, sir," smiled the boy, innocently getting in his way.

"Well, I guess not," exclaimed the visitor, grabbing him by the coat collar, "I've heard how the chump has a way of turning people down when he doesn't want to see them, and I won't have it. You stay right where you are, and I'll attend to this business myself." And he slapped the boy down hard in a rickety chair.

The boy gasped, but he didn't lose his wits.

"That's all right, mister," he said, showing a pad of paper and a pencil at the man, "but before you go up them stairs won't you please write out an ante-mortem statement for use at the coroner's inquest?"

The man stopped a moment in his headlong career.

"It's a favor to me, sir," pleaded the boy, "for the coroner gives me a dollar apiece for 'em, and the five or six a week I get barely supports my poor sick mother and me," and he wiped his eyes on his coat sleeve.

The boy's pathetic earnestness affected the visitor visibly.

"Um—er—er—" he hesitated as he started for the door, "on the whole, I guess I'll postpone my visit until this afternoon," and then he disappeared, and the boy drew a long breath and chuckled away down in his honest little heart.—Detroit Free Press.

The Man and the Baby.

Two men, strangers to each other, occupied a seat together in a railway car. Not far in front of them was a mother and her baby, and the latter was being shown off by the former, to the great amusement of all the passengers in the vicinity.

"Smart baby," remarked one of the strangers to the other.

The other nodded.

"Mother evidently thinks there is no other baby like it in the world."

"Seems so."

"But I suppose that is the general feeling among parents."

"Suppose so."

"I know it has always been the case with me. I thought there never was such a child born as my first."

"Yes?"

"And it's been pretty much the same with all the rest, and there have been seven of them."

"Ah!"

"You don't seem very demonstrative, but I'll wager a dollar that's just the way you feel about your own baby."

"I think you'd lose it."

"What? Don't you think your own baby is the prettiest, smartest young 'un that ever breathed? Honest, now!"

"No."

"That's mighty funny."

"No, it isn't. I have never been married."—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

That Depends.

A boy one day last week called on a Jefferson avenue merchant concerning a

"I want an office boy," he said in reply, "if I can get the right kind of a one. Do you want a job?"

"Yes, sir," responded the boy, "but before I take it I'd like to know if there is any chance of promotion."

"Well," said the merchant thoughtfully, "that depends on the boy. The last one we had here owned the whole place before he had been with us sixty days."—Detroit Free Press.

Palmer, aided by the admirable completion work of Expert M. F. Kalmbach, a complete resume of the freight business transacted at Duluth by the St. Paul & Duluth railroad during the past year. It has not only been the banner year in the freight handling of the road at this place, but has been so all over the line, and this too, in the face of a more active competition than was ever before experienced. The St. Paul & Duluth, or more properly speaking, the Lake Superior & Mississippi railroad, was the first line to wake the echoes along the shore of Lake Superior with the welcome scream of its locomotives' whistles and through its various progressive changes of management and title it has always held a warm place in the hearts of heavy freight shippers as the old reliable "Pioneer" route. The Northern Pacific came in some years afterward and when that great line spanned the continent from lake to ocean it commenced to pile up an annual tonnage exhibit which for a number of years was the largest at the head of the lakes, but last year Duluth's first railroad came to the front with decidedly the heaviest handling.

In 1891 the road received 641,218,400 pounds of freight and forwarded 637,849,700 pounds, or a total of 1,279,068,100 pounds. Last year, 1892, the road received 1,022,135,600 pounds, and forwarded 757,150,000 pounds, or a total handling of 1,779,285,600 pounds—an increase in the receipts of 380,867,200 pounds, and in the shipments of 129,300 pounds, or a total increase in forwarding and received freight of 510,167,200 pounds.

Taken Suddenly Ill.
Hulet C. Merritt, of L. J. Merritt & Son, was taken suddenly ill with an attack of what is known as smoker's heart yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock. He fainted away and was unconscious for some time. Medical aid was summoned and the doctor gave the young man two imperative alternatives to choose from—to stop smoking and live, or to continue smoking and die within a year. He will "wear off."

Fail to do Their Duty.

Everybody has at times failed to do their duty towards themselves. Hundreds of lady readers suffer from sick headache, nervousness, sleeplessness and female troubles. Let them follow the example of Mrs. H. Herberich, Stevens Point, Wis., who for five years suffered greatly from nervous prostration, sleeplessness, tried physicians and different medicines without success. But one bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine caused sound sleep every night and she is feeling like a new person. IRON MEN DELIGHTED

The First Run of Mesaba Ore Made at the West Duluth Blast Furnace Was Successful.

Establishes the Fact That Mesaba Ores Can Be Used in Furnaces Without Mixing.

Marriage of P. R. McDonald, the Well Known West Duluth Contractor, to Miss Lottie Carroll.

Mesaba iron men are jubilant this afternoon and with very good cause. The Minnesota blast furnace at West Duluth was "blown in" and the first cast was made at 11:15 today on clear, unmineralized Mesaba ore from the Cincinnati mine, furnished by the Standard Ore company. The result establishes beyond question the fact that Mesaba ores can be used alone in furnaces, and puts to rout the hard ore advocates who have been claiming that the hematites of the Mesaba were too fine and soft and would "pack" in the furnace.

The first run was drawn today and the metal ran freely with a blast pressure of only three pounds, showing beyond question that there was no symptom of packing in the furnace. General Manager Allan Richards, of the blast furnace, is entitled to much credit for his courage in "blowing in" on clear Mesaba ore in the face of the determined statements of many furnace men who advised him that the Mesaba ore would not run alone. The test has been a complete success in every particular and removes the only question in doubt as to the value of the Mesaba ores in general.

There were present at the drawing of the blast President Charles Himrod, of Chicago, of the furnace company, and Messrs. F. A. Bates and H. P. Barbour of the Standard Ore company, who furnished the ore, and a large number of onlookers, and iron experts. The slag runs freely and is very clear. The furnace will be worked on its full capacity right along now.

WEDDING BELLS TODAY.

P. R. McDonald and Miss Lottie Carroll Were Married This Morning.

In the midst of impressive ceremonies, the melodious strains of the wedding march and the presence of a large number of friends and relatives the union in marriage of P. R. McDonald, the well-known contractor, and Miss Lottie Carroll, took place at the cathedral this morning at 8 o'clock.

Bishop McGoldrick performed the nuptial rites, assisted by Father Corbett.

Frank McDonald and Miss Annie McDonald, brother and sister of the groom, held the bride in honor beside the altar.

The bride wore a traveling gown as the couple left directly on an extended wedding trip.

The bride is the daughter of James Carroll, of West Duluth, and has been considered one of the belles of that place.

Of tall and slender figure, graceful appearance and handsome face, nature has placed upon her the indelible stamp of beauty.

Mr. McDonald is so well known as a successful contractor, a young man of agreeable presence and high social characteristics, that a mere mention of his name is sufficient to introduce him to the public.

Coming to West Duluth in its early infancy, with limited means, his characteristic energy and business capacity have laid the foundation of an independent fortune and he is now considered one of the capitalists of the town.

The wedding tour will embrace a trip to Los Angeles, Cal., over the Union Pacific. After a visit at this charming resort, return to the city of St. Louis, where they will be met by Frank and Annie McDonald, and together the party will go to New Orleans to witness the Mardi Gras.

The trip will consume about three months, when Mr. and Mrs. McDonald will be at home to their many friends at the groom's residence in West Duluth.

Workmen Protest.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Please give me space in your valuable columns for a few remarks with reference to the laboring man. I saw by your paper a short time ago where the business men of West Duluth formed a protective association and elected one of its members secretary, whose duty it is to inquire about a laboring man's standing, wherever he comes from. This business man's name is, we believe, one Clark.

Now I have been in West Duluth three years and if this man Clark has ever done any business in West Duluth some of us would have heard of him. We certainly do know of such a man peddling coal or selling it by the bushel.

Now would it not be well for the laboring men to make the first inquiries about those so called business men and find out their standing. We think it an insult to have such characters pose as business men who were never known to give a laboring man a day's work.

Columbia's Champion Chess Player.

Columbia college recently won the intercollegiate chess tournament between players from Columbia, Yale, Harvard and Princeton. The two colleges who carried off honors and the challenge cup were Edward Hynes, a law student in the class of '93, and Edward Libaire, another very bright young student at the New York City college. Hynes was the best known player at the tournament. He comes of a family of strong chess players and has repeatedly won the championship of the Labourers Chess club of the college.

Libaire has played little outside of college circles, but is a most promising young student of the game. The cup is a perpetual trophy and will be played for again.

AT LAFAYETTE'S FUNERAL.

The Last Survivor of the American Who Attended.

A fine looking old man now lives in Washington who, it is said, is the last survivor of the American contingent in the great conference that witnessed the obsequies of the Marquis de Lafayette at Paris. Indeed, for all that is known to the contrary, he may be the sole relic of that vast funeral display in which one feature alone was the presence of 100,000 uniformed soldiers. His name is Francis J. Lippett, and his friends call him "general" because of his military career.

He was born in 1815, and in 1832 went to sea as a F. A. LIPPETT, "schoolmaster"—that is, as a teacher of navigation to those on the sailing vessel who desired to perfect themselves in the mathematical technicalities of a nautical career. Lippett, although but seventeen years old, had just completed a collegiate education, and through family influence got his "billet" on the famous war frigate Constellation. When the Atlantic was crossed he decided to exchange figures for fighting and ineffectually endeavored to secure a commission in the army of one of the then contending factions in Portugal.

He was asked that Lafayette's influence be exerted in his behalf he became acquainted with that distinguished friend of freedom, and so chanced to be one of the mourners at his funeral, which occurred not long after.

The 20th day of May, 1834, will long be memorable in French history. The revolution was not and the people were raging because King Philippe had sent only empty carriages to represent the royal family at the funeral of the idol of the nation. Says the general:

"We could see that this action of the king was causing the wildest excitement among the throngs on the avenues and boulevards, and the long lines of infantry fully armed and equipped, far as the eye could reach, simply manifested the gradually growing hum and hissing from the populace. As appeared as if all the regular troops of the kingdom had been summoned to Paris for the occasion, but our wonder was soon to be satisfied. Exactly two years before, during the funeral of General La Motte, the Paris republicans dashed upon the military escort, seized the coffin as it was borne along and rallied a mob, whose revolution lasted three days only, however, although marked by the severest kind of fighting and bloodshed. Philippe's secret police, it seems, had discovered that another such outbreak was being planned for May 20, while Lafayette's obsequies were in progress, and the unusually large military escort had been provided to nip the proposed revolution in the bud. The foresight of the cabinet succeeded, but there was a great deal of conflict and promiscuous firing before it did."

General Lippett returned to America in 1835 and took up the profession of law after the conclusion of the Mexican war, through which he fought with gallantry and distinction. His career as a jurist was temporarily interrupted by the civil war, and ten years ago he retired from active practice. In 1891 he assisted at entertainments in the French officers who came to the United States for the purpose of taking part in the celebration at Yorktown of Cornwallis' surrender.

Simplicity and Luxury.

The recent announcement that Prince Bismarck suffered financial loss in a disaster at Milwaukee was the first intelligence that had reached the American public at large that he had invested a portion of his fortune in the United States. He has lived frugally and piled up money. It is said of him, and also of the late Count von Moltke, that their Spartan simplicity extended even to the use of iron camp beds for sleeping purposes.

Strongly contrasted with this is the extravagance of an East Indian prince who had a couch made in Paris at enormous expense. It was constructed partly of silver, with large female figures at the corners, each holding a delicate looking fan. The weight of the sleeper's body set certain machinery in motion, which caused the figures to keep the fans gently in motion—an ingenious luxury in a hot climate. By touching a spring a large musical box was made to give forth soft music as a further incentive to slumber. Another bedstead made of silver is said to have been occupied by the German emperor during his visit to the sultan. It had oriental curtains of surprising richness, heavily embroidered with gold.

A SCENE OF VIOLENCE

The Robbery of a Tennessee Man Leads to Inhuman Treatment of a Negro Tramp.

Accused of Stealing the Money, He Denied it, and a Savage Mob Lynched Him.

Almost Beaten Into Unconsciousness, Hanged to a Tree and Shot at, He is Still Living.

MILAN, Tenn., Jan. 26.—The town of Meden was the scene of mob violence Tuesday morning. Saturday night Tom Butler, a country man, came to town and while intoxicated fell asleep on the depot platform. When he awoke $50 was missing from his pocket. A negro tramp, Lewis Newbern, was seen with the money and Tuesday night was taken out by a mob and given fifty lashes with rawhides, but refused to surrender the money, claiming he was innocent.

About midnight Newbern, half clad, crawled to the depot and begged to be admitted. He was hidden in the freight room by the operator. At 2 o'clock a mob of desperate men, composed entirely of the country friends of Butler, filled the platform uttering curses and cries of "Bring out the black thief! Burn him." A demand was made upon the operator, Paul Pearce, to deliver up the negro.

Pearce informed them that he would defend the man with his life, warning them not to attempt violence. Heavy iron rails were found near the track and using them as battering rams, the frail door was burst in. Pearce fired several shots, but was made a prisoner and securely bound to prevent interference. The negro was pulled from his hiding place, but slipped from his captors' hands and grasping a bar of iron fought desperately for his life.

Almost beaten into unconsciousness, he was carried into the bottoms, near the depot, a rope adjusted, and the trembling but defiant negro was swung from a limb. He was let down and again asked to give up the money, but defiant to the last, bitterly cursed the mob and told them to do their worst. Again he was swung up and two bullets fired into his quivering flesh. He was at last cut down and left for dead. The mutilated body lay half submerged in the slush for two hours when Newbern recovered consciousness and crawled to a cabin near the scene, where he remained during the night and is either in hiding among the negroes or has been assisted in flight.

The Idaho Mormons. BOIES CITY, Idaho, Jan. 26.—The house yesterday by a vote of 33 to 2 passed a bill amending the election law so as to relieve the disabilities of members of the Mormon church.

THE END OF A CONSPIRACY. Attempt to Blacken the Character of a Leading Louisiana Republican.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 26.—Yesterday in section A of the criminal district court, Judge J. C. Baumann and Dennis Richards, alias Richard Dennis Richards, colored, were placed on trial for the attempted assassination of Judge Henry Long at Kenner in the parish of Jefferson, in May last.

Several negroes were arrested for complicity in the affair of one of these, Ed Dixon, was subsequently lynched at Kenner under the very tree beneath which Judge Long was shot. After the list of witnesses had been called, Mr. Cunningham rose and stated to the court that he desired to have a nolle prosequi entered in the case of both of the accused.

The nolle prosequi was ordered entered and the prisoners discharged. This ends one of the most damnable conspiracies to blacken the character and put in jeopardy the life of one of the most prominent Republicans in the state ever known in Louisiana.

HELD FOR WIFE MURDER.

Evidence Against a Husband so Strong That He Was Jailed.

DAYTON, O., Jan. 26.—Coroner Clayton, of Miami county, held an inquest at West Charleston yesterday on the body of Mrs. Jefferson Shank, who was mysteriously murdered while asleep at her home last Saturday night. Her husband claimed the atrocious deed was done by robbers, while he and his wife were asleep in the same bed.

A large gathering of country people attended the trial, and evidence was so strong and direct against Jefferson Shank, the murdered woman's husband, that he was sent to jail at Troy charged with murder in the first degree.

PASSED A STRONG PROTEST.

The Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce Against the Anti-Option Bill.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 26.—The chamber of commerce passed a strong protest yesterday against the Washburn-Hatch anti-option bill by a vote of 165 to 9. The resolutions instructed the secretary of the chamber of commerce to forward the most emphatic protest of the chamber against the passage of the bill, and the assertion is made that as the largest primary market in the world, the Minneapolis chamber regards the bill as utterly mischievous, despotic in its provisions, utterly wrong in its principles, unwarranted, illegal and unjustifiable.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 26.—State Agent H. F. Callahan, who was deputed to investigate the Nelson Home and Savings association, whose secretary, Charles Hansen, recently absconded, reported yesterday that there is a deficit of $865.

THE KANSAS LEGISLATURE.

Judge Martin's Election as Senator Was Secured by Illegal Votes.

TOPEKA, Jan. 26.—When the two houses met in joint session at noon yesterday the Republican senators and Senator O'Brien (Democrat) refused to answer to their names. Ninety-one members of the joint session, or eight more than a quorum, answered to their names, but of this number eleven are Populists, who have been seated by the Populist house.

If they are illegally seated there would be no quorum. There will be a legal contest on this point. As the senate roll was called, the twenty-five Populist senators voted for John Martin. The roll of the house was then called and the result of the joint ballot was announced as follows: Martin, 36; Coburn, 4; Hanna, 1; Snyder, 1; Close, 1. President Danies announced that Martin had received a majority of the votes and that he had been duly elected United States senator.

Senator Baker (Rep.) demanded that the Republicans be given a right to vote. The president ruled that the vote having been announced, no further votes could be received. The Populist joint session at once dissolved, and Senator Baker, mounting a chair, offered a resolution setting forth that ten persons who voted in the joint session had no legal right to vote and declaring that no election had been held, and calling upon the lawful members to meet and elect a speaker.

Douglass was promptly elected chairman of the Republican joint session and the resolutions were adopted. The result of the Republican joint session vote was: Aye 77. The chairman announced that there had been no election, and adjournment was taken until today.

HERE'S A PRETTY MESS.

An Anti-Parnellite Casts Slurs on a Parnellite's Ancestry.

DUBLIN, Jan. 26.—Pierce Mahony, formerly Parnellite M. P. for North Meath, is determined to prove that his mother was not a "crossbred Hindoo," as alleged by Matthew J. Kenny, the anti-Parnellite member for Middle Tyone in an address delivered on Sunday, which led to Mahony giving Kenny a black eye yesterday.

Mr. Mahony is therefore publishing the pedigree of his family from the beginning of the last century, in order to show that there is no Hindoo blood in the stock and that therefore his mother could not have been a "cross bred Hindoo."

The public are greatly interested in the question, and Parnellites and anti-Parnellites are as exercised over the matter as they were on the subject of the O'Shea divorce.

Caused by Two Cats.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Fire in the Five A's club (actors club building) on West Twenty-eighth street yesterday caused a great commotion among a number of actors who were sleeping there. The fire which started about 8 o'clock was caused by two lighting casts upsetting an oil lamp in the barber shop in the basement of the club house.

LIVELY FIGHT IN VIEW.

Amendments to the Pension Laws Proposed By the Committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The Democratic members of the house subcommittee on appropriations in framing the annual pension appropriation bill for submission to the full committee have made a vigorous onslaught on the dependent and disability pension act passed by the Republican congress in 1890. They have adopted a number of amendments changing that law. The following are the principal changes made:

That no widow shall receive a pension under the act of 1890 unless married to the soldier prior to 1870; that no person shall receive a pension under the act of 1890, unless disabled in the service from manual labor and in receipt of an income of less than $500 a year, and that no non-resident of the United States shall receive a pension unless he was actually disabled in the service.

Another amendment provides for the appointment of a commission to consider necessary modifications in the pension laws and to report at the next congress. If the amendments get out of the committee a lively fight in the house is certain.

WENT THROUGH THE ICE.

Two Boys Drowned and a Third May Die From Exposure.

MARTIN'S FERRY, O., Jan. 26.—Last evening Samuel and Sidney Smith, aged 14 and 17 years, and Willie Duff, 12 years, were among a party of skaters on the Ohio river. They ventured too near the thin ice and all went down.

Samuel Smith was rescued with great difficulty. Sidney and Willie had been skating arm in arm, and when their bodies were recovered they were found tightly clasped together. Samuel Smith will hardly recover from the exposure and shock.

Fifteen People Killed.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 26.—A passenger train on the railway from Wilna to Minsk yesterday ran into a freight train that had been stopped by a heavy snow bank in front of it. Fifteen persons were killed and thirty seriously injured.

HE LEFT NO WILL.

Bishop Brooks Estate Worth About Three Quarters of a Million.

BOSTON, Jan. 26.—It is stated by members of his family that Bishop Brooks died without making any will. It is estimated that his real estate and personal property cannot fall short of $750,000. A successor to the late Bishop Brooks will be appointed at the Massachusetts diocesan convention which will be held May 3. An impression prevails generally that the bishopric will fall to a Boston divine. Numberless letters and telegrams of condolence have been received from all over the country and from some of the most eminent bishops and canons in England.

ALL THREE MAY DIE.

The Result of a Child Playing With Matches in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Thomas Larkin, his wife and 5-year-old son, Hugh, were severely and perhaps fatally burned at their home, 636 Franklin street, Brooklyn, yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Larkin found the child rolling on the kitchen floor and enveloped in flames. They succeeded in putting the flames out, but not before they themselves were badly burned. All three may die. The child is supposed to have been playing with matches when its clothing caught fire.

THE STORY OF A CRIME

Mrs. Casper Machneck, of East Eighth Street, Charges Her Father With Causing Her Ruin.

Says That He Assaulted Her For Two Years
and Is the Father of Her Child.

The Unnatural Father Is Velanti Tuboli, a Polish Farmer Residing on the Gnesen Road.

Residing in a little house at the rear of
No. 12 East Eighth street is Mrs. Casper Machneck, a woman between 16 and 17 years old, who is to become a mother in a few weeks. She is the wife of a laborer on the coal docks, but the child she is bearing is not his, and thereby hangs a tale of revolting human passion and degradation on the part of a man whose first duty it should have been to protect the honor and virtue of the young girl instead of destroying it. The young woman's child is the result of her own father's criminal course with his daughter. The case was mentioned to county officer some time ago by Humane Officer
Harry Haskins, but that official said it was not worth while looking up.
The Herald believes that such matters are not only "worth looking up" but that it is the bounden duty of the official to hunt out such flagrant violations of law and decency of morals, but in order to leave him as long a period of rest and recuperation at his club as possible. The Herald detailed one of its force to get the facts in the case. The reporter started on his quest yesterday afternoon taking with him Officer Haskins, and after a long and weary tramp through country snow drifts and over city hills
the pair discovered the object of their search.

Mary Machneck, as she is now known,
is the daughter of Velanti Tuboli, a well
to do Polish farmer, who lives out on the Gnesen road, fourteen miles from the city. He has another daughter, Agnes Tuboli whose person, rumor says, has also been assailed by the brutish parent.
Mary Machneck speaks but little English, but a very intelligent lady who was able to perfectly translate the difficult language was found and this is the story of the poor girl's shame as told freely in the presence of three reliable witnesses:

"I am Mary Machneck and am not quite 17 years old. I lived with my father until about three months ago
when I was married at the Gnesen
church by Father John Sroka to my husband. I never saw my husband but twice at our house before we were married, but he is very good to me and very kind under the circumstances. I don't know sure how much money my father promised him if he would marry me, but I think it was $200, but he has never given him anything.
A little over a year ago I went out in the woods one afternoon with my father, and when we were about a half a mile from the house he caught hold of me and threw me on the ground and accomplished my ruin, although I pushed him away and cried and told him not to. He shook his fists at me and told me to be still or it would go hard with me, and I was much frightened. After that he used to assault me frequently and always used threats. As soon as he learned I was going to be a mother, a little over three months ago, he brought my husband out to the farm and introduced him to me, and when he had gone he told me I must marry him and that he would give him some money, and also that he would take care of my baby when it was born. My father is pretty well fixed and owns a good farm. I did not tell the priest or any members of the family about my father's work, because I was afraid to,
but I told some kind ladies who live near me in the city."

A complaint will probably be made out against the unnatural father this afternoon, and he will be arrested and held to answer the dual charge of rape and incest, of which there seems to be abundant proof, that is, if the authority perform their duty, which so far they have shirked in this case.

The Fifth Ward Fight is Attracting Most Attention Today.

Frank Peterson has as yet filed no
certificate of nomination for alderman in the Fifth ward, where the caucus was held last night, a report of which is given on page 3. Alderman Cox says that he does not intend that he (Peterson) shall.
N. F. Hugo yesterday, despite the fact that he is yet confined to his room with sickness, saw that enough hustling was done so that his certificate of nomination
by petition in the Third ward was filed in the afternoon.

It is said that Frank Osborne, of Park
Point, has been tacking up notices of a People's caucus to be held at 5 o'clock this evening. Several from the First ward say that Osborne expects to be the nominee of that caucus. Matt Carroll is talked of as another opponent of Alderman Sorenson.

This morning there was a wild and wooly rumor around the city hall that John Boyer will come out and wrestle Fred Voss for the treasurership but the latter does not seem to be trembling much over the report. The talk of the day around the city hall is last night's caucus in the Fifth ward and Alderman Cox had to run the gauntlet of numberless jokes. He denies carrying off the ballot box, as it is in the form of a wooden pulpit and fell as much as he can lift, to say nothing of carrying it away.

BLAINE IS DEAD

The Great American Statesman Passed Away Quietly in Washington at 11 o'Clock This Morning.

It is Now Admitted by the Physicians That Chronic Bright's Disease Was the Ailment.

Proclamation Issued by President Harrison in Which the Virtues of the Deceased Are Extolled.

No Definite Arrangements Yet Made for the Funeral, But Probably Will Occur on Monday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Blaine is dead. It is officially stated that his death occurred at 11 a. m. When Dr. Hyatt left Mr. Blaine's bedside at 9 a. m. he said the patient had suffered another relapse, much more serious than any that had yet occurred. The doctor said that Mr. Blaine was in an extremely critical condition and he did not believe that in his present enfeebled condition he could rally. The doctor, while not venturing an opinion on the extent of the relapse, intimated that he believed the end was near at hand. His prediction was soon verified.

James G. Blaine's death, although it has removed from the world a character who was prominent in everything he understood, caused but little surprise. The news of it has been so long discounted that there remained but the hope of an announcement at the head of this dispatch. It was a foregone conclusion that his battle with death would be the final defeat of his trials and tribulations.

Though the facts as to his illness have from the first been studiously concealed through the official channels of communication, he was a sick man when he returned to Washington to settle for the winter; death and its bereavements added more and more to his ailments. He has grown worse and has continued on his journey to the grave as fast as the days would carry him. Science and skill furnished him the weapons of defense for a comparatively long time, but his death has furnished the end of the fight.

He was a doomed man from the start, and to all intents he has been a dead man for these many days past. His mind has been almost a blank for weeks, his lucid moments having been but few and at times far between, but his physical frame has withstood the ravages of wasting disease until now.

Dating from the cradle to the tomb, Mr. Blaine's sixty-three years have been active ones. All the trials and tribulations that fall to the lot of a public man have been his and have earned for him the peaceful ending of a career which closed when life's candle made its last flicker today. Mr. Blaine on his death bed was surrounded, just as he has been almost incessantly for weeks by those who were nearest and dearest to him. In fact it was only his own family and those very closely associated with them that have been permitted to see or even hear from him during the last days of his life. Trained journalists, calling into requisition every honest means at their command and resorting to every possible means within the line of legitimate journalism, have kept a most watchful eye on every movement without and as far as possible within the now famous "red house" where the distinguished statesman breathed his last.

Naturally enough there has been a disposition both on the part of the family and the attending physicians to conceal the real condition of the patient, but from time to time knowledge of Mr. Blaine's real condition has been learned. Every element of discomfort—rain, snow, sleet and frost—has been a factor in the line of duty of the reporters who have noted the scenes and incidents at the Blaine residence for weeks past.

Dr. Johnson was summoned to the bedside of Mr. Blaine early this morning, but his presence was not known to those outside until about 11:10, when in company with Dr. Hyatt, he left the house. Both physicians were unusually pale, and when accosted by the reporter for the latest news the significant look in their faces answered the question. "He is dead," said Dr. Johnson, and he passed away peacefully. The doctors did not give the exact time of death, but it was observed that about 10:45 the windows in the room of the sick chamber were slightly raised.

The news of Mr. Blaine's death spread like wild fire. Crowds gathered on the corners and visitors flocked to the house. Dr. Hamlin, who was passing the house when the announcement was made, at once entered and remained with the family for some time. Word was sent to the president immediately after the death. At 11:25 President Harrison, accompanied by Private Secretary Halford and Lieut. Parker walked over to the Blaine mansion. The president showed marked signs of grief. Postmaster General Wanamaker followed the footsteps of the president.

The president received warning of Mr. Blaine's approaching end through a press bulletin which informed him that Mr. Blaine could not live through the day. He immediately had the substance of the dispatch telegraphed over the departmental wires to the various cabinet officers. It was a few moments later only that Mr. Montgomery, the operator at the White house, received another message addressed to the president. "Blaine is ——" was all he waited to hear, and he started on a run for the room of Private Secretary Halford. The final word "dead" reached him as he was in the hallway separating the telegraph room from Mr. Halford's office.

JAMES G. BLAINE.

The cabinet was immediately notified and came to the cabinet meeting at the White house fully prepared. Secretary Foster, Mr. Blaine's successor to the portfolio of state, was in conference with Mr. Partridge, the solicitor of the state department, preparatory to starting at noon for Watertown, N. Y., where he and Mrs. Foster had planned to spend a week when news of the ex-secretary's death was received at the department.

Chief Clerk Chilton immediately telephoned Mr. Foster, who summoned his carriage and went to the Blaine residence to tender his condolence. He postponed his trip and issued an order closing the department of state today. A proclamation announcing Mr. Blaine's death will be issued at 2 p. m.

Mr. Blaine passed a restless night and this morning was languid and weak, but nothing serious was noticed until shortly before 9 o'clock, when a change for the worse occurred. Both physicians were hastily summoned and remained at the bedside until death. Mr. Blaine was conscious until the few moments before death, and the end was so quiet and peaceful that only the experienced eye of the physician could perceive that the great statesman had joined the majority.

Dr. Hyatt said that Mr. Blaine's death was due to sheer exhaustion. He was unwilling to make a statement regarding the exact disease of Mr. Blaine until he had received the consent of the family. He will then make a statement to the public. This will probably be prepared after a meeting of the doctors at 1 o'clock. All the immediate members of the family and Miss Dodge were at the bedside when the end came. To a reporter Dr. Johnson said:

"I was called this morning to the Blaine residence about 9:30 o'clock and found Mr. Blaine in a very exhausted condition. He had grown weaker during the early morning hours, and about 1:30 the nurse observed that his breathing was more difficult and his pulse more feeble than it had been. Dr. Hyatt was also sent for and arrived here at 10 o'clock. After my arrival

THE MISSABE TROUBLE

Statements Made by W. L. Brown, of Chicago, in Applying for the Writ of Injunction.

He Claims He is to be Euchered Out of a Million And Asks Protection.

The Whole Move is Believed to Have Been Prompted by the Minnesota Iron Company.

The hearing of the application for an injunction against the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road by W. L. Brown, of Chicago, which was to have come before Judge Nelson, at St. Paul yesterday, was postponed until tomorrow, at the request of ex-Attorney General Clapp, counsel for the road. This case is attracting great attention at present, and therefore the story told in the complaint is here given.

It is claimed by Mr. Brown that the directors have acquired $600,000, and even much more in stocks and bonds without returning a quid pro quo. The board of directors of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern were to hold a meeting on Monday in Duluth to dispose of a large block of stock below par. Mr. Brown, through Lusk, Bunn and Hadley, attorneys of St. Paul, prepared a voluminous bill of complaint, and went before Judge Nelson, and secured a temporary injunction, which was returnable at the federal court house in St. Paul yesterday, when a motion to perpetuate the injunction was to be submitted. The defendants named are the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company, James T. Hale, S. R. Payne, Roswell H. Palmer, Alfred Merritt, Leonidas Merritt, C. C. Merritt and M. D. Merritt, of Duluth; K. D. Chase, Albert S. Chase and Donald Grant, of Fairbault.

By the temporary injunction issued Monday by Judge Nelson, Messrs. K. D. Chase, James T. Hale, S. R. Payne, Roswell H. Palmer and the Merritts as directors are restrained from voting, selling, assigning or transferring any stock held by them in the railroad named, which was originally issued in consideration of the construction of the railroad, and are restrained from participating as officers or directors or agents of the railroad or any other way forwarding or assisting any issue, sale or delivery by the railroad company any of its corporate stock without the corporation receiving par value therefor. The directors named are also ordered to appear and show cause why they should not be enjoined from doing the things complained of.

Story of the Case.
The story told in the complaint at great length is in substance as follows: The Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company was incorporated May 26, 1891, with a capital stock of $5,000,000. The road was to run from some point on the navigable waters of Lake Superior, or St. Louis bay, of the St. Louis river, or some point on a constructed railroad connecting with the waters named—taking a northerly course, the road was to run to the northerly boundary of the state of Minnesota. On Feb. 16, 1892, bonds were issued to the extent of $1,300,000, payable in gold of the United States coinage in thirty years, with interest payable in gold coin, at the rate of 6 per cent.

The company then proposed to build a section of road from near the mouth of the Atchikoke river, in St. Louis county, and extending in a southerly direction to the property of the Mountain Iron company in section 3, township 58 north, of range 18 west in St. Louis county. On Jan. 29, 1892, the railroad company entered into an agreement with the Mountain Iron company, the Biwabik Mountain Iron company, and Donald Grant, by which part of the road was to be built. By this contract it was agreed that the directors of the railroad would issue first mortgage bonds to the amount of $900,000 upon which the interest was to be guaranteed, and $450,000 of paid up common stock. These shares of stock were to be guaranteed. Then the Mountain Iron company and the Biwabik Mountain Iron company were each to issue bonds in the sum of $200,000 secured by paid up stock. The stock and bonds were to be placed in the hands of a trustee to secure the payment of the contractor for building the section of the railroad.

Then on Jan. 29, 1892, Foley Bros. & Guthrie, who are railroad contractors, and Albert S. Chase joined with Donald Grant to construct the road under the name of a construction company. By the terms of the agreement by which the bonds and stock were placed in the hands of the trustee, the construction company was to furnish the money to construct the road, as agreed by Donald Grant and the railroad company. It was agreed that the construction company was to receive $900,000 face value of the railroad bonds of the first mortgage issue, $333,333 of the face value of paid up common stock of the railroad company, $200,000 of the fully paid-up common stock of the Mountain Iron company, and $200,000 face value of the fully paid-up stock of the Biwabik Mountain Iron company. All this stock was to be delivered for the construction of the railroad. The Chases were to furnish three-fifths of the money for doing the construction.

Brown's Interest.
The way that William L. Brown, of Chicago, got mixed into the matter, he says, was through Foley Brothers and Guthrie. These gentlemen received one-fifth of the stock and bonds, namely, they received $300,000 of the first mortgage bonds of the railroad and $125,000 of its paid up common stock. Foley Brothers and Guthrie sold these stocks and bonds to William L. Brown a few days ago, or more definitely, Jan. 12, 1893, for cash. Mr. Brown claims to have bought the stock believing it was issued in good faith, but is asserted he is acting for the Minnesota Iron company. The building of the railroad was done by the construction company, and not by Donald Grant, of which fact the railroad company was aware.

Mr. Brown then proceeds to charge in his bill of complaint that the directors violated the law in the manner of issuing stock. That they issued stock and disposed thereof without compensation, and for an amount which the building of the road would not cost. It is claimed that the directors knew the building of the road would not cost more than $350,000. The assertion is made that the directors of the road contributed only $200,000 for the construction of the road; that the directors received $450,000 of the first mortgage bonds of the railroad company, $253,332 of its common stock, besides $253,332 of the stock of the Mountain Iron company and two-fifths of the stock of the Biwabik Mountain Iron company.

Mr. Brown particularizes further by stating that the conspiracy was to pay Donald Grant $400,000 of the common stock fully paid up. Then he was to sublet the contract. This scheme was carried out as the construction company received only $333,333 of the railroad stock on the first construction contract and $300,000 on the second contract. This apparently left a profit to Donald Grant of $611,667 in common stock of the railroad, but Donald Grant did not own this $611,667 of stock, but it was agreed to divide it among the directors. It was not paid for, and was never intended to be paid for, adds Mr. Brown in his bill. Proceeding, it is stated that the directors claim to own this stock of $611,667, also two-fifths of the common stock and two-fifths of the bonds as being earned by constructing the railroad.

Then it is alleged that the directors proposed to sell $600,000 worth of the stock held by them and illegally obtained by them, the object being to realize on the sale. The proposition was to sell this stock at 80 cents on the dollar, when Mr. Brown claims it is worth 90 cents on the dollar. A meeting of the directors was called for last Monday in Duluth to authorize the sale. Mr. Brown claims such sale would be detrimental to the company and that the stock is illegally in the hands of the directors. The stock acquired by Mr. Brown still stands in the name of Foley Brothers on the corporate books. The court is asked to restrain the issuing of bonus stock as well as to prevent the illegal transfer of the company stock.

The Passing of Blaine.

The whole nation is bowed in grief, "Blaine is dead." This was the brief message that was flashed over the wires at 11 o'clock this morning. Brief, but how expressive. What sadness it carried in its swift flight from ocean to ocean and what a stir it created in the busy marts of trade. The sorrowful news prostrated business for the moment, and men paused in the mad rush for wealth to listen to the few meager details which had come of the dissolution of the great American statesman and to express their heartfelt regret at the demise of one who was closer to the people than any other public man of his day.

The most conspicuous public man in the country for many years past has been James Gillespie Blaine. Opinions will differ as to his record in public life. The fierce political enmities aroused during a very active career in both branches of congress and as a presidential candidate will not permit a just estimate to be made of his abilities and services by the present generation of his political opponents, any more than will the almost fanatic devotion to his cause and his political fortunes which was ever manifested by his thousands of friends in the Republican party. The name of James G. Blaine could thrill a Republican gathering as could no other name, and wherever the white plume of the "magnetic man from Maine" appeared there followed a majestic host of enthusiastic and untiring adherents who never wearied nor faltered in their determination to place in the presidential chair the man whom they regarded as the greatest statesman of the age.

But fate willed otherwise. Several times the coveted presidency was almost within his grasp, and as often did he see the cup dashed from his lips just as he was about to drink to the success of his pardonable ambition. At last, the advance of years and the burdens of domestic affliction broke down a constitution enfeebled by the too arduous duties of a remarkable career of brilliant political work and unceasing labor in high public position, and he has passed to his long rest with his crowning ambition unsatisfied and refused. But though he never became president, the name of James G. Blaine will never be less than that of any man who occupied the highest position in the nation's gift and will rank in the roll call of history ahead of the great majority of those who have followed on the distinguished list beginning with the name of George Washington.

As secretary of state it was that Mr. Blaine achieved his greatest record. Brilliant though his career in congress may be accounted, and inspiring and triumphant as were his appearances upon the stump when the enjoyment of a vigorous manhood and rare oratorical gifts he thrilled thousands of his countrymen with impassioned and patriotic addresses, still it was as the premier of President Harrison's cabinet that Mr. Blaine reached the zenith of the fame that will be accorded him in the immortal pages of undying history. He then stood revealed to the country as a statesman fitted to rank with the ablest that the old world has produced. His ever loyal friends pointed with pride to the fulfillment of their predictions, and his political enemies were forced into admiration of the transcendent ability which he displayed in the handling of international questions.

Though his sudden departure from the cabinet which he adorned was attended by circumstances which many judged uncharitably, it may be confidently said that his withdrawal was through no disloyalty to the occupant of the White house, but was prompted by a keen sense of the delicacy of the position into which irrepressible friends had unwillingly forced him. Though the presidency was denied him to round out a career that needed but to round out a complete record of exceptional brilliancy, Mr. Blaine's name will be perpetuated by an admiring and grateful republic and history will not fail to allot to him the niche of fame that is his due.

Municipal Government.

The Herald published two days ago a digest of the bill introduced in the legislature as a general law for the government of the cities of Minnesota having 30,000 or more population. It was introduced in the senate by Senator Sanborn of St. Paul, and is said to have been prepared at the request of the chamber of commerce of that city. It would apply to St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth, all three having over 30,000 inhabitants according to the census of 1890, which governs in such cases.

It will have been noticed that so far as Duluth is concerned this law would work a radical change in the city charter, and although the existing charter is not perfect by any means and needs amendments in several particulars, still there are some features in the proposed law that are hardly desirable to be engrafted upon our form of municipal government.

The bill introduced by Senator Sanborn seeks to centralize nearly all power in the hands of the mayor, who is to hold office for four years and be ineligible for re-election. The mayor is to appoint the superintendent of police, commissioners of the fire, health, water and educational boards, the department of public works, the city engineer, comptroller, corporation counsel, board of charities and corrections and the police. There are two legislative bodies provided for, the board of aldermen, consisting of one member from each ward, the assembly of ten members elected at large, and all elected for four years each, but the first election will be arranged so that only one-half of the first of the boards elected shall serve their full term, the rest going out of office at the end of two years.

The board of education is to consist of nine members and anyone elected mayor or appointed to the head of any department or elected on any board must have been a resident of the city for at least five years preceding his election. The salaries provided for the various officers are as follows: Mayor, not less than $5,000 or more than $6,000; corporation counsel and city engineer, not less than $4,000 or more than $5,000; treasurer, comptroller and city clerk, not less than $3,000 or more than $4,000; heads of departments and assistants, ranging to not less than $2,000; chief of police, not less than $3,500; chief of fire department, not less than $3,000; members of the city council, boards, etc., to receive $5 per meeting, provided that not more than two regular meetings be held each month, the above salaries to be fixed by the city council.

The Herald is convinced that there are some dangerous provisions in this bill, chief of which is the almost autocratic power given to the mayor. Such a system cannot be called republican, but savors more of the ideas which grow up under an imperial form of national government, where the principle of a supreme and autocratic head is carried down into the control of state and provincial as well as city governments. It is based upon the idea that the people must be governed, and is thus opposed to the republican doctrine that the people rule. The St. Paul News is correct in saying, in a review of this dangerous measure, that there is nothing more obnoxious to the American idea of a government of the people, for the people and by the people, than the centralization of power in the hands of one autocratic head, in whom is concentrated all authority. If the purpose of this bill is to be carried out, the title of the executive head of city governments should be changed from "mayor," and that official designated as the "czar," so that his title and authority may be consistent with each other.

The Herald also agrees with the St. Paul paper in the declaration that it is hostile to all principles and hopes of good and satisfactory government to take away from the people their proper and just opportunity for a voice in their own affairs and put them under the iron rule and will of "one man power," from which there can be no appeal. The suggestions of this municipal bill in regard to the power which shall be centralized in the hands of mayors is an invasion of public rights and individual liberty for which there is neither occasion nor warrant capable only of creating discontent and destroying confidence. It is usurpation, pure and simple, dangerous and offensive and hostile to sound public policy.

It is equally objectionable to increase the term of the mayor to four years, because it is liable to lead to ring rule and corruption. Frequently men will be elected to the mayoralty who are unfit for the position, and to be inflicted with an incompetent mayor for four years would often be a serious matter. It would also offer boundless opportunities for favoritism and nepotism. The people of the Minnesota cities do not want one man rule. They desire to have a voice in the choice of their officials, and the more simple and plain the form of municipal government provided the better satisfied they will be.

John H. Mitchell, the Wisconsin millionaire, was chosen by the Wisconsin Democrats yesterday as United States senator. Col. Knight and Gen. Bragg could not prevail against the potency of the millions at Mitchell's command, and rumor says they finally agreed to his election on the promise that he would pay the expenses they had incurred, and give certain offices to themselves and friends. It is not a choice that the people would have made.

Edward F. Searles, the young man who married the widow of millionaire Hopkins and inherited all her vast wealth, proposes to erect at Boston the best appointed building for the study of the sciences that can be built. Mr. Searles is a worthy addition to the ranks of rich men like Armour, Rockefeller and others, who are expending much of their wealth for the cause of higher education.

Bishop Wigger, of New Jersey, has been summoned to appear in the court of Archbishop Satolli, the apostolic delegate, to answer to a charge of fostering Catholicism. From this it will be seen that, in eyes of the head of the Catholic church, Catholicism is a religious misdemeanor.

The Superior city council has decided to offer the state of Wisconsin $65,000 to locate a normal school there. This is a pretty heavy price. A normal school is too costly at such a sum. While Duluth would like to have the state of Minnesota locate a normal school here, it is not prepared to make any such foolish offer to secure it.

The revolutionary methods adopted by the Populist members of the Kansas legislature to elect a United States senator hardly coincide with the loud protestations of reform demanded for purity in politics which that party's speakers made in November.

A dispatch today says that the Detroit High school building has been totally destroyed by fire, which was caused by an explosion of chemicals in the basement. It may now be asked again, can the Duluth school board afford to leave our fine High school building practically uninsured?

AMUSEMENTS.

Warde and James Tonight.

Tonight and at tomorrow's matinee at the Lyceum, the tragedians, Frederick Warde and Louis James, supported by a company of thirty-one people, will be seen in a magnificent scenic and costume production of Henry Guy Carlton's romantic drama, "The Lion's Mouth," which was seen here on Mr. Warde's last starring tour, but it now has the added strength of Mr. James' splendid acting. Mr. Warde will be seen in his original role of Rinaldo and Mr. James will appear as Fra Angelo.

The action of the play takes place in Venice, amid the stormy days of the inquisition. Its title refers to the famous "Lion's Mouth," which was the receptacle of scrolls denouncing persons in Venice supposed to be inimical to the interests of the state, and whose denunciations were acted upon by a secret council of three. The play is said to be superbly mounted, the locality of the scene giving opportunity for some exquisite stage pictures. The opening scene, a street in Venice, is rich in coloring, with the costumes of the people most happily blended. The action involves the merry-making of the maskers, the adventures of girls and gallants and the sharp interference of angry friars.

The second act shows a gay company in the gardens of the doge's palace, dancing to the measured notes of a concerted band of musicians. At the close of the act the lovers are seen in a gondola, which glides away upon the grand canal. The third act discloses the giant staircase and "The Lion's Mouth," and the fourth act takes place in the torture chamber of the inquisition. The entire scenery has been painted by the well-known scenic artist, Seymour D. Parker.

Ten Prisoners Escaped.

UNION CITY, Tenn., Jan. 27.—At 9 o'clock Wednesday night ten negroes escaped from jail by wrenching a cage door from its hinges and breaking a hole through the corridor. They then called to the colored porter to replenish the fire, and upon opening the jail door ran out, making their escape. No captures have been made.

A CHANCE FOR DIAMONDS.

Is always worth snapping at. Diamond cuts diamond, they say; that may be, but it's certain though, that diamonds can't be cut in value, even if they are cut for setting. The sun sets every night, but all the time we are setting before our patrons a display of sparklers which the queen of belles might be proud to possess. Whether you're proud or not you can possess some of our diamonds. It doesn't cost a fortune to buy them, although it is a piece of good fortune to get them. Beauty without jewelry is like the sun in eclipse, and in jewelry, diamonds are always trumps. We are selling, etc.

Women Like Praise.

Jack—I'll tell you what's the matter, George; you don't praise your wife enough. Even if things don't go right, there's no use growling. Praise her efforts to please, whether they are successful or not. Women like praise and lots of it.

George—All right; I'll remember it, George (at dinner same day)—My dear, this pie is just lovely! It's delicious! Ever so much better than those my mother used to make. She couldn't equal this pie if she tried a month.

George's Wife—Huh! You've made fun of every pie I ever made, and now—

George—But this is lovely.

George's Wife—This came from the baker's.—New York Weekly.

Getting His Money's Worth.

Babton (calling on his cousin from the country)—Why don't you go out and see the town? Cousin—Go out! Do you know I am paying two dollars a day for this room, and you bet I want to get my money's worth.—Once a Week.

Before the Matinee.

The matinee woman with her two friends approached the box office. "What's the price of parquet seats?" "One fifty," said the box office agent politely.

"That much apiece?"

"Yes, ma'am, apiece."

"Couldn't you let me have three for $2.25?"

"No, ma'am."

"How mean! Couldn't you let me have two seats and a general admission for that?"

"No, ma'am. General admission fifty cents."

"Ain't that horrid! And, oh, I've only got $1.25, come to think of it. Can't I get three general admissions for that?"

"I'm sorry, ma'am. It's against our rules."

"Theaters are just as mean as—well, how many admissions can I get for the $1.25?"

"Two, ma'am."

"Well, give me two, then. (With sarcasm.) I suppose you don't want the odd quarter too?"

"No, ma'am."

"Well, girls, I think it's just awful. We'll have to do the best we can. Here, you two take these tickets and go in and sit down somewhere and I'll go and get twenty-five cents worth of caramels, and then one of you come out after the first act—I've seen their old play once, anyway—and give me the return check and I'll go in for an act, and then Flora can come out and let you in for another act. See? We'll see the thing if they do make a lot of schemes just to make people trouble. Now go right in, so as not to miss any of it."—Chicago News-Record.

Cold Charity.

"Could you give me something to eat, ma'am?" asked a tramp at a house on Lafayette avenue.

"No," answered the woman at the door curtly. "We've nothing for tramps."

"Thank you, ma'am," and he turned meekly away, drawing the skirt of a wretched coat about him to keep out the cold, blinding storm.

"I might give you some old clothes if you wait until I can pick them out," said the woman, moved by the appearance of the forlorn figure.

He waited outside with the thermometer near zero, waited a long time, and whistled "Annie Laurie" for company.

Then the woman of the house returned, opened the door a crack and handed him out a linen duster and a straw hat.

"Thank you, ma'am," said the tramp gratefully; "there is just one thing more."

"We haven't any drinking water; the pipes are frozen," she interrupted.

"No, ma'am, but if I might make so bold as to ask for an old fan, it would go so beautifully with this suit of clothes."

But she said that she drew the line at fans, and shut the door in his face.—Detroit Free Press.

"When he returns from being out, sir."—Atlanta Constitution.

THE LONGFELLOW STATUE.

Amounts Given by the Schools in St. Louis County.

Mrs. I. Thompson, the county chairman, writes to The Herald: The Longfellow statue, to which the children of this state are subscribing their nickels and pennies, is the most popular work for the Columbian exposition so far, and it is no wonder. Citizenship has already begun for those who "will" to honor the truly great, even as children, and in after years the givers will see this bronze group at some time, which will call up bygone scenes so realistic that "It Was the Schooner Hesperus" will be uttered words at the first glimpse, and the surrounding thoughts of Minnesota's legend will be a fitting souvenir of enduring affection. Mrs. Hunt reports that the sums given are small but that they come from the most remote corners of the state.

Twenty schools have been heard from in this county up to date. Teachers will please look to these columns for due acknowledgment. The sums received are: High school, $15.34; Jackson, $7.01; Woodland, $1.10; Longfellow, $2.25; Park Point, $1.00; Onondaga, $1.25; Irving, $3.00; Endion, $10.40; Jefferson, $9.42; Adams, 90 cents; Madison, $3; Glen Avon, 90 cents; Cleveland, 75 cents; Tower and Soudan, $7.12; Midway, $1.50; West Duluth, $1.42; Embarras River, 16 cents; Ely, $1.52; Gnessen, $1; Pike Lake, 75 cents; Hermantown, $1; Fairmount, 80 cents; Lester Park, $3.50; Hardy, $5; total, $81.43.

NEW LINES OF RAILROAD.

Construction Work Projected for the Coming Year in Minnesota.

In a list of new lines of railroad to be built in 1893, published in the last issue of the Railroad Gazette, the following are given under the heading of Minnesota:

Duluth, Mesaba & Northern—From main line, near Stony Brook, to West Duluth, twenty-six miles under survey.

Duluth, Mississippi & Northern—Extension of main line and on lumber branches, ten miles. W. A. Datter, chief engineer, Swan River, Minn.

Port Arthur, Duluth & Western—Quintet from mine, at international boundary line, to iron mines at Ely, twenty-five miles. R. A. Hazlewood, Port Arthur, Ont., chief engineer.

There are some other lines in the Duluth district that will probably be added to this list before long.

ON CHARTER REVISION.

May Be No General Law For Two Years More.

Mayor d'Auremont and W. W. Billson have not yet returned this morning from St. Paul, where they have been for several days in the interest of charter revision. They were expected back this afternoon, however.

Alderman Weiss, who returned yesterday morning, says that the general atmosphere down there seems to be that the present charters will be patched up a little and made to do until two years hence. There is a strong sentiment in favor of appointing a permanent committee to draw up a new charter, will fit all the cities and submit it to the next session of the legislature.

NOW THEY ARE ONE.

The Formal Union of the Endion and First Baptist Churches.

The formal union of the Endion and the First Baptist churches took place last evening. All was harmony and the membership and property of the Endion were transferred to the First church.

Rev. Geo. H. MacClelland will act as pastor until March 1, at which time he will either be retained or steps taken to secure another pastor. Services for the present will be held in the Endion sanctuary.

The following church officers were elected for the ensuing year: Trustees, W. W. Billson, W. W. Sanford, Andrew Jackson, G. C. Steele, H. S. Mahon, Dr. J. B. Weston and J. L. Parks; deacons, C. Powell, Grady, J. C. Whittington, H. V. Holmes and U. A. Burnham; Sunday school superintendent, W. B. Patton; church clerk, J. D. Holmes.

AN UNFORTUNATE MISHAP.

Why Rev. M. J. Bywater Could Not Join the Other Clergy.

Rev. M. J. Bywater, rector of Christ church, Albert Lea, who came here to participate in the consecration services when Rev. W. M. Barker was raised to the dignity of bishop, had a little adventure which prevented him taking his place in the ranks of the attending clergy.

In getting off the street car near the church, he left his valise containing his clerical vestments on the car, and they were caught in the wheels and were not recovered in time. Mr. Bywater was a cousin to the late Maurice H. Bywater, deputy collector of customs at Duluth, who died in the Washington case.

Before Judge Powell.

In municipal court this morning Judge Powell gave Bruce Dixon and Frank La Barge ten days for drunkenness. The bastardy case against Ed Vosberg was continued until February 3. Parks, the fellow who assaulted Chas. Grandall at the Jefferson school with a saw, had a hearing this morning on the charge of assault in the second degree. He waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $200, in default of which he was committed to the county jail.

Carroll Nominated.

The News Tribune says that Frank Osborne was nominated at the People's caucus in the First ward last night but such was not the case. Matt Carroll received 33 votes and Osborne 7. Osborne, who was favorable to Carroll, moved that Carroll receive the unanimous support of the People's party and it was adopted.

HAWAII'S REVOLT

A Revolution Occurred Two Weeks Ago in the Hawaiian Islands and Carried the Day.

The Monarchy Was Overthrown, the Queen Deposed, and a Provisional Government Put in Charge.

People Have Decided in Favor of Annexation to This Country and Have Sent a Commission.

The Revolution Was Caused by an Attempt of the Queen to Abrogate the Constitution.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—The Hawaiian steamer Claudine arrived here at 2 o'clock this morning, bringing the news of a revolution in Honolulu. The revolutionists have overthrown the government and United States troops have been landed from the war ships in port. A provisional government has been established and a commission headed by Mr. Thurston came in on the Claudine en route to Washington with a petition to the American government to annex the Hawaiian Islands to the United States.

The first intimation of trouble came on Jan. 15, when the queen tried to get the cabinet to sign a new constitution that disfranchised all foreigners and put the whole government in the hands of the native politicians. The ministers refused, and when threatened by the queen for their lives. They returned later and induced the queen to postpone the coup. There was a public meeting in front of the palace.

The queen announced the failure of her plans and a native orator demanded the lives of the ministers. Early in the evening citizens met and formed a committee of public safety. On Jan. 16 a mass meeting was held in the city. At about 5 o'clock the United States steamship Boston landed 300 men fully armed. They marched to the office of the consul general of the United States. The marines were sent to the American legation, while the sailors marched out along Merchant street with two gatling guns and camped for a time on private grounds. They stayed ashore all night.

All day on Tuesday, Jan. 18, the community was in a state of expectancy, looking to the committee of public safety to do something to end the tension. The committee in the meantime was not being incessantly occupied completing its organization and completing its final arrangements necessary to the proclamation of the provisional government and its protection by armed force at 2:30 o'clock.

An attempt was made by three native policemen to arrest the progress of a wagon which was driven up North street by Mr. Brenner and Mr. Good. Those in charge of the wagon resisted the attempt of the officers to arrest its course. One of the officers making a motion to draw a revolver, Mr. Good drew his own and fired but did not inflict a dangerous wound. In the meantime the committee of public safety accompanied by members of the government, about 100 men proceeded to the government building. The proclamation was read, of which the chief points are as follows: 1. The Hawaiian monarchy system of government is hereby abrogated. 2. A provisional government for the affairs and management of public affairs and the protection of the public peace is hereby established to exist until terms of union with the United States of America have been negotiated and agreed upon. 3. Such provisional government shall consist of an executive council of four members who shall administer the executive departments of the government with an advisory council of fourteen who shall have general legislative authority. 4. All officers of the government are to exercise their functions except the queen, Marshal Wilson and the cabinet. The provisional government and the cabinet went to the palace and submitted their plan to the queen. She refused at first to yield but finally retired to her country residence, her troops surrendered and the government was in the hands of the foreigners.

Mr. Thurston was seen at his hotel this morning. He said: "We shall probably start for Washington today. Our mission is to secure annexation to the United States. We want no protection and no republic. A republic would be worse than a monarchy, for the ignorant Canaks would rule. You may say that the foreigners are unanimous in favor of annexation as the only hope for Hawaii. The queen has been running a coup d'etat ever since she came to the throne. She wanted arbitrary power first. She secured the passage of the infamous lottery bill, then sprang the new constitution upon them, which disfranchised any foreigners. When they demurred she ordered out the troops."

"This roused the foreigners and things began to hum and on Friday the constitution was ordered. On Saturday the committee of safety was formed. On Sunday the Kanaka troops were landed from the United States steamship Boston which arrived opportunely the night before. Within five hours the Kanaka troops had withdrawn and the government was in the hands of the people."

THE OFFICIAL ADVICES.

The Cause of the Hawaiian Monarchy Being Overthrown.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Secretary of State Foster received this morning advice from the Hawaiian islands to the effect that the monarchy had been overthrown and a provisional government established in the interests of the whole people of the islands. The cabinet was appointed on Jan. 12 and another appointed on the 14th, on which date the queen prorogued the legislature and attempted to proclaim a new constitution, disfranchising foreigners and increasing the royal prerogatives.

On Jan. 16 the citizens organized a committee of safety. On the 17th a provisional government was established and the queen dethroned. The revolution was accomplished without the loss of a single life. United States troops were landed in accordance with the request of the American minister to preserve property of Americans. The new government has been promptly recognized by most of the diplomatic representatives.

The four men who constitute the head of the provisional government are of high character, one having resigned his place on the supreme bench to assume the position. Latest advices report the islands in a state of tranquility.

The news that Queen Liliokalani had been overthrown came to the United States government with a dispatch from Hawaii to the United States. The dispatch was dated San Francisco and contained the substance of the information telegraphed from San Francisco by the press dispatches.

Mott Smith, however, had already been informed and he hurried to the state department with his dispatch from Mr. Thurston, the leader of the committee to negotiate the annexation of Hawaii to the United States. The dispatch was dated San Francisco and contained the substance of the information telegraphed from San Francisco by the press dispatches.

Mott Smith reached the state department shortly before 11 o'clock. While waiting to see Secretary Foster he told a reporter something about the probable cause of the revolution as suggested by the statement that the queen had attempted to abrogate the constitution. "In 1887," said Mr. Smith, "the king of Hawaii was given almost absolute power. He could appoint and dismiss his ministers at will, and had no restrictions placed upon him. This course could not last and the people took this power away from King Kalakaua and set up a new constitution which gave the sovereign power to the people. The national sentiment has always chafed under the limitation which was placed on the king's power. The revolution has become stronger daily, until now the queen finds herself dethroned and her country practically a republic."

Cause of the Revolution.
BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 28.—A dispatch received by Chamberlain & Taylor's Bookstore this city gives the additional information that the revolution of Hawaii occurred Jan. 14 and was caused by an attempt of the queen to abrogate the constitution and promulgate a new one. The people then dethroned the queen and set up a provisional government. President Dole, the dispatch states, has been recognized by all the powers except England.

The News Confirmed.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Mott Smith, the Hawaiian minister, has received an official dispatch confirming the report that the Hawaiian government has been overthrown, and that commissioners from the new government are on their way to Washington from San Francisco to ask that Hawaii be annexed to the United States.

Mr. Smith is now at the state department waiting to advise the secretary of state of the information he has received. The state and navy departments have been officially informed of the revolution.

LANDED WITH HIS RIGHT.
BILLY GALLAGHER Knocked Out in Nineteen Rounds at Frisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—Tom Tracey defeated Billy Gallagher at the Pacific club last night in nineteen rounds. Tracey is the champion welter-weight of Australia, while Gallagher is a local man. The fight was for a purse of $1500. Tracey was a favorite in the pools at 10 to 7.

During the early part of the fight Tracey had all the best of it, but after five rounds Gallagher made a hot fight. Tracey rushed matters in the seventh and punished Gallagher badly. From this to the nineteenth, Tracey had a jibe the best of it, continually jabbing his opponent in the side.

During the early part of the nineteenth round, Gallagher fought well, but a hot right swung on the stomach felled him. He got up and staggered around the ring, when Tracey swung a heavy right on his jaw, knocking him out.

Blew a Hole in His Head.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 28.—John Menten, a well-to-do farmer near St. Paul, attempted suicide Thursday night by shooting himself with a rifle loaded with nails. The charge entered the head just over the right eye and blew off a piece of the skull larger than a silver dollar. The strangest thing about it all is that Menten is still alive and can talk as rationally as ever, though there is slight hope of his recovery. He was disappointed in love.

Hanged By Lynchers.

QUINCY, Ill., Jan. 28.—Pat Wells, a negro, was lynched last night five miles southwest of this town. He had robbed the house of George Fletcher, while the latter's barn and stable were burning. When he was taken away from them by the lynchers and hanged.

Fined for Cruelty.
BALTIMORE, Jan. 28.—Capt. Evans, the oyster boat owner charged with cruelty toward his men, was fined $100 today. The judge said the light sentence was due to the old man's age. Capt. Edward Evans, the son, was sentenced to jail for three months.

Removed His Name.

PARIS, Jan. 28.—A decree is officially published announcing the removal of the name of Dr. Cornelius Herz from the roll of the Legion of Honor.

IN THE LEGISLATURE.

Henry Van Brunt Said to be a Candidate for the State Weighmastership at Duluth.

Min. Hist. Society. The Red River Valley on Hand. A Little Scrap in the Senate. Between Donnelly and Keller, Which Furnished Some Amusement.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 28.—[Special to The Herald.]—Everyone who has visited the capitol during a session of the legislature knows Senator Keller from Starnes county. There is always a good kernel of sense beneath all the chaff of a murrain of his words but the grotesqueness of his ideas, jumbled together as they are, usually brings down the house.

Yesterday a very amusing incident occurred during the debate in committee of the whole in the senate upon the World's fair appropriation bill. Donnelly of course, under the promptings of the plank in the Alliance platform, opposed the measure while Keller was its staunchest supporter.

Keller, in the course of his remarks, said that the whole senate ought to go up to the wonderful Mesaba iron range and see the magnificent deposits of iron ore up there. He believed that it would make the eyes of some of them bulge out so far that they couldn't put their hats on. He believed that it would be worth the whole $100,000 to get a proper exhibit of these riches of nature placed at the World's fair. The personal combat grew warmer and Keller observed that it would require a portion of the money to place a life-sized portrait of Mr. Donnelly upon exhibition there.

Donnelly arose, calm and immovable, but with danger in his countenance, as he went on to explain that the exhibition could not get along without a life-sized portrait of Keller on exhibition among the rest of the blooded cattle of the state. He believed also that the portrait should show the horns, tail, etc., of the Duluth state.

There has been a delegation of citizens here during the week from Clay, Marshall, Norman, and adjacent counties who met here with their senators and representatives to devise ways and means for pushing a bill through the legislature to appropriate $25,000 annually for four years from the general fund to redeem the practically closed navigation for Buffalo, Wild Rice, and Hill and Tamarack rivers. J. J. Hill, it is stated, favors the proposition and will contribute $25,000 to assist if the state contributes $100,000. A bill has been prepared to carry out this proposition which will create a commission to consist of the governor of the state, a member from the grain and warehouse commission and a third to be named by Mr. Hill, who are to have full charge of the work. This is evidently the farmer's view in the legislature and the fat condition of the state finances holds out alluring prospects to all their projects.

Signs are now appearing that a strong fight will be made against the bills introduced into both houses and now before the grain and warehouse committees of both houses making appropriations build state elevators at Duluth. The committee of the house has appointed a sub-committee of eight to operate a sub-committee of five of the senate grain and warehouse committee in drawing a bill which is to embrace the main features in all the bills introduced relating to elevators at Duluth. A majority of those eight are said to be against the project being mainly from the Twin cities and the southern portion of the state.

The fight against the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road has created a great deal of interest here and it is considered to be a direct onset upon the interests of Duluth as not identical with terminal interests in Superior and Two Harbors. There is no question, but that the stockholders of the Missabe & Northern road are waiting developments with extreme anxiety. There is now in St. Paul at the Merchants, K. D. Chase, Donald Grant, Alf. Merritt, and Gen. Moses E. Clapp. They all say that "run" is the word. Your correspondent has been enabled to learn a good deal about the present status of affairs, but it seems to be to the best interests of Duluth that nothing should be said for several days yet. It looks as if Duluth was going to come out ahead in the deal, in spite of all hostile influences. The injunction case here has been postponed until next week and may never come up for adjudication. Meanwhile Lon Merritt, it is said, is in Chicago. If harmony can be restored it will be for the best interests of all concerned.

Among other Duluthians who have been here this week are R. S. Munger, B. F. Howard, J. W. Burchard, Joseph Dodge, Commissioner Swenson, Nils P. Hall and W. C. Sargent. It is said here that Henry Van Brunt is trying for the state weighmastership at Duluth. It is probable that one of the governor's staff will hail from the Zenith City.

In conversation with Sen. Sevaton, chairman of the committee to look into the question of wheat freight rates and the relations of common carriers to the farmers today, it was learned that the first people that the committee would summon before it would be the state weighmasters, especially those having in charge the receiving point of Minneapolis. The committee would endeavor to show by them that certain railroad companies knew that men stole wheat out of cars at Minneapolis and carried it away by teams and that the railroad companies knew them and would not prosecute the culprits. The committee will also investigate why the companies ask the same prices for carrying all grades of wheat while they charge freight rates on other commodities according to its value. No one here, however, expects any lasting or useful results from the labors of this committee, not even the Alliance men.

The Brown injunction case against the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad was called in the United States court at 10 o'clock this morning and again postponed, this time until next Tuesday morning.

HAS ENDED IN FAILURE.

Attempt to End the Cotton Mill Strike Has Proven Futile.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Another attempt to bring to an end the long strike or lock-out in the Lancashire cotton mills has ended fruitlessly. At a conference held by the mill owners and representatives of the operatives, the latter submitted a proposal to resume work at the rates prevailing before the strike, and to accept a 5 per cent reduction of their wages upon the expiration of the quarter, if the employers found the margin of profit between cotton and yarn unsatisfactory.

The mill owners refused to settle the dispute on this basis. The operatives refused to accede to the proposals of the mill owners, which the men claim are all in favor of the employers, and consequently the fortnightly conferences held to arrange the questions at issue have been stopped.

FUNERAL OF MR. BLAINE.

Arrangements Not Yet Completed But the Pallbearers Will be Personal Friends of the Deceased.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The closely drawn blinds of the Blaine mansion, the air of quietude pervading its surroundings, the crape on the bell knob and the absence of the newspaper watchers, who for seven weeks have remained uninterruptedly on duty day and night within sight of the house, are the only visible signs that the long expected end has come.

All the arrangements for the quiet funeral are nearly completed and will be announced later in the day. The pallbearers will be personal friends of the dead statesman. Admission to the Church of the Covenant, where the services will be held, will be by card and the allotted seats have been assigned to the family and immediate friends to the president and cabinet and to the diplomatic corps who will attend unofficially there will be little room left.

Telegrams of condolence from every part of the United States and from foreign countries continue to pour in. There is an apparently endless chain of messenger boys passing between the telegraph office and the red house.

The Washington correspondent of the New Haven Register tells this story as coming from an intimate friend of the Blaine family. Five years ago James G. Blaine having been told of many wonderful predictions by an astrologer (as he called himself) consented to have his fortune told. Mr. Blaine, it need hardly be said, was not a believer in the prophetic powers of the alleged astrologer, and was inclined to laugh at those whose gullibility enabled, these impostors to exist.

Many commonplace statements, the story goes, were given by the astrologer but one impressed itself upon the minds of those to whom Mr. Blaine afterward related the incident. That was that Mr. Blaine would die in 1893 and before Jan. 28. Mr. Blaine's death occurred on Jan. 27.

The decorations of the Church of the Covenant for the funeral of Mr. Blaine will be under the charge of George H. Brown, public gardener. There will be palms and ferns from the agricultural department and the botanical gardens and cut flowers from the propagating gardens in the department of engineer in charge of public buildings and grounds of the District of Columbia. Designs are not yet complete, but they will include a banking of the rail which divides the choir gallery from the pulpit. Large quantities of flowers have already been sent to the house and these with what may come later will doubtless occupy all the available space about the church rail that can be spared for their accommodation.

Mr. Cleveland's Movements.

LAKEWOOD, N. Y., Jan. 28.—Mr. Cleveland left here for New York early this morning. He will not return until late tonight, as he has considerable business to dispose of. He will meet several Western politicians who wired him last night that they would be in New York today. The political conference of leaders here on Monday may be postponed, should Mr. Cleveland attend Mr. Blaine's funeral.

A Doctor Sentenced.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—Seven years at hard labor was the punishment inflicted yesterday upon Dr. Frederick Meisterfeld, the Dr. McGonigal, of Philadelphia, convicted of causing the death of Mary Estelle Dunlevy. Yesterday he pleaded guilty to causing the death of Mary Estelle, of Germantown. Meisterfeld's wife, who was arrested with him, was set free.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Jan. 28.—The managers of the Catholic Chautauqua of the United States have selected a site near this city for the erection of buildings for the annual meetings. The Delaware & Hudson Canal company has contributed land valued at $31,000.

Sugar Was Bullied.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—There was great excitement on the stock exchange yesterday morning. In about ten minutes the quotations for sugar were marked up from 126 to 129 on a volume of business rarely seen on the exchange. More than 50,000 shares were recorded on the tape in the first fifteen minutes. Deacon S. V. White is accredited with the leadership in the bull movement.

IN THE SOCIAL WHIRL.

Leading Event This Week Was the Reception at the Spalding by Maj. and Mrs. Upham.

Society Was Also Much Interested in the Consecration of Rev. W. M. Barker as Bishop.

Minor Social Functions and Movements of Duluthians and the Strangers Within the City's Gates.

The sphere of society has been revolving at a pretty lively gait during the week; that is, it has covered considerable space and yet the principal events of the week were not strictly speaking social ones. There was the consecration of Bishop Barker which was of social importance and yet an ecclesiastical happening which society did not bring about. The reception afterwards at the Kitchi Gami was very pleasant, but it was an afterglow of the solemn consecration and is scarcely to be spoken of in the same breath with balls and parties, although a certain paper announced a short time ago in its social mention that "the conglomeration was talking about forming a trust." Society eventually gets into coils, but is not supposed to be much interested in their details previous to occupancy.

The social world has had a lot of little happenings during the week and a number of theater parties were formed for the Lyceum attraction, but the leading affair of late was the reception by Major and Mrs. Upham at the Spalding Tuesday evening. The occasion was the debut of Miss Fannie Upham, a charming young lady who with her mother has just returned from a long European tour, and it was also the first society entertainment by the Uphams for a long time. They are among the best entertainers in Duluth and last Tuesday witnessed a gathering of Duluth's best people in honor of the young debutante. Three hours of dancing, from 9 until midnight, and a delicious menu made a very pleasant evening. The affair was very dressy and attractive.

The Glen Avon rink opening last evening was also a notable affair and is mentioned elsewhere, also the Burns reception and other events of that ilk.

Social Mention.

The Assembly club of West Duluth, has postponed its dance until next week.

Mrs. M. M. Hoare entertained the ladies of the Universalist society Wednesday afternoon at 313 West Second street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Frederick made things pleasant for the East End Club Wednesday evening.

The wedding of W. H. Niles and Miss Lizzie Craig was a pleasant happening of last Wednesday. It took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Brocklehurst on East Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Crooks entertained the C. P. Whist club Wednesday at West Duluth.

Baptist church ladies at West Duluth had a pleasant time last evening. They gave a social and sleigh ride.

The Knights of Pythias had an anniversary banquet Wednesday night and, of course, had a fine time.

The wedding of P. McDonnell to Miss Lottie Carroll on Wednesday morning was one of the prominent happenings of the week. The happy couple started on a long wedding trip of about 7000 miles which will begin on the Pacific coast, skirt the Gulf of Mexico and Atlanta seaboard and then home. They will be away three or four months.

Cian Stewart gave a Robert Burns birthday banquet, reception and dance at the Spalding Wednesday evening. Of course every one present enjoyed it and the memory of the loved son of Auld Scotia was tenderly referred to. There was a very large attendance.

The Women's Suffrage circle ladies were entertained by Mrs. D. G. Cash Friday afternoon.

Real estate men anticipate a great time at their banquet at the Spalding next Tuesday, and it is safe to presume their anticipations will be realized.

The Cecilia society had another pleasant gathering yesterday. A very attractive program was gone through with.

J. S. Merrill and Mrs. Ada L. Brock were married at Ashland last week.

Mrs. MacPherson was with her father, Mr. Rust, when he died in Saginaw, and J. G. MacPherson left for that city upon receipt of the sad news.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Johnson gave a card party Thursday evening at their residence 120 Fourth avenue west for their daughter, Miss Emma. About forty were present and an impromptu dance wound up a very pleasant evening.

There was quite a pleasant temperance tea at Lester Park Methodist church last evening. Tea was served and a semi-literary entertainment followed.

The twenty-third annual celebration of the founding of Palestine lodge, No. 70, A. F. & A. M., will take place next Wednesday evening at Masonic Temple. There will be a reception from 8 to 9, a musical and literary program from 9 to 10, and from 10 o'clock there will be dancing down stairs and refreshments up stairs.

The Saturday club indulged in an "art and travel" talk this afternoon. Two of the subjects were "Breslau and the Reisen Gebirge," and "A Foot Tour Through Thuringia."

A NATURAL ROUTE.

Crowds of People Pass Over the Ice Between Duluth and Superior.

There is an immense stream of travel across the ice between Superior and Duluth, says the Superior Leader. Some of it is along Superior bay from the east end; a considerable portion is to and from Connor's Point, but still more is down Banks avenue along the Duluth Elevator company's warehouses and thence to Rice's Point. Dray teams, pleasure seekers, foot passengers, workmen, people shopping, in short the usual stream seen on Tower avenue or Superior street is going and coming. Even women are seen in considerable numbers walking across the ice, the path being smooth and well beaten.

If it were compulsory to build a bridge between Superior and Duluth at the point naturally chosen by the people as their principal route of travel across the ice it would have to be practically from Rice's Point to Connor's Point. The rivers and bays between Wisconsin and Minnesota are frozen equally at all points. Travel, therefore, can choose its own route. A thousand people pass to and from Rice's Point to one from Belknap street to Grassy Point.

The joints and muscles are so lubricated by Hood's Sarsaparilla that all rheumatism and stiffness soon disappear. Try it.

Prof. Niel, Government chemist, writes: I have carefully analyzed your "Royal Ruby Port Wine," bought by me in the open market, and certify that I found the same absolutely pure. This wine is especially recommended for its health-restoring and building-up properties; it strengthens the weak and restores lost vitality. Be sure you get Royal Ruby; $1 per quart bottle. Sold by S. F. Boyce, druggist.

HOTEL TOWER BURNED

The Pioneer Hostelry of West Superior Was Totally Destroyed by Fire Late Last Night.

Being a Brick Veneered Balloon and as Dry as Tinder, it Burned With Great Rapidity.

The Loss on Building and Contents is Over $50,000 and is Fully Covered by Insurance.

The historic Hotel Tower in Superior was destroyed by fire last night. The flames broke out at 9:45 in the evening on the third floor about midway of the building near the rear in a room occupied by Anna Sharp, a dining room girl. The origin is not known. Dense streams of smoke issuing from the cracks around the door were the first notice of danger. To open the door only filled the house with heat and smoke and so it was closed and an alarm of fire turned in and all the guests and habites promptly notified. As it was generally known that the structure was a brick veneered balloon, dry as tinder, full of hallways and byways and likely to burn like dry leaves, everybody jumped for whatever clothing or other personal effects he wished to save.

Although a flood of water was poured into the building, the fire had crept into the lower floors and hallways so that the structure could not be saved although the flames were for an hour kept from getting complete control.

From the first the firemen were on hand it was impossible to control the flames which spread rapidly to all parts of the upper floor—daring under doors and creeping along joists and light partitions.

The Duluth fire department was telephoned for and the hose cart from No. 2 fire hall was in Superior in thirty-six minutes. Seven minutes later the engine from No. 1 hall arrived and in forty-four minutes from the time the department was telephoned for the stream was playing on the building. The horses were covered with foam and were pretty near winded. They made a great run.

The wind was high from the northwest until midnight and that prevented the entire lower Tower avenue from burning, though it filled Sixth street to the alley in the rear with hot suffocating smoke. The stench arising from burning carpets, bedding and furnishings was terrible, so that the firemen on the inside were forced every few moments to come to the windows for air.

About 10:30 it was apparent that it was dangerous for the firemen to remain in the building and they were called out. Soon the cupola fell and about 11 o'clock the wind whistled past the building. The other walls followed rapidly and soon the hotel had been reduced to a mass of hot and steaming coals. When it became apparent that the particular credit is due the Duluth boys for saving the stable in the rear of the hotel.

The building was occupied entirely on its upper floor for hotel purposes. On the ground floor were the offices, dining-room, barroom, Mr. J. Johnson's drug store and the crematorium bank. In the basement were the Globe printing office, the lower kitchen and storerooms for liquors and provisions. Mr. Johnson moved out all of his stock.

Loss is about $200. The International Bank saved all of its cash, books and papers unharmed. Its loss, therefore, consists only of bank furniture and fixtures which are insured. F. J. Matchette ran the hotel and had $12,000 insurance on the building was insured for $100,000 and was worth about $50,000.

The Tower was the first hotel in West Superior. It was begun in the winter of 1884-85 by Henry Burg, to whom Gen. Hammond made a donation of lots for that purpose. The building was veneered with brick made at the foot of Tower avenue and named the Hotel Tower, in honor of Charlemagne Tower, Jr., of Philadelphia, who acknowledged the compliment by presenting to the house a fine silken banner. On Oct. 29, 1885, Burg & Nelson opened the hotel, which had twenty-eight guests. It was a landmark of the public. In 1888 the hotel was enlarged and refitted at an expense of about $50,000. It fronted 100 feet on Tower and extended back to the alley on Sixth.

Some Inside History in Feminine Lives.

Women are great sufferers from nervousness, weakness, nervous prostration and debility. Thousands of girls droop and languish in the close, confined atmosphere of shops, factories or offices, and hundreds of thousands wear out their nerve force and power in household cares, family bereavements and responsibilities and work which never ends.

Here lies the great strain upon the nervous systems of women. Here is the cause why so many women complain of being weak, nervous, tired and exhausted.

They have little or no rest; their life is one continual round of work, duties here, duties there, duties without number. What wonder that such women go to bed at night fatigued, and wake tired and unrefreshed in the morning! What wonder that they become worn out, so to speak, in nerve and vital power! What wonder that they have great weakness, exhaustion, pains in back and limbs, together with the distressing female complaints which are always caused by loss of vital strength and vigor! Of how many thousands of women is the above a true and exact transcript of daily life? They have worn out and exhausted their nerve force and physical power. They must work, but it follows as surely as the night follows the day, that they must receive from some source a renewal of nerve force and physical energies or the human machine will soon cease to run at all.

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is a wonderful remedy for nervous prostration, and those terrible tired, weak feelings that make life a burden almost too great to bear. I feel that I cannot say enough in its praise for what it has done for me. It gives one the refreshing sleep, and it does all and more than all it claims to do. I wish every poor, tired woman on the face of the earth could be induced to try it for three days; they would then understand its value, and life would not seem so wearisome and undesirable.

It is a fact that the great nerve invigorant and femer restorative is Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. No remedy in the world is so sure to bring back the bloom and color to the wan and faded cheeks, the brilliancy to the hollow and bagged eyes, the lightness and elasticity to the weak and weary step, the strength and vitality to the shattered and worn out nerves. It is the greatest of all uterine tonics and regulators, and perfectly and completely cures all female weakness and disease.

If our readers are troubled in this way we should advise them by all means to use this remarkable remedy. We know it to be purely vegetable and harmless and it is within everybody's reach as all druggists sell it for $1. It is the discovery and prescription of Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth street, New York, the eminent specialist in the treatment of nervous and chronic diseases, and the doctor can be consulted free, personally or by letter, which is a guarantee of the great value of the remedy.

New Line of Steamers. The New York, Ontario & Western Railway company are making inquiries for suitable steamers which can be chartered to run in connection with their railroad next season between Oswego and the West. The plans for the proposed new steamer are about completed. The steamers must be adapted for package freight as well as grain.

Entered as the postoffice at Duluth, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

The Weather.
U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN.,
Jan. 28.—Only one station in the United States reports at weather this morning; at the remainder of them it is either cloudy, raining or snowing, and moving in nearly every part of the country.

Although the temperature has risen in the eastern portion, it has fallen again in the extreme Northwest, and is now a cold wave is moving slowly southeast, with temperatures ranging from 20 to 24 below zero. It is probable that this cold wave will affect this section to some extent, but at present it seems to be moving down the valley of the Missouri river. Some temperatures this morning are: Below zero;
Chicago, 24; Medicine Hat, 25; Harbin, 20; St.
Wendel, 14; St. Vincent and Helena, 10; Bismarck and Fort B. and S. Moulton, 4, and at Pierre and Huron, S. D. Above zero: Fort Smith, Ark., 34; St. Louis, 32; Chicago, 28; Milwaukee
26; Port Arthur, 24; Duluth, 8; St. Paul, 4; Omaha
6; Kansas City, 5; and Denver, 3.

The highest point reached by the thermometer
here yesterday was zero, rising from that to 3 above at 7 o'clock this morning. The snowfall amounted, melted, to .40 inch.

DULUTH, Jan. 28.—Snow, followed by clearing Sunday; slightly warmer, followed by colder by Sunday night; southeast winds, shifting to west and northwest.

R. H. BROESSON,
Local Forecast Official.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Forecast till 8 p. m.
tomorrow: For Minnesota: Snow, followed by fair Sunday; colder Sunday morning and evening;
northerly winds. For Wisconsin: Colder;
winds shifting to northerly.

A Bridge to Superior.
There are several bills before congress
now asking the privilege of building railroad and wagon and foot passenger bridges across the St. Louis river at various points from Rice's Point up to Grassy Point. This is a good sign, and a still better one is that the Superior chamber of commerce has declared in favor of them, as hitherto such schemes have encountered very pronounced opposition from the people across the bay.
The Superior chamber, however, qualifies its approval of the scheme to build from Rice's Point to Connor's Point by expressing the opinion that it should be a free bridge, and, therefore, built jointly by the cities of Duluth and Superior. In this proviso may be seen the cloven
hoof of the Land and River Improvement company, which is far more anxious to secure a bridge between Superior and West Duluth than to see one built between Duluth and Superior from Rice's to Connor's Point.
The wily gentlemen connected with this chamber of commerce resolution so cleverly knew full well that this proviso
made it but a mass of meaningless words and that there is no more probability of such a bridge being built jointly by the two cities within the next six or seven years than there is of the two cities being united under one municipal government within the same time. In the first place neither city is in a financial position at present to assume such a heavy expense, and in the second place the charter of neither city gives such authority—in fact, the city charter of Superior specifically prohibits it from expending any money whatever on a bridge to Duluth.

Thus we find that the building of a bridge by the two cities is out of the question, and the idea is advanced merely to let the Land and River Improvement company in its efforts to prevent congress from granting authority to build any bridge at that point.
It is astonishing that the News Tribune has fallen into the trap thus set and has taken up the refrain that a free foot and wagon bridge between Duluth and Con-nor's Point is what is wanted now. It is more astonishing to learn that opposition from Duluth men to the granting of authority to build a bridge at that point has been encountered at Washington, and that they have succeeded in persuading some members of the present congress that Duluth people are opposed to the bridge scheme. It is safe to say that at least nineteen-twentieths of the people of Duluth want a bridge to Superior, and as they know it is impossible to get a free bridge at this time, they prefer a toll bridge in preference to waiting several years until both cities are able financially and also willing to build it, with no guarantee that Superior will ever be willing, as long as the Land and River Improvement maintains its grip on the town.

The bridge between New York and Brooklyn is not free, and there is no complaint from the people of those two cities. No more would there be any here. It would be well however to have a provision in any bill granting authority to erect the bridge that the two cities shall have the privilege of buying it at the end of a fixed term of years. Secretary Thompson, of the chamber of commerce,
who is now at Washington, is satisfied that a bill for that purpose would be passed at this session of congress, were some adverse influence from this state withdrawn. The senators and representatives from Minnesota may find it more profitable, if they desire re-election at any time, to hearken to the voice of the people on this question rather than the objections of those who have some ulterior purpose in view.

Benefit of Good Roads.
The good roads' convention held in St. Paul was highly successful. There was a very large attendance, indicating the very general interest that is being taken throughout the state in this important question, and several very able papers were read showing the great benefits that would result from an improvement of the roads.

One of the best papers was read by Professor W. W. Pendergast, of the agricultural college, who pointed out the influence of good roads on the intellectual, moral and social welfare of the state. Civilization and culture, he said, have always gone hand in hand with business relations and social intercourse.
Good roads will metamorphose the present unfortunate state of affairs in country towns and introduce the advantages,
the polish, refinement and civility now supposed to exist almost exclusively in cities. Professor Pendergast has a scheme for the whole improvement of the roads in the state, which he outlined
as follows:

The true value of the property of this state, real and personal, is about $16,000, 000,000, 1 per cent of which is $16,000, 000, which, divided equally among the eighty counties, would give $200,000 to each. Allowing a good road to cost $5000 per mile, this sum would give each county 40 miles of model road over which a single team would draw three tons at any time from April to November. This tax continued only twelve and a half years, would construct such a road along two sides of every section of land in the settled portion of the state on an average of half a mile to each quarter section. The tax, it is true, would be a heavy one, but much lighter than many communities paid in war time, and but little more than half the amount expended annually for rum and tobacco, which is paid cheerfully by a minority of the people, without any design or hope on their part of advancing the social, moral, intellectual or material prosperity of the state one iota.

A Question of Spelling.
The numerous ways in which the name of the new iron range is being spelled is causing endless confusion.
Mesaba is the generally accepted spelling in this section; the newspapers have adopted it, and the name of the postoffice at Mesaba station is to be changed
at once to conform to that spelling.
Frequently, however, it is spelled Me-
sabi, Mesabe, Missabe, Missabi, Masaba, Misaba, and all the other variations that can be made upon the name.

The Iron Trade Review has been much perplexed by this variable spelling and announces that hereafter it will adopt the spelling Mesabi. It contends that there is need of an effort toward uniformity, in view of the tendency to perpetuate a diversity of spelling, and it relinquishes the Mesaba, which has been the usage of that paper from the beginning, to adopt the spelling which the geological surveys of Minnesota and of the United States have used for years.
In its special Mesabi range report, the Minnesota geological survey has this note on the subject:

Concerning the orthography of this name much confusion prevails. Nicolette's map has it Missabay; Whittlesey, reproducing (about 1865) a portion of that map, changed it to Mesabi; and this form has been employed for fifteen years in the reports of the state geological survey. It properly superseded the earlier form, because it more correctly represents the pronunciation of the Chippewa word, the accent of which is on the second syllable, while the final vowel has a vanishing sound, like short i.
It conforms, moreover, to the accepted rules for the transliteration of Indian names. To these reasons, justifying the original proposal of it by Whittlesey,
may now be added the priority of usage
for many years, as compared with such forms as Missabe, Missaba, Mesabe and Missabi, which do not deserve, on any ground whatever, to be perpetuated.

Despite the above, however, the popular spelling in Duluth and consequently elsewhere will remain Mesaba. Most of the iron companies and iron men here have adopted it, and The Herald sees no good reason for making a change to satisfy the whimsical notion of a geological report.

Some men achieve fame and others have fame thrust upon them. The latter appears to be the fortune of C. A.
Towne, who has been represented in St.
Paul papers as presenting some radical ideas on municipal government. Mr.
Towne pleads not guilty to the charge,
and it appears that ex-City Attorney Allen was the author of the remarks credited to Mr. Towne.

There has been a revolution in Honolulu. The government has been overthrown, and the new representatives of the people have appointed commissioners asking the United States to annex
the Hawaiian islands. The commissioners are now on their way to this country, and the question of annexation will speedily come up for discussion. It is questionable whether this country should do more than establish a protectorate.

Several notices about prize drawings have appeared in St. Paul papers this week and read very much like lottery advertisements. The attention of District Attorney Hay is directed to the matter.

Retiring Aldermen.
Alderman Long announced today that he will not be a candidate for re-election to the council from the Second ward.
This will surprise many people, as Mr.
Long would certainly have been re-elected. He feels, however, that he has served in the council sufficiently long,
having been an alderman four years,
and that he should now be permitted to devote all his time to his private business. Mr. Long has been an energetic worker in the council, and his retirement will be regretted.

The retirement of Alderman N. F.
Hugo will likewise be a loss to the council. Severe illness prevents him from making a campaign and he is thus forced to withdraw. Alderman Weiss, of the Fourth ward, also declined to run again. He has been an indefatigable worker in the council, and his absence from several important committees will be felt by the other members who have been associated with him during the past two years. Candidates are numerous in all the wards this year, and there is no lack of material from which the voters
may make their choice.

Minnie is Anxious.
Austin, Minn., Transcript: The interstate commerce commission has decided favorably to the Minneapolis chamber of commerce in the new famous wheat rate discrimination. Duluth gives Minnie great anxiety on account of the immense shipments of grain to the head of Lake Superior.

A Dakota View.
Yankton Press and Dakotan: Minneapolis is just now shouting itself hoarse, figuratively speaking over the interstate commerce commission which will compel railroads to haul their wheat to Minneapolis from the wheat fields of the West at a lower rate than to other points. The shouting is perhaps a trifle less vigorous today because the Northern Pacific has threatened to defy the order of the commission and make as low a rate to Duluth as to Minneapolis.
There is a mild suggestion of the discrimination against the wheat country in the decision of the interstate commerce commission.

A CHANCE FOR DIAMONDS.

Is always worth snapping at. Diamond cost diamond, they say; that may be, but it's certain though, that diamonds can't be cut in value, even if they are cut for setting. The sun sets every night, but all the time we are setting before our patrons a display of sparklers which the queen of belles might be proud to possess. Whether you're proud or not you can possess some of our diamonds. It doesn't cost a fortune to buy them, although it is a piece of good fortune to get them. Beauty without jewelry is like the sun in eclipse, and in jewelry, diamonds are always trumps. We are selling, etc.

WHEAT MARKET NERVOUS.

Wild Trading and a Big Decline at Chicago Affected Duluth.

The wheat market opened nervous, anxious and unsteady this morning, owing to the wild and heavy trading, with a drop of 1 1/2c
a bushel for May, on the curb in Chicago late yesterday. The opening prices here were 1c lower and there was very active trading during the first hour, after which the market was dull.
Buyers were numerous and this strengthened the market, a gain of 3/4c from the opening being made before noon. Subsequently the price eased off again, and the close, though dull and 1c lower than yesterday, was firm. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 69 1/2c; January, 69 1/2c;
May, 71 1/2c; July, 73 1/2c. No. 1 northern, cash, rejected, 47 1/2c. Rye, 45c. Flax, cash, $1.11;

May, $1.14.

The close here today, as compared with last Saturday, was unchanged for cash and 3/4c lower for May. The receipts have been light
this week, and the increase in stock in store will be about 40,000 bu., for the week.

NOTHING WILL BE DONE.

The Present Congress Will Not Order Any Survey for a Ship Canal to the Sea.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—[Special to The Herald.]—Nothing will be done by this congress in favor of the Bently bill providing $100,000 appropriation for a survey of the proposed ship canal from the lakes to the seaboard. Secretary Thompson, of the Duluth chamber of commerce, said today that the Demo-

for its consideration.

Senator Washburn today presented a

THE CHEAP NOVEL TRUST.

Row Among the Members of the United States Book Company.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The World this morning says: The directors of the United States Book company had a lively meeting in Jersey City yesterday.
John W. Lovell, who organized the company, was ousted from the vice presidency and Lawrence & Warner, the lawyers, of 120 Broadway, were instructed to bring a resolution for an investigation of the company.

Edward Lange resigned his office as treasurer of the concern and the state of affairs developed at the meeting shows that there is much bad feeling among the publishers, whose "combine" in July, 1890, with a capital of $325,000, was regarded as a "cheap novel trust."

Creditors whose claims aggregate over $300,000 have begun proceedings against the company, and as it is a foreign corporation, organized under the laws of New Jersey, attachments may be issued today.

mittee of five members, which is also panies. The house also adopted a resolution for the investigation of the whisky trust by the judiciary committee.

company, of which his child wife became a member, playing small parts at first and finally rising through the various grades by slow steps to the position of leading lady. Mr. Vincent is a man of some means. He is in bad health and is now living in retirement in East Saginaw, Mich.

Many of the graduates of the Vincent Dramatic company have earned national reputations. Among them may be mentioned Loie Fuller, Grace Henderson, Gus Hleege, Mrs. Rudolph Aronson, Mark Lyuel and many others.

Miss Vincent has done a wide range of theatrical work. A few of the characters she has played will serve to illustrate this—Galatea, Julian in "The Honeymoon," the title role of "Miss Multon," Maggie Mack Farlane in "The Bonnie Fisherwife," Mlle. Delmaire in "Sub Rosa," Parthenia in "Indogomar," Lady Audley in "Lady Audley's Secret" and Contesse de Vernieres in "Deception."

Miss Vincent has a sonorous but refined mezzo soprano voice, and whenever her manuscript calls for singing she is able to do it well. She has a splendid Scotch and Irish dialect, and some of her greatest triumphs have been in character parts.

EDITH VINCENT.

Sir John Macdonald, the late Canadian premier, was a relative of Miss Vincent's mother, of whom he was a very close friend. Miss Vincent is of a highly emotional and nervous temperament, and for that reason her preference is for heavy parts. She is an exceedingly well informed woman of pleasing appearance, and possesses the happy faculty of making one feel at home at once. She is an omnivorous reader, a vigorous conventionalist, and a strange to relate actress who has not a single hobby. All of Miss Vincent's theatrical experience up to the time of her present engagement has been in the west. LUCY LAWN.

Plats of the Third division of Iron-ton were filed with Register Shepard this morning.

The Superior Guaranty company filed articles of incorporation with the register of deeds this morning. They propose to do a general realty business, guarantee titles, etc. The incorporators are Rufus Stephenson, W. R. Bradbury and R. V. Hodge, all of Superior. The capital stock is $150,000.

The Chicago train on the Omaha road due here at 8:32 this morning was about seven hours late on account of an accident to a freight train the other side of Spooner. The night express from St. Paul was on time.

HAD A NARROW ESCAPE.

Boarding Cars of the Missabe Road Burned at Iron Junction.

The greater part of the boarding car outfit of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road was burned at Iron Junction early yesterday morning and utterly destroyed.

The fire was discovered shortly after midnight and the occupants of the sleeping car had a big battle to escape with their lives.

The cook's car was damaged, but was finally pulled out of harm's way. There were fifty laborers asleep in the cars. The loss is about $3000.

His Mind Affected.

Emil Dietz, a tailor, who is well known about the city and county, is in the county jail under temporary restraint until his sanity can be passed upon. He was around among his friends acting rather strangely yesterday and was taken in charge by the authorities pending an investigation. It is said a recent altercation with his landlord unsettled his mind. It is hoped his affliction is only a temporary one.

AFTER CITY OFFICES.

List of the Candidates for Aldermen Who Have Filed Their Nomination Papers to Date.

Alderman N. F. Hugo is Still Confined to His Bed by Illness and Has Drawn Out.

Alderman Long Tired of the Onerous Duties of Alderman and Will Not Run Again.

Up to noon today certificates of nomination for aldermen in the various wards were filed as follows:

FIRST WARD.
Martin Sorensen, Democrat, independent candidate, nominated by petition.
Mathew Carroll, Populist, People's party candidate, nominated by caucus.

SECOND WARD.
Ben F. Howard, Republican, independent candidate, nominated by petition.

THIRD WARD.
George Dinwoodie, Republican, independent candidate, nominated by petition.
William Getty, Republican, independent candidate, nominated by petition.

FOURTH WARD.
John L. Harquell, Republican, independent candidate, nominated by petition.
Philip Westaway, Republican candidate, nominated by caucus.

FIFTH WARD.
Frank Peterson, Republican, nominated by petition, the same containing the clause "placed in nomination as a candidate of the Republican party."

SIXTH WARD.
Robert C. Kennedy, Republican, independent candidate, nominated by petition.

SEVENTH WARD.
John B. Dunphy, Democratic candidate, nominated by caucus.
Nels N. Ole, Republican, Republican candidate, nominated by caucus.

EIGHTH WARD.
Herbert K. Spencer, Republican, independent candidate, nominated by petition.
James Butchart, Republican, independent candidate, nominated by petition.

NINTH WARD.
H. M. Myers, Republican, independent candidate, nominated by petition.
N. F. Hugo, because of his severe sickness, has withdrawn and will not make the run in the Third ward. C. A. Long also has decided to drop politics, forswear a race for further aldermanic honors and turn his talents in another direction. Before the clerk's office closes tonight H. A. Wing will file his petition as an independent candidate against Ben Howard.

It is also said that Harquell will withdraw and throw his strength and influence to Fred Quinby. There is said to be a Democratic scheme to run a party candidate in each ward and push their campaign to the utmost. Aside from the Democrats nominated, who these hidden candidates in grooming are it is not known with the exception of Jim Sullivan in the Third ward. They will probably endorse Peterson in the Fifth. The city clerk has been filing the certificates will not be filed until the last business hour of the day.

A. M. Cox will probably file his petition as an independent candidate before night. He states that he has been trying to get some one to run in his place but that out of forty men he has asked to take the fight off his hands, all have insisted that he oppose Peterson. One amusing thing in the petition of the latter is that the first name in the list of petitioners is that of "Frank Peterson."

Up to noon no candidates had filed certificates of nomination to oppose Fred Vosk for treasurer and W. G. Ten Brook for comptroller. Monday at 10:30 all the candidates will meet in the city clerk's office and draw lots for places on the ballots.

Mr. Hugo's decision not to offer for re-election is explained by the following card:

To Messrs. R. P. Edson, W. S. Woodbridge, F. Reynolds, Dr. W. W. Routh and others, taxpayers and electors of the Third ward: Gentlemen, having been confined to my bed for the past two weeks, and with good prospects of recovery to stay here for some time to come, it will be physically impossible for me to accept your nomination for alderman of the Third ward. Thanking you for the nomination, I am, truly yours, N. F. Hugo.

Capt. James Sullivan filed his petition this afternoon as the Democratic candidate for alderman in the Third ward.

John R. Meining was also nominated by petition for alderman of the Third ward this afternoon.

Skating on the Lake.
A petition, signed by about fifty leading citizens and business men of Duluth, has been filed with the city clerk for introduction to the council, asking that the city keep clear a place for skating on the lake. It is asserted that the cost will not be much and that a precedent for such action is seen in the cases of the cities of St. Paul, Chicago, Boston and New York, where the snow is kept from the ice and warming houses supplied besides.

An Insane Man.
Andrew Carlson, who was working for Peyton, Kimball & Barber in the woods about a mile and a half from Foxboro, Carlton county, in what is known as Mitchell's camp and who suddenly became insane a few days ago, was incarcerated in the police station at Superior yesterday. Carlson, who is a Swede by birth, is a short, thick set, powerfully built man, apparently about 25 years of age. The first symptoms of dementia were exhibited on Wednesday last, when he suddenly refused to work, stating as his reason that the world was coming to an end that day. He then ran into the woods and disappeared.

THE RINK AT GLEN AVON.

The Opening Last Night Was a Success in Every Way.

The Glen Avon rink is open and the event of last night was a success in every particular. Two curling rinks tried the ice first and pronounced it good and then a game of polo was played between Capt. Taylor's team and Capt. Harker's team, the former being victorious by a score of 2 to 1. President Clark presented the handsome prize cup to the winning team and the "flash light" fiend was on hand and took an interesting picture of the group. On the outer circle the lovers of skating enjoyed themselves and a large number participated in this sport, all pronounced the ice to be perfect. It is estimated that 1000 people were present, many of them ladies. The street railway handled the crowds in splendid style and had plenty of well warmed cars on hand at the close.

A. R. Macfarlane was the moving spirit in the enterprise and furnished the money for a plot of land on which to erect it. The building itself is 240 by 100 feet and is admirably arranged, including reception rooms for ladies and gentlemen at the right and left sides of the front of the building and a large dining or banquet room in the center with an old-time fireplace. Refreshments were served in this room last evening. The club membership now is in excess of 100 and includes people of every nationality.

GOLD IN THE NORTH.

Charley Gilman's Prospecting in the Lake of the Woods.

The St. Cloud Journal-Press publishes a lengthy interview with ex-Gov. Charles A. Gilman, who has just returned from the Lake of the Woods, near the British boundaries, where he has been prospecting in gold mining. He has some specimens of the rock containing the valuable metal found in that region with him, and claims that it will yield in some mines from $25 to $50 of gold to the ton of ore. Already fifteen or twenty corporations are located there and are engaged in opening mines. One mill, known as the stamp mill, is now in operation, and two others will be started up within a week or two and engage in crushing the ore. Mr. Gilman added: "A portion of the veins discovered are known to be very valuable, but some poorer ones may not prove to be worth working, at least without involving some loss at first. Very little has been said in the newspapers in regard to recent developments there, by reason of an understanding among the parties who are interested, because it was deemed to their interest to avoid such publicity as would tend to create a boom until they had generally secured satisfactory ownership to the properties there. Nevertheless, the best knowledge of mining operations have the utmost confidence in the success of that region as a gold-mining district, and they during the last three months have been quite numerous."

THE CASE OF CAPT. BARKER.

He is Charged With Dumping Refuse in the Channel.

At the last session of the United States grand jury C. S. Barker and Antone Picar were indicted for using the Lake Superior channel for a dumping ground for their dredge boat, thus obstructing and impeding navigation in the channel contrary to law. On his return to Superior a few days ago from St. Paul, where he was arrested on this charge, Capt. Barker said the action was due to spite work on the part of Duluth parties. This is false, the action being taken at the instance of the war department.

The river and harbor bill passed 1890 provides that a certain line shall be the limit beyond which no dumping, from boats or otherwise, can be done. Barker and Picar are proprietors of several boats which, it is claimed, have gone so far as to actually make it in certain spots dangerous to navigation.

They will plead not guilty and stand trial. They claim that a copy of the law under which they are indicted is posted in several places on all of their boats, thus performing and carrying out the letter of the law as far as it lies in their power to do. That if any dumping was done beyond the line it was unknown to them and contrary to their instructions.

The case is a test one, being the first to come up since the law was passed, and is watched with more than ordinary interest by river men and steamboat companies, as also by boatmen along the West Superior shore. The prosecution is criminal, and should it stick, other cases of this kind will be coming to the court for the coming grand jury to act upon.

AMONG THE IRON MEN.

Furnace Interests Still Apathetic on Ore Requirements.

Trade talk among iron men—the little that is indulged in—still bears on the apathetic attitude of the furnace interest toward the subject of iron ore requirements for the year beginning with May 1, says the Iron Trade Review. Beyond a notification from a few selling firms to pig iron makers, that when the latter are ready to talk about a new ore supply, the Cleveland offices referred to would be glad to quote them figures, there have been no negotiations.

Selling firms have not gone to the point, yet, of exchanging views as to the size of the drop that shall be made from the figures at which last year's contracts were made. It is known that standard Bessemer blemishes dropped from 35 to 50 cents in the course of '92 buying, and that hard Bessemer declined in the same time from 50 to 75 cents, but it would not be well to count on any quarter-dollar drops from the prices at which sales were made at the end of last season.

The Review says: "We shall look rather for a splitting of the quarter in opening negotiations this year. As bearing on the question of Mesaba supply in 1893, it may be stated that the terms of a lease involving a minimum production of 400,000 tons, the year, have been changed so that the minimum has been cut in two, and there is a verbal agreement that another halving will follow, if it appears that 200,000 tons is too much, and if 100,000 tons shall appear too large a figure, that in turn may be cut in two. There is reason to believe that other Mesaba fee owners will find it to the interest of the range to take similar steps."

A Rich Find.

A. E. Feddersen claims that rich ore has been found east of Embarras Lake in 20-50-15. The land was leased by himself and Capt. J. E. Hoppmann. They have a shaft down in eight feet of good ore.

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMY

Two Essays From St. Cloud on the Domestic Question and Conduct of Servants and Children.

A Few Pointers on Handling Servant Girls Which Young Housekeepers May Find Very Useful.

First Step in Solution of the Servant Question is the Education of the Mistress.

I want to correct speedily, an omission in last week's paper, which misrepresented all things. I wrote "Our domestics do not understand their abilities, their true needs and their limitations." But the printer skipped the most important words in the line, and now the mistresses are likely thinking that I "do not" understand myself or the domestics.

Last week I touched on the work on the domestic service question, and because I had promised to begin in the kitchen, I did. Too many committee or club meetings, one for every day last week, for me, as the Valentine Day Columbian entertainment is added to the usual work, did not allow me the proper strength or time for classifying the details of the kitchen and its fittings. Details are always exhausting in their labor.

It was not my wording of "began" after "have" in the last paragraph. I still can control some verbs although last winter I had a struggle with "bring." I was talking with several persons, which enhanced the embarrassment of the "opposite face" which so often binds or puts to flight our eloquence or our sales. I said "He brag it to me," and as quickly as it was given to the waiting ears, belonging however to well-bred and controlled faces, I felt the shock of my blunder. I fixed a severe eye on the most attentive man, furthest from me, for by that means I detected any quivering lashes or muscles within that radius, and determining not to be laughed at, I essayed "He brag it to me." Again I felt "a misery," and rapidly my mind coned "Sing, sang, sung; ring, rang, rung; drink, drank, drunk; think, thank, thank." I began to lose control of myself and feared open shame, so I courageously acknowledged that someone else must supply my broken "English as she was spoke." As soon as others begin to help you they begin to be generous so I escaped and started the laugh myself. It is safer to be the first yourself to acknowledge ignorance or blunder.

The Work.

I was really exultant on Saturday night when a bulky mail brought in a bulky report from St. Cloud. I was also glad to see that the report varied from that of Minneapolis. "Variety is the spice." Some of the questions arranged by Mrs. Hinckley, the St. Paul household economic chairman, had been used as a housekeeper's quiz on household expenses in rent, fuel, provisions, clothing, traveling, charities, etc. The question on what topic for the next mass-meeting of housekeepers, at Chicago, next October, was variously answered: "The servant girl question is becoming the most serious question in America." "Sanitary housekeeping and schools for training young girls in the duties of a servant." "The relative merits of living in flats and single houses."

There were also two essays on the two subjects, "The Domestic Question" and "The Conduct of Servants and Children," which from the handwriting I judge to be by the president, Mrs. Taylor, and by them and the report, I judge her to be practical and stirring in this needed work, which requires a good deal of strength and energetic call for practicality and its practice. The ideas of the essays I will jumble in my usual true-to-description way.

We have in reality no servant class in America. The hired girl or woman of today enters society tomorrow as anybody's social equal, a state of things which complicates the domestic question. We are all servants, but the meaning so important and so high often escapes us. He who rules has first served; he who rules well has first learned to obey thoroughly and willingly. It is necessary that the moral tone of the kitchen shall be wholesome, as a matter of self-defence; and to instill honesty is the first duty of the housekeeper. To teach by word and deed the fact that waste is as immoral as theft, that it is theft. (So it is, for the thing wasted must be replaced, just as much as the thing stolen.) To teach that lying is cowardly and degrading. To feel that she has a soul in her keeping for which she is highly responsible, and the training of which she can in no way escape—is a matter for the mistress; and a matter of example as well as precept.

To keep a servant in her place is often difficult because the mistress herself has no clearly defined idea of that place. Familiarity is an evil wherever it exists; it is dangerous between friends, almost ruinous between husband and wife, impossible in the relation of mistress and servant. The position of a servant in a family ought to be a privilege. The life there ought to be a school of order, desired, by these young ignorants. That they do not desire it arises from its repute, and its repute is the work of the mistress. (Not entirely. Partly, because so great, in this generation of large population and more wealth, so great is the demand for help that the ignorant are paid disproportionately well, and so flock into its service; thus crowding out those whose greater refinement or skill commands little more than that of barbarism, and allots them the same name. Honest and laudable pride will not long keep them branded without distinctive names.)

Haughtiness toward a servant argues lack of self-respect in the mistress. (Is it not ascribed to President Adams in his letters to his daughter that he in effect said: "The arrogant have always something to hide." Haughtiness anywhere we find is a cloak. Sometimes innocently shielding too great a personal sensitiveness. Sometimes a lack of good breeding, which all ways thinks of another at the same moment, if not before, one's self. "Know thyself" is the most needed rule for life. "Know thyself" and respect thyself and others will learn to respect thee. The woman who has her own noblest nature's self respect is not troubled long or often by the disrespect of others. Human nature loves to look up to and to acknowledge its superior, and is proud of the superiority that is nearest to belonging to it, from the duke to the gamine, including the maid who serves.)

A servant will not resent naughtiness in a child, but will unwillingly submit to insult. (Not far different in type of temperament from her mistress, whose indifference to insult I have not yet found testimony for.)

There should be no idea of inferiority in the relation of servant and mistress but of difference. The moment the servant is degraded, the work is degraded, and we will all hesitate to declare that our household tasks are a degradation. (I cannot agree that the degradation of the servant is that of the work. I would turn it about and say the work is not degraded, but it is the servant's style of work that degrades it. When we have cultivated, by education in general, then trained by education in special, the girls who seek us and whom we long to find, there will be often no difference even. Many love housework and would enter it, were the class of servants a cultivated class, and the mistress cultivated also.)

Self-respect is well defined in this essay thus: Self respect argues respect for the individuality of others. A mistress should be as considerate in discussing or criticizing her servant as she would be in speaking of any other member of her household. There is no denying that the mistress has very crude materials to handle, that sometimes she finds it impossible to form a proper servant or even an approximation to such. Her duty then seems plain; to put aside the impossible (I should say the impossible to her, another may find the key and open up the possibilities; our gifts are various) put aside the impossible nature which refuses to conform, for a bad servant, given over by the mistress is ruin to a household.

In conclusion, it seems evident, if the above propositions are tenable, that the first step in the solution of the servant question is the education of the mistress, a severe discipline in the humanities being indispensable.

Again, this commentator puts in a demur. It is too slow work to educate first the mistress, then the maid. The burden will have overwhelmed the burden bearers before the upper and lower worlds are graduated in education. Let us graduate the work and its scale of prices first. That will enable those who can command the prices to be as much above those who cannot, as the one who has taken all the honors, anywhere, feels (and has the reputation, too), above the one who has no honor but that of striving to begin. Let us refuse, steadily, to pay for ignorance and failures and the entailed wretchedness. If we want to do a charity, let it be headed charity, but not wages. When we sift workers and folk, "odious" and "stigma" will get into their proper places.

I do not copy the remarks on duties and wages, because last week I aired that view in this column.

Neither do I copy the essay on "Children and Domesticity." When the domestic and mistress question is regulated, the children of mistresses will also be regulated.

The indefatigable chairman of Minneapolis sends five more subscribers, and an addition to her report. Sickness, which has been growing on me all week, has for the present made me out of the kitchen, without time for a cup of coffee. I hope to repair all ravages by another paper. Clubs are requested not to attend until further notice from

The Long Engaged Girl Soon Becomes the Target of Endless Surmise From Solicitous Friends.

No engagement, even under the most favorable circumstance, with everything assured, can represent complete tranquillity. It is after all but a period of trial and expectation. There is always the lurking dread that some unforeseen fate may intervene to snatch away the beloved object and render life desolate forever afterward, but this sense of insecurity is peculiar to every sort of love.

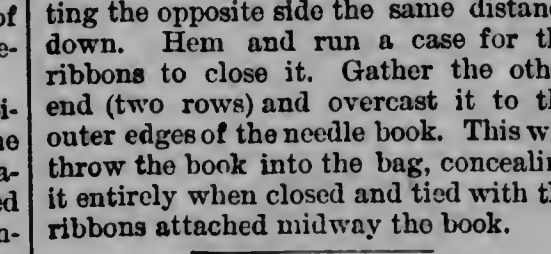

The long engaged girl soon becomes the target of endless surmise from solitary relatives and friends. As the

Could such a marriage promise happiness? From just such unions grow the startling tragedies that fill our newspapers. 2. "God's attitude toward the day of small things" (Zech. iv, 10). God never looks down on the small things. He loves them, and they become great. The temple was completed because he was in the work and it was his work. In God's work the day of small things is not to be despised. The instruments of the work may seem impossible to man as possible to God. Though the instruments may be weak and insignificant, yet under God's blessing great results are achieved. The instruments of difficulty become as a level plain. The smallest stone cut out of the mountain without hands increases until it fills the whole earth. The grain of mustard seed becomes a tree that the fowls of the air multiply until thousands are fed. Do not despise the day of small things. Perform earnestly and faithfully all duties small and great, and leave results to God.

The physicians of the Copeland Medical Institute do not hold out brilliant promises for the purpose of securing large numbers of patients who will pay for one month's treatment only and then cease their visits, for their work is so satisfactory in every case that four-fifths of their practice is composed of patients who renew treatment after a month's Catarrh of the Nose, Throat and Middle Ear.

Catarrh of the nose and throat if allowed to progress unmolested often extends to neighboring organs, impairing or totally destroying the functions of those organs. Such were the conditions in the case related today. The catarrh of the nose resulted in a catarrh of the middle ear causing a buzzing and deafness in both ears.

As times have improved during the past fifteen years I have tried to keep pace with the procession in a modest way and sort of do my duty according to my station. If the procession thought I was crowding ahead too fast I took to the brush and cut across lots so as to meet it early at the grave.

This has required great earnestness, tact and good judgment on my part. As a result of these traits I have been admitted everywhere only to "the highest society" but sometimes even to "the best." By keeping quiet and going away early, using great care to take the same umbrella I brought, I have now and again been admitted to some of the most refined circles, where I could study the furniture at my leisure and contribute to the pleasure of the guests by strengthening out the various rugs on which I had previously satiated across the waxed oak floors.

As I have advanced socially I have tried to give to the great world an idea of my progress by the kind of dog I carried, just as a good Mason or Odd Fellow might wear an emblem to show what degree he was working under. My earliest dog was a simple hearted homeless thing, who had tried everything almost and had failed at it. He had been ostracized from good society, when he was young, at a drag hunt, where he joined the chase and came in fifteen minutes ahead of the pack because he had watched the preliminaries and had seen where the course lay from the top of the straw pile on the hill. So when he came in cheerily with his tongue out and expected plaudits and things he was kicked in the stomach by a coarse groom and told to await.

Then he tried other things. He could not be a foxhound because he was a native American dog, with no pedigree to speak of, as it had been shut in a door once, or something, and so he had to go in entirely on his merits.

He went on the stage for a time, being willing to work his way up, but he "faded up" on his lines, and of course nobody wanted a bloodhound that had stage fright. He was broken hearted, for he had a good voice and a quiet humor that pleased the audience very much indeed.

But he failed and came to me with nothing but unfructified hopes. He remained with us some time. He was a good watchdog, and would watch and guard anything so faithfully that nobody could get it from him. He was so faithful that way that I had to shoot him once before I could get my overcoat back in time to catch a train.

Then came other dogs, now and then one with a strain of blood in him.

I had one imported Irish dog. He was brought over by an Irishman who did some ditching for me. He came concealed in the steerage. He was very fond of the children, especially of a little boy of mine, who was tender and just about tall enough to be handy. We called this dog Little Lord Fauntleroy. That was because we could not see that he resembled Little Lord Fauntleroy except that he wore a cash one or twice after he had jumped through a window, and short pants also in hot weather.

Afterward I learned that he was an exile from Erin, and that a price had been set on his head there.

But he was full of Ireland's wrongs. He had a good many of those to redress. That was his business while in America. Between meals he redressed Ireland's wrongs, and I paid the damage. He lived on cold potatoes while in the old country, but here he wanted cold quail.

He is dead now.

He sat for his death mask two years ago. It is all I have to remember him by except a memento which people notice who are in bathing with me at the sea-side.

Since that I have learned that Ireland is not entirely populated by blooded Irish settlers. Some of the native dogs in Ireland are quite bourgeois.

Lately I got a large English mastiff. We thought he would look well on the new lawn. I traded a team for him.

With him I got a box of dog biscuits and a phariseopela. I met him at the train and had the car containing him side tracked. I presume that he is no larger than some other English mastiffs, but to me he seems larger, and I feel also like apologizing to him for the raw state he finds things in. I've got so I can meet Lord Caisterfield, who drives my team, almost on friendly terms now, but this dog makes me feel as I did when I gave my hand in marriage to my first wife—as one might, you know, who stood in the presence of a superior being.

I would no more tell him to "Go lie down" than I would have told Goliath of Gath to "Go lie down."

And it isn't his size, after all, because I weigh 190 pounds myself, and my teeth are still good, but it's his manner. He seems to know that I started out with no advantages. He seems to read me through and through. I never saw such a dog.

He sort of realizes that I never moved in his set. He is better bred than I am, one would think, and has more dignity. He is so dignified that he won't even bark. His name is Flossy.

We live in the timber where it is pretty thick, and I have had to clear off a few acres for Flossy to wag his tail on. He does not wag it the same way that one ought to under a republican form of government. He does it as a well bred duke might shake hands who had a strain of royal, strimous blood in his veins.

I'm afraid that I can never live up to Flossy. I have looked into his great, sad eyes for hours and tried to discover one responsive look of love, or even respect, but I have not seen it.

Once I laid my coat down by him and told him to watch it. He looked at it sadly, read the name of my tailor on the loop, shuddered and burst into tears. I hate to see a great, strong dog weep that way, but it showed me that I am not up to him at all.

How poor and cheap everything must look to Flossy! Once he spent the evening with us, but it was very stiff and dull for him, and after we had played a piece for him and I had sung a Scandinavian lullaby he came and asked to be shown to his room.

I thought he would do most of his loafing in the library, but he only remained there half an hour, looking over the titles of my books, many of which are by American authors. He looked for a time at the Christmas London News, and then sighed so deeply that two of my holiday magazines, from which I had removed the advertising, were blown up the chimney flue.

It is an awful thing to be cowed by a dog. All my articles of virtue, even those brought home from Paris, where they are so rare, fail to please or even interest Flossy.

Yesterday he went out in the glad sunshine and rubbed himself against the lamp, not knowing that it had been built by contract. He was sorry when he saw what he had done, and came and licked my face with his great wealth of warm, wet tongue.

The doctor says I will never hear again with the ear on that side. He is the most copious dog I ever saw. But he has always moved in a different sphere from my own and has been more tenderly reared. I was reared by main strength, but Flossy has nestled in the arms of noble ladies and been fondled and kissed by them. I have not. I have never been fondled much since the death of the Whig party. Since that time I have had to dress myself and live for a purpose.

Flossy turns up his nose at North Carolina and seems dissatisfied. He never saw a possum before and does not know what to do with one. I see no way to have any fun with him.

One day I dressed up to make a call, and when I returned he came running toward me, barking a glad welcome. He came twenty yards, and it was down a hill. He mistook me for an aristocrat probably, and was coming to put his paws on my shoulder and lick my spectacles off with joy, but I turned quickly aside and he went on through the conservatory.

If it would not be too much trouble I would like to insert the following notice here and will call in and see about it after awhile.

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE.

Persons of culture can secure a rare dog by calling on the undersigned, who is about to start for Europe.

I will sell my English mastiff, Flossy, for exchanging him for farming implements in good order. He is a very large dog and can sneeze a candle out at eighteen paces. He is a good dog to roll a lawn with and has good habits. He broke into a corn field and damaged it twelve dollars' worth last summer, but it was not through malice. He would not hurt a flea.

Two of my men easily manage him and hold him down while the children play with him. He would like to go abroad as a companion for an old lady.
